

SENATOR WEEKS HERE

Speaks to Large Audiences at Newton Highlands and Newton Centre

Senator John W. Weeks was given a splendid ovation on Tuesday evening at meetings held at the Newton Highlands Congregational Church and Bray Hall, Newton Centre.

The senator was the dinner guest that evening at the Brae Burn Country Club and was escorted from the clubhouse to Newton Highlands by Company A of the State Guard. At Newton Highlands the senator was received by the Newton Highlands Unit of the Constabulary at the entrance to the church, which was filled to the doors. Here he was the guest of the Men's League, and spoke for over an hour on the war situation and war legislation.

At the conclusion of his address, he went to Newton Centre, preceded by the Highlands Constabulary, and on his arrival there was escorted by about 400 members of the Constabulary, headed by two buglers into the hall where a large audience had gathered to hear him. At Newton Centre, a preliminary address was made by Major George F. Whipple, on Russia. Major Whipple was with the Root Mission to Russia and gave an interesting description of conditions in that unhappy country.

Senator Weeks spoke on similar lines at both places, saying in part,—"Congress appropriated 21 billions of dollars last session; five times the amount it cost to fight the Civil war, or one-twelfth of the total wealth of the nation. There are two ways to get this money; by taxation and by borrowing. We have adopted both. Since the conflict began we have not conscripted wealth. Our problem was to get this money without causing any injustice to individuals or otherwise. We therefore raised 4 billions by taxation, more than a billion and a half in excess of what England has raised in this war. For months the attempt was made to pass a bill that would be just to everyone and finally we passed one that suited no one. There is a very considerable probability that the rate of taxation will be raised this year and the excess profits tax is the real source of new revenue.

"We have borrowed money by issuing bonds, treasury certificates and by war savings certificates, a system that no country has ever adopted before but it is sound fundamentally as every class of citizens becomes interested in the financial interests of his country.

"In my judgment the greatest step we are to take to bring this war to a successful conclusion is in the air. This can be done if we have airplanes enough to give us a complete preponderance. Within the next few months we will have 100,000 men in the air service. We are going to see within the next 18 months a machine flying from Cape Race to the Irish coast.

"Shipping is the crux of the entire European war situation. We have to ship 50 pounds every day to every man over there. We have to provide everything they need. Even outside of fighting men we have over 100,000 mechanics, foresters, engineers, etc., at work over there.

"Neither war department, nor government has completely fallen down. We as American citizens ought to take pride in what we have accomplished.

HUNNEWELL CLUB

A very successful social event of the past week was the subscription dance which was given for the benefit of the Newton Special Aid Society at the Hunnewell Club.

About 100 young people, members of Brookline, Boston and Newton societies assembled in Stanley Hall, and a splendid program of music was furnished by the Harvard Freshman Orchestra, the musicians giving their services for this worthy object.

The ushers included Mayall Bruner, Mylert Bruner, Lieutenant Kingsbury Brown, Clarence Chapin, Calvin Smith, Sherwood Smith, Kenneth Yeo, Mr. Ingraham, James Moore, Robert Steinert, Alexander Steinert, Francis Skelton and Robert Fiske.

The matrons were Mrs. Prescott Warren, Mrs. Henry H. Leaward, Mrs. Edward O. Gruener and Mrs. Fred Loveland. The matrons were assisted by Miss Edith Thomas of West Newton.

MRS. GIBBS DEAD

Mrs. Lizzie S., the wife of Mr. Howard B. Gibbs, died last week Wednesday at her home on Lowell avenue, Newtonville, at the age of 44 years. Mrs. Gibbs was born at New Milford, Pa., and married Mr. Gibbs, a former headmaster of the Allen School for Boys at West Newton, in 1906. Funeral services were held from her late home on Friday, in charge of Rev. J. Edgar Park of the Second Church and Rev. Thomas Chalmers of West Newton and the interment was at Binghamton, N. Y.

RESENTS CRITICISM

Mr. A. M. Lyon, Chairman of School Committee Objects to Graphic Editorial

To the Editor of the Graphic:

In the editorial column of your issue of February 22, 1918, you published the following:

"The school committee's request for $6000 to change over the lunch-room accommodations at the high schools will have scant shrift with a board of aldermen determined to cut down expenses to the lowest possible figure. Possibly the school committee doesn't realize that this country is at war and that lunch counters must wait."

For a number of years past you have seen fit to criticize freely in your paper the school department in regard to its policies, and the cost of maintenance of the schools, in which you apparently have not voiced any substantial sentiment on the part of the citizens of Newton, and to which, so far as I know, no one has paid any particular attention. The above editorial, however, seems to constitute such a gross breach of common courtesy and fitness as to challenge a reply.

It is not for me to question the propriety of your criticizing in the columns of your paper the different measures that are under consideration at City Hall while you are holding the office of Clerk of Committees of the Board of Aldermen, but I do question your right to prejudice the action of the Board of Aldermen on any matter, or to hold up to ridicule any public officials, both of which you attempt to do in the above article.

Possibly you have informed yourself as to the facts upon which the request of the School Committee for improvements in the lunch-room accommodations was based, and that you may have an honest difference of opinion with the Committee as to the urgency of the same. Possibly your editorial was intended to be such an expression of opinion, in which event I have no criticism to make except as to the manner in which it is stated.

I do not need to say to the readers of your paper that the members of the School Committee are sorely conscious that our country is at war, and I believe that they are striving conscientiously to co-ordinate the present-day need of economy with the responsibilities that are placed upon them.

It is not proper to present here the facts relating to the lunch-rooms upon which the unanimous action of the School Committee was based. If you have not made an investigation of these facts, it is not conceivable that the health of the children in the High Schools is of first importance? If granted, then your editorial must become thoughtless comment.

ALBERT M. LYON,
Chairman, School Committee.

Needs $5,000 in Order to Continue the Excellent Work Now in Progress

The President and officers of the Newton Y. M. C. A. are asking for the modest sum of $5000 to finance the work of the local association during 1918. This appeal, as set forth in the accompanying letter, is primarily to those people of Newton who are not now regular contributors or members of the association.

The financial policy of the Newton Y. M. C. A. for the past twenty years has been to close each year with all bills paid. But with the unusual war conditions thrust upon us we are confronted with a problem that we are compelled to bring before you for your consideration.

In spite of rigid economy and curtailment, the cost of maintaining has greatly increased. We do not wish to curtail a work so important as this, neither do we wish to run in debt. The other alternative is more money. Note the following reasons for maintaining the work of the local Association at a high standard.

1. Nearly eighty of our members have gone into the service. We miss their financial support and active assistance. Others must take their places and "keep the home fires burning" until their return.

2. All men in uniform are given the free use of the privileges, (350 soldiers are quartered at the Watertown Arsenal and Newton is the nearest Association).

3. Our secretaries have given and will continue to give their services free of charge at camp and for home work whenever possible.

4. Under war conditions our boys need more help than in ordinary times. Help us in our work for the 200 boys in our membership and the boys of the whole community.

5. Our building is a community center. The Red Cross, Special Aid, French Relief, Boy Scouts, and other organizations have the free use of the building.

There are many other avenues of service open to us, such as our boys' camp, our foreign work, our physical work for the men who are soon to go into service. We will gladly do all we can if you will help furnish the means. $5000 in addition to expected income from Dormitory rentals, membership fees, and annual subscriptions will see us through 1918. If you believe in maintaining a Home base as well as the far-flung battle line, please send check to J. W. Blaisdell, Treasurer, and help us carry out our program as outlined above.

Lieut. Morize to Speak at High School Next Thursday

Lieutenant Morize who is to deliver the address before the annual meeting of the Newton Branch of the Red Cross at the Newton Classical High School, Walnut street, Newtonville, next Thursday evening at eight, is a most unusual man. Under thirty, a six-footer, straight as an arrow, athlete, man of action and soldier he is also a thinker, scholar and orator.

In August, 1914, at the outbreak of war, Lieutenant Morize was looking forward to his second year of service as professor of French in Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore. Immediately upon issue of the call to the colors, however, he took his place in the 281st Infantry Regiment of the French Army. His American university offered him only a short leave of absence, expecting the war to be brief. He himself, on the contrary, felt sure the fighting would be long and hard, and insisted on a leave of at least one year.

Not one, but nearly three years of arduous campaigning lay before him, as a matter of fact, during which he was to participate in many of the most important and varied operations of the war. Morize fought in Alsace, in the Vosges, in Artois, in Belgium, and in the Somme drive, before being ordered once more to Alsace. It was there, near Muelhausen, that he was wounded, and given the Croix de Guerre for his conduct in battle. He had already been advanced from his former grade as sergeant to his present rank as first Lieutenant.

President Brush of the Boston Elevated Explains Street Railway Predicament

The annual meeting and dinner of the Civic Club of Newton, was held Wednesday evening at the Harvard Club of Boston with an attendance of about fifty members. Mr. Albert F. Bemis, the president acted as toastmaster.

Mr. Matthew C. Brush, president of the Boston Elevated Railway Co., was the principal guest, and notwithstanding the tremendous strain which he had been under for the past few days due to the threatened strike on his road, gave a most impressive and interesting talk on the street railway situation as it affects his company. Mr. Brush talked freely and frankly on many matters of deep public concern and requested that he should not be quoted. It is sufficient to say, however, that his presentation of the facts and figures deeply impressed the men present as to the seriousness of the situation and the absolute necessity for radical and immediate relief. Mr. Brush favors the service-at-cost plan now under consideration by the Legislature as the most feasible remedy in sight.

Besides Mr. Brush the Club had invited all the surviving members of the city government of 1893, now 25 years away and Mayor John A. Fenno, Alderman Henry E. Bothfield, and Common Councilmen Joseph W. Parker and Henry Tolman were present. Mr. Fenno gave a few reminiscences of his work in the city government and Mr. H. E. Bothfield also spoke.

An expression of good will from the Club was sent to Mr. Vernon E. Carpenter, the only surviving member of the first city government of Newton, who was reported as confined to his house in West Newton by illness.

The following officers were elected: President, Mr. A. Stuart Pratt; Secretary-treasurer, J. C. Brimblecom; Executive Committee, Messrs. Fred M. Blanchard, Sumner Clement, and Joseph W. Bartlett.

Those present included ex-mayor A. R. Weed, ex-aldermen Thomas Weston, Jr., A. P. Carter, L. D. Towle, Alston Burr, O. M. Fisher, S. W. Holmes, A. W. Blakemore, Sumner Clement, Nathan Heard, W. H. Barker, C. B. Gordon, G. M. Winslow, John S. Alley, M. B. Jones, E. P. Bosson, G. P. Bullard, F. J. Hale, Edw. F. Woods, R. W. Williamson, A. Stuart Pratt, W. S. Wagner, Thos. F. Sullivan, Geo. M. Cox, ex-councilmen George E. Wales, A. R. Bailey, and Henry H. Read, F. H. Howes, a former member of the school committee, Aldermen A. W. Hollis, Arthur Kendrick, B. L. Goodwin, Philip Nichols, R. M. Clark, William Price, H. L. Carter, and Everett E. Kent of the school committee.

BABY KILLED BY GAS

Little Paul Grinley, about 2 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Grinley of 109 River street, West Newton, died Sunday evening from inhaling illuminating gas.

With his brother, about a year older, he was asleep in a room which was kept warm by a gas heater. The tube connecting the heater and the gas jet became unfastened and the fumes escaped. The other child was little affected by the gas.

DIED IN SERVICE

Life and Letters of Cadet Aviator Victor L. Dennis

Funeral services for Cadet Aviator, Victor L. Dennis of Newton Lower Falls, who met his death in an airplane accident at Love Field, near Dallas, Texas, on February 19, were held at St. Mary's Episcopal Church, on Concord street, Newton Lower Falls, on Tuesday afternoon, February 26, at 3 o'clock.

The services at the church were preceded by prayer at the home of Mr. Frederick H. Dennis, father of Cadet Dennis, after which the body was escorted to the church by a squad from Co. A, 11th Regt. Mass. State Guard, commanded by a sergeant. The bearers were Mr. Frederick J. Dennis, brother of the deceased, Capt. L. H. Tripp, U. S. R., of Washington, Capt. Norman L. Gifford, U. S. R., retired, of Boston, Mr. Waldo Gifford Leland of Washington, Mr. Kenneth Downes of Framingham, and Mr. George M. Heathcote of Waban.

The Reverend Francis Bingham White, rector of St. Mary's, officiated at the services, and the music was by the united choir of St. Mary's and Grace Church, Newton. The City of Newton was officially represented by Mayor Edwin O. Childs and by Mr. Bernard Early, President of the Board of Aldermen, whose son is a cadet aviator at Love Field, where Cadet Dennis was stationed. The Newton High School was represented by Professor Charles D. Meserve and a delegation of students.

Cadet Allen Parker of the Aviation Section, U. S. Signal Corps, acted as usher.

The church was filled with friends and relatives of Cadet Dennis, with members of the families with which he was connected by marriage, with men in the military and naval services, and with many in official and private life who came to pay tribute to the memory of one of the first Newton boys to give his life in the aviation service, and to the cause for which he gave it.

The burial was in the old graveyard of the church where lie soldiers of every war of the United States. After the committal service three volleys were fired over the open grave by the firing squad, and taps were sounded by a bugler of the regular army, detailed by the commanding officer of the Northeastern Department. During the funeral services the flag on the Hamilton School was at half-mast.

Cadet Dennis is survived by his wife, Marguerite Brown Dennis, formerly of Canada, whose two brothers are in the Canadian Overseas Forces, by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Dennis of 2122 Washington street, Newton Falls, by his two brothers, George H. Dennis and Frederick J. Dennis, both of Newton Lower Falls, and by four sisters, Gertrude Dennis, Leland, wife of Waldo G. Leland of Washington and Newton; Florence Dennis Tripp, wife of Capt. Louis H. Tripp, U. S. R., Washington, D. C.; Carolyn A. Chisholm, wife of Capt. Harold G. Chisholm, U. S. A., formerly of Sharon, now commanding the 4th Battalion, Depot Brigade at Camp Lee, Virginia; and Miss Viola Dennis, who lives with her parents.

Victor Leon Dennis was born in Galt, Ontario, on December 30, 1890, the fourth son of Frederick H. Dennis of Newton, who was at that time resident in Canada and of Elizabeth Skyles Dennis of English birth and parentage. His father returning to the United States when his youngest son was but a few months old, the latter passed practically all of his life in Newton Lower Falls. He attended the Hamilton Grammar School and the Newton High School, and showed himself a sturdy, upstanding boy whose lovable qualities gained for him an unusual popularity among his fellows and the warm affection of his elders. He had marked musical ability and as a boy possessed an uncommonly beautiful and true soprano voice, which won for him a more than local reputation as a choir boy, first at St. Mary's Episcopal Church in Newton Lower Falls, and later at the Church of the Emmanuel in Boston, where he was a soloist.

His boyhood was marked by an intense love of outdoor life and it was this together with a spirit of high adventure, that was the impelling force in his life during the few years after he left the Newton High School. Together with two other Newton boys he spent a winter in a Maine lumber camp and then went to Cuba. After some months spent in various occupations there he made his way to board a Guip ship, and then went to Texas and Mexico.

When the desire for travel and adventure had given way to settled ambition he returned home, having acquired an experience, a steadiness of purpose, and an ability to take care of himself that promised much for his success in life.

He now devoted himself to the study of the automobile, especially to the development of the gasoline motor, which he was convinced was to play a most important part in the economic development of the new century. He attended the Wentworth Institute in Boston where he specialized in mechanical drawing and motor design and he began to be known as a motor expert. His chief interest was in the airplane motor. As a boy the flights of the Wright balloon, of Foman and of Bleriot had fired his enthusiasm and his ruling ambition was to be instrumental in advancing the art of aviation, especially through the perfection of the aeroplane motor.

A year or so after his marriage, in 1913, to Miss Marguerite Brown of Boston, formerly of Canada, he secured employment with the B. P. Sturtevant Company of Hyde Park, where he was in charge of the assembling of aeroplane motors doing much work for the Royal Flying Corps. Later he went to Syracuse and then to Detroit, where he was foreman in the aeroplane motor experimental department of the Packard Company, a position which he left to become sales manager of the Neumann, Lane Company, agents for the Pierce-Arrow and other cars, in the same city.

Upon the declaration of war in April, 1917, he joined the Michigan State Troops, but he had no intention of remaining indefinitely in the home guard. He was of a family of soldiers. His English ancestors had fought in the Crimea and in the Indian Mutiny; his grandfather, Samuel Dennis, a soldier of the 22nd Massachusetts, fell in the battle of the Wilderness, his older brother, Frederick J. Dennis, had been through the Philippine Insurrection in the 12th United States Infantry. The Aviation service offered him an opportunity, not only to do his bit, but to realize one of his dearest ambitions, to become a flier.

He therefore filed an application for admission to the Aviation Section of the U. S. Signal Corps, and in July was ordered to Chicago for his examinations, which he passed with a rating of 100 percent.

During the weeks that followed he was impatient for the call to the ground school. It came in October and he was ordered to the Ohio State University at Columbus, where he went, accompanied by his wife, and followed the course in Military Aeronautics, with conspicuous success, graduating near the top of his squadron. On December 19 he went to Love Field and a few days after that he made his first flight. His expert knowledge of motors was of great advantage to him and he made rapid progress, soon acquiring the reputation of being one of the steadiest and ablest fliers on the field.

A few extracts from some of his letters to his family give an interesting light on his experiences.

January 1: "I started flying today and had a wonderful flight for a starter. . . . At 6.30 I went on the field and reported to my instructor as being ready to fly. . . . Where was my tutor? He walked out and sat in the machine and received my instructions. The instructors take the front seats here and the cadets the rear. . . . I strapped myself in and gave the signal that I was ready. We turned up the motor to the proper speed and started away. We went off like a shot and into the air. The rush of the wind and the roar of the engine were wonderful. . . . but were forgotten for an instant as we banked very steeply on a corner. We climbed to about a thousand feet and the instructor gave me the signal to handle the plane. I took the control, a little nervously, I will admit. I kept on climbing, making my turns, etc., without any help from him. We attained an altitude of about four thousand feet. It was a wonderful scene that lay below us but was so high up that I saw little of it. . . . We started down with a spiral and long glide, with the motor cut off. Just before we started down I saw a number of little white butterflies moving under us. Later they proved to be planes. It is great stuff and I believe I am going to be successful. . . . I do want to wear those two wings. . . . Believe me, I am ready to sell my soul for the wings they give. They show a real man and best of all you cannot get them by pull."

Jan. 6: "The more I fly the more respect I have for aviation, and the more fascination I find in it. I never dreamed there was so much to it. You feel so big and wild. Look out over the side of your ship and see the little homes and farms and villages under you, and the best of it all is, I feel just as safe as though I were on the ground—that is, as long as I have the instructor with me. I was flying yesterday in a very heavy wind and I was doing very poorly. He had to assist me quite often. He called me everything he could each time we got to the ground, but this seems to be the proper course with a good instructor, and I have been complaining to him because he has not corrected me more."

Jan. 9: "I am getting so that I love the air and the happiest time I have is when I am up good and high and have a clear, smooth day. There is nothing like it, but it keeps you using your head every minute."

Jan. 29: "Well, I cut loose for myself today and, believe me, it was some experience. We had been at a little cross country run. I then picked up my direction and returned to the field. We landed and the instructor got out of the machine and said all right, Dennis, take her around once yourself. I took off and away I went. The machine behaved splendidly, did everything I wanted it to do and came back to me without a splutter. . . . I have been turned over as a 'solo' student. I am following instructions very carefully and hope to avoid any accidents."

Jan. 31: "Talk about excitement! You ought to see some of the trips that are made at the field by men on their first solo. Many a time I have held my breath and stood on one foot. When 'dual' man is cut loose we all stand around and watch him. . . . There was a fellow started out yesterday. First trip around he hit the ground and bounced back into the air about twenty feet. He turned on the power and went around the field again (which is the proper thing to do under the circumstances). He came down again and did the same thing, only this time it knocked him side on into the wind. He wobbled for a while and missed a bunch of fellows by a few feet. They scattered in all directions. He came around again in a mighty shaky way, about five hundred feet up by the time he was ready to cut off for his glide. He got down to about thirty-five feet straightened out and pancaked. The machine just flattened out on the ground—under carriage and all swept away. The poor fellow wasn't hurt—but the machine!"

Feb. 13: "The weather has been very pleasant but the air is always bumpy and the wind is gusty. The results of crashes show it. . . . I was in a crash today that cost the government some money. . . . We were all landing in one small corner of the field and a fellow named . . . (Note: This cadet was killed in an accident a few days after that in which Cadet Dennis lost his life), and myself crashed. It was a very bad one. He was landing and I was taking off. We were both running about a mile a minute and were about twenty feet in the air. Our wings locked together. I had a new plane, first time out—never been run before except by the tester. It was a complete wreck. I hurt my lips and mouth a little and loosened up several teeth. . . . had the same good luck, his nose was jammed a bit. He is a fine fellow and we are good friends. He was blamed for the accident but I believe it was a case of fifty-fifty."

Feb. 18: "I suppose you read about Vernon Castle. He was a wonderful flier and the best liked man in the Canadian camp—a real man and a captain that treated his men like men. The Canadian Cadets feel as though they had lost the best friend they ever had. He only had a forty-foot fall—mighty unfortunate. You remember . . . he had a three-hundred-foot fall the other day and was hardly hurt. Just fate, that's all. The man in the back seat with Castle was not even hurt. . . . I have been in the air for about an hour and a half today. The conditions were splendid. I love to fly and feel as much at home in the air as I do on the ground. . . . I am off wonderfully well by the senior instructor and all the lieutenants in charge of solo flying. I go out in the morning and fish up a good chip and they always see that I get it. I haven't had a forced landing with a dead stick since I have been here. This is due to the decent machines I have got hold of. . . . I always get a new one, or nearly so."

On the morning of February 19, about 8.30 while Cadet Dennis was in the air at an altitude of 100 feet his machine, which was over the far end of the flying field was seen to dive towards the ground. It was evident as he fell that he was trying to straighten out the plane before striking the ground, and it was apparently this attempt to save his plane that prevented him from shutting off his engine before the impact. The gasoline tank was ignited and when the ambulance and motorcycles reached the spot the plane was in flames. Cadet Dennis was reported in a Dallas newspaper as being the calmest person on the scene. Strapped in his seat, in the midst of the flames he gave directions for fighting the fire. The cause of the accident will probably never be known with certainty.

The Associated Press report that Cadet Dennis was attempting a nose dive at an altitude of one hundred feet, is of course preposterous. The official report merely stated that "suddenly his machine was seen to dive toward the ground." No flier attempts a nose dive at one hundred feet and Cadet Dennis was a sufficiently able and experienced flier to make it certain that the accident was one which could not be prevented.

He was extricated by the ambulance squad, after heroic efforts, during which a workman on the field was severely burned, and was rushed to the hospital, where every possible medical attention was given him. Morphine was administered to allay the pain and he appeared to suffer very little from that time on until he passed away at 2.45. He was conscious and fearless to the last, conquering death as he had hoped to conquer the enemy.

His commanding officer wrote of him: "Cadet Dennis was an excellent soldier and had progressed so favorably in his flying instruction that he would have received his commission as an officer in the Army and was much liked and respected by his officers and his fellow soldiers, and his untimely death is a source of genuine sorrow to all of us."

His body was conducted to the train by a military escort from his squadron, three volleys were fired and taps were sounded, as the train, bearing the casket, draped in the stars and stripes, bore him away on his long journey home.

His comrades sent to be placed on his grave a beautiful stand of orchids and palms, bearing the red, white and blue device of star and circle which distinguishes the American aeroplanes and a card with these words: "We loved him. His Squadron."

OLD RESIDENT DEAD

Mr. Edmund T. Wiswall, a native and lifelong resident of this city, died last Monday. He was born in Wiswall street, West Newton, after an illness of over three years, following a fall at that time. He was 86 years of age and belonged to one of the oldest families in the city.

For many years he was engaged in the milk business and later retired to give his entire attention to his extensive real estate interests. Mr. Wiswall was a member of the Common Council in the years 1888 and 1889, and later served as member of the Board of Health until its reorganization 1893, and as a member of the Water Board from 1890 until 1898 when it was legislated out of office by the city charter of 1898. He was a trustee of the Newton Savings Bank, and a member of Newton Lodge, I. O. O. F. He was twice married, his second wife, who was Mrs. Georgianna A. Trowbridge, surviving him.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at his late home, Rev. J. Edgar Park, pastor of the Second Church, officiating, and the interment was in the family lot at the Newton Cemetery.

VAUDEVILLE SHOW

Waban Neighborhood Club

A full house both afternoon and evening of Washington's Birthday, gave generous applause and expressed hearty approval of the vaudeville show staged that day at the Waban Neighborhood Club. The performance opened with the play, "Neighbors," a comedy in one act, by Zona Gale, with the following cast—Grandma, Mrs. William F. Lamont; Miss Diantha Abel, Mrs. Carlyle Emery; Ezra Williams, Mr. George M. Angier; Peter, Mr. Carlyle Emery; Inez, Mrs. Edward Becker; Miss Elmina Moran, Mrs. Charles E. Stevens; Miss Trot, Mrs. Dana Jefferson; Miss Carry Ellsworth, Mrs. Morton W. Haddock.

This was excellently done, and made a good opener. Mrs. Hector Holmes, Mrs. Robert Moore, Mrs. Donald Robbins, Mrs. Kenneth Heinsen and Mrs. Harry Erhard then put on the following act, "The Bolsheviks," assisted by Madame Helena Erhardi Muck, pianist. The music and dancing were good, and the ladies were aided by very good light effects.

The Kawaihau Hawaiian trio—R. H. Johnson, F. G. Johnson, Robert Chapin—then gave several selections, and were followed by a Tabloid Minstrel show, Carlyle Emery, James R. Chandler, ends; F. W. Davis, A. E. Wisdom, C. H. Walker, E. C. McEllen, Fred Fulton, Interlocutor; Dr. John A. McDonald at the piano; Mr. Albert Houghton, Conductor. Mr. Creed Fulton made an ideal interlocutor; Mr. Emery, a newcomer, made good as an end, and Buck Chandler was just as good as ever.

Messrs. Davis, Walker, Wisdom and McEllen made an excellent quartet, and Francis Davis made a hit with his solo. Dr. McDonald had not done much since his cadet days, but was brought out for this event by Mr. Chandler, and was a great help to the boys.

Then followed "Retlaw" (Mr. Walter Newbert), who proved to be Waban's big star. He was nailed in a heavy box, which was afterward bound with rope and from which he escaped in twelve minutes.

Most of the children attended the afternoon performance and missed Mr. Newbert's act, but he has promised to do it for them some time.

Motion pictures were shown before.

NEWTON WELFARE BUREAU

What It Does

Mr. Jones limped into the office of the Welfare Bureau and asked for help. Up to three weeks ago, he said, he had worked in a factory and had always been able to support his wife and three children. For the last three months he had had "rheumatism" in his feet, which had become so severe that he had started home from work to see if resting would cure the trouble. The resting had done no good, however, and now, when at last he realized the need of a physician he had no money to pay one, and as they had no regular family doctor he felt he had no right to ask a stranger for credit. At the end of his resources financially and still unable to earn, he faced a black future with the possibility of physical as well as mental hardship for his wife and children. The Secretary arranged first for the food and fuel which would keep the family from actual suffering. Then she took Mr. Jones to the Newton Free Library where the doctor diagnosed the trouble as fallen arches. He advised special shoes, which the Bureau purchased, and exercises and treatment at the clinic for two or three weeks. At the end of two weeks and a half Mr. Jones was able to go back to his old position. Now he wants to repay the Bureau for the financial help that was given, but he feels that getting back his health is something no money can pay for. Is not this service worth while to the community as well as to Mr. Jones?

—Last Friday afternoon automobiles driven by Frank Horrigan of Adams street and Edward Gegan of Middle street, collided at the corner of Adams and Water streets. No one was injured.

—Alfred J. Rowan, a former well known resident of this village died last week Friday at Atlantic City. He was employed by Kidder, Peabody & Co., and lived in Belmont. He is survived by a widow and one daughter, Mrs. Wm. J. Underwood of Belmont.

—Mr. and Mrs. Byron T. Burt of New York, announce the engagement of their daughter, Carmen, to Lieutenant Warren Dyer, U. S. N. A., of Bennington street. Mr. and Mrs. Burt formerly resided for many years in Chattanooga, Tenn., and more recently lived in Rutland, Vt. Lieutenant Dyer is stationed at Camp Lee, Petersburg, Va., as assistant personal officer of the Eightieth Division.

—A cablegram yesterday brought the information that Dr. Duncan Reid, was somewhere in France. For about 4 months he has been in charge of the Officers' ward of the Welsh Metropolitan War Hospital, which has 2500 beds, and is largely engaged in saving men—making them over, so that many return to duty again, while most of the others go back to civil life not helpless or dependent, as they otherwise would.

—Mrs. Florence G. Jackson of 264 Bay State road announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Ella Carroll Jackson, to Ensign Otis B. Prescott, U. S. N. R., of Centre street. Mr. Prescott was a member of Harvard, class of '03, and belongs to the University and Harvard clubs. He enlisted at the beginning of the war and has been stationed at the Charlestown Navy Yard. Miss Jackson has lived in the South until recent years, attending the Girls' Friendly School in Washington, D. C., and later the Randolph-Macaulay College of Virginia.

—Speaking of gifts brings to mind the fact that records, suitable for use on the gramophone, are needed in all the camps. The supply of records is inadequate, although all Knights of Columbus buildings are well equipped with gramophones. Music rolls for player pianos of the eighty-eight note type are also in demand. Those having such records or music rolls to donate should send them to General Secretary, Knights of Columbus building, in the camp in which they are most interested. Many people wish to make their donations to those camps in which the troops of the National Army or National Guard representing their own state are mobilized.

—The Newton Branch of the Special Aid Society for American Preparedness held an open meeting at Y. M. C. A. Hall on the afternoon of February 21, and in spite of the inclemency of the weather, the hall was well filled. Mrs. Franklin E. Smith, acting chairman, opened the meeting. The minutes of the last open meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. George Owen, then followed the reports of the various activities.

Mrs. H. M. Moore, who has the sewing in charge, reported much good work accomplished; the number of sewed articles since the last open meeting in December being 191, including 77 sets of pajamas. The articles knitted were 773, including 51 special helmets for the Agamemnon. A letter of thanks from Lieut. Bruce R. Ward was read in which he expressed his gratitude to the ladies of the Special Aid for their kindness to him and to his men. Mrs. Moore urged that as many as possible report for work on Wednesday, as that seemed to be a day when workers were scarce.

Mrs. H. E. Damon told what had been done for the aviators, and made a special plea for them, saying that the need for outfits for them was very great indeed. The demand at the Special Aid headquarters in Boston is continuous, and far exceeds the supply. Each outfit includes seven knitted articles.

Miss Lathe who, with her co-workers, has been looking after the Food-Pact Centre on Washington street, said that their window display, showing the different substitutes for meats, wheat, fats and sugar, had attracted much attention and that more than 1000 recipes had been distributed. Miss Lathe said that after March 1 this work would be carried on in the Public Library.

The report of the Hospitality committee (of which Mrs. W. E. Jones is chairman) was read, and it told of hospitality extended to many of our sailor boys during the past few months, fourteen of them each Sunday dining in the homes.

Mr. Hugh U. Townsend, speaking for the ladies of the Y.M.C.A. Auxiliary, said that in the future they would serve a light, inexpensive luncheon to any workers wishing to remain for work during the noon hours.

The speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Burnett Smith of England was next introduced, and told her story of "Woman's Work in Winning the War" with a directness and a simplicity that charmed her hearers, while it made them realize more fully than ever before what the brave women of England have been enduring. Mrs. Smith said that in the past three years there had been 215 air raids in England, and while quantities of property had been destroyed (her own home among many others, in the fall of 1915) no munitions buildings or soldiers' quarters had been injured. Food was so scarce and so high, that this problem could only be solved by resorting to a last to the "card-system" of rationing.

There are two million women in England under arms—not fighting, but under government orders. Mrs. Smith spoke of the spiritual awakening of the nation—how the line of class has been obliterated by the common sorrow and the common cause—how the happiest are those who have given most.

MINSTREL SHOW

Mrs. M. Millie Beardsley, with her company of well-trained minstrels, scored a veritable triumph in the Minstrel Show which was presented on Tuesday evening in Dennison hall, Newtonville.

It was an appropriate windup to the twenty-eighth anniversary celebration of Boynton Lodge, No. 20, U. O. of I. O. L., and a capacity audience enjoyed the initial program which was replete with fascinating musical selections and side-splitting comedy features, and the aisles and entrances were crowded with those who came late.

The show lasted two solid hours, and there was not a dull moment throughout the whole performance. It was brimful of comedy and music blended in just the right proportions, the minstrels being in a class all by themselves, and the artistic manner in which the show was presented, the attention in the matter of gorgeous costumes, combined with the remarkable ability of the actors, was highly commendable.

The personal remarks about the members of the lodge and their friends created much merriment, and the jolly minstrels spared no one. Equally amusing was the repartee between the end men and Mrs. Beardsley, who played the role of interlocutor with a delightful snap, and was easily the star of the performance. Wearing a beautiful evening gown, her hair dressed in Colonial fashion, she was in marked contrast with her black-faced, gaudily arrayed comedians, and held the centre of the stage, and when she sang, in her usual charming way, an appealing little English song entitled "Smile, Smile, Smile," she made a decided hit with the audience, and was not only showered with applause, but also with a profusion of beautiful flowers.

Mr. Edmund Brown, in the end songs, "They Go Wild over Me," and "Woodman, Spare That Tree," won much merited applause, and "For You a Rose" was sung with pleasing effect by Mr. Charles Holland, who also sang "So Long, Mother."

Mr. Hugh Fogwill scored one of the big laughing hits of the show in the end song, "I'm a Twelve O'Clock Fellow in a Nine O'Clock Town," and was obliged to respond to repeated encores. It was an original song written especially for the occasion, and filled with jokes at the expense of lodge members.

Mr. Fred Perkins proved himself a singer and entertainer of exceptional ability in the solos, "There's a Long, Long Trail," and "Keep the Home Fires Burning."

Mr. Fred Perkins fairly took the house by storm when he marched on to the stage armed with a rag baby and a big songbook, from which he warbled in a most captivating manner, an original ditty in which the ladies of Boynton Lodge figured conspicuously. It was a rollicking song and dance, full of mirth and music, and Mr. Perkins was joined in the chorus by the entire company, with live accompaniment on the piano, played by Mrs. Perkins.

"Our Own American Boy," a finely rendered song by Miss Jennie Pepler, was well chosen, and Mr. Richard Davis, who sang, "We'll Have to Pass the Apples Again," came in for a large share of the honors and was presented with a bunch of apples. An amusing feature was the joke-bouquets presented to the end-men.

The chorus singers were Messrs. M. E. Beardsley, C. K. Fogwill, J. W. Schwartz, Miss Daisy Schwartz, Jenny Pepler, Susie Fogwill, Gladys Fogwill, Mrs. Fred Perkins, Florence Fogwill, Edith Daniels, Mrs. C. K. Fogwill and Mrs. A. E. Fogwill. The pianist was Mr. Albert Allen of Allston. Knights Orchestra was also in attendance, and furnished delightful musical numbers during the performance, and for the dancing which followed.

In the finale, "We'll Carry the Star-Spangled Banner," by the entire company, the interlocutor arose, waving a large American flag, and three boys, John C. Ferguson, William J. Underwood, and Jack Schwartz, marched up the aisle to the platform bearing another large flag, and the audience arose and saluted the flag.

Before the entertainment the anniversary supper was served under the direction of Mrs. Eva C. Smith.

NEWTON 25 YEARS AGO

From the Newton Graphic of March 3, 1893

Mr. F. W. Stearns of R. H. Stearns & Co. has bought the estate of Mrs. Royal Winter on Park street. Mr. and Mrs. Lee J. Calley celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary. Hunnewell Hill Improvement Society organized with Walter U. Larso, president, James C. Elms, Jr., secretary, and Stephen Moore, treasurer.

Death of Mr. William S. Cargill of Upper Falls. Extract from editorial. "It is startling when one considers what is to be the outcome of all the projected improvements of which we hear. New electric railways will connect Newton with Boston, others extending westward will link it with Wellesley and Natick and Framingham. Elevated or depressed tracks for the steam railway, or tracks moved to a new neighborhood will do away with grade crossings. New parks here and there, such as the Mt. Ida grant (Cabot park), the Charles river purchase (Auburndale park), and others that yet may come, such as the driveway all around Crystal lake, will forever prevent Newton's having the congested look of many other thriving cities."

—The Newton Branch of the Special Aid Society for American Preparedness held an open meeting at Y. M. C. A. Hall on the afternoon of February 21, and in spite of the inclemency of the weather, the hall was well filled. Mrs. Franklin E. Smith, acting chairman, opened the meeting. The minutes of the last open meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. George Owen, then followed the reports of the various activities.

Mrs. H. M. Moore, who has the sewing in charge, reported much good work accomplished; the number of sewed articles since the last open meeting in December being 191, including 77 sets of pajamas. The articles knitted were 773, including 51 special helmets for the Agamemnon. A letter of thanks from Lieut. Bruce R. Ward was read in which he expressed his gratitude to the ladies of the Special Aid for their kindness to him and to his men. Mrs. Moore urged that as many as possible report for work on Wednesday, as that seemed to be a day when workers were scarce.

Mrs. H. E. Damon told what had been done for the aviators, and made a special plea for them, saying that the need for outfits for them was very great indeed. The demand at the Special Aid headquarters in Boston is continuous, and far exceeds the supply. Each outfit includes seven knitted articles.

Miss Lathe who, with her co-workers, has been looking after the Food-Pact Centre on Washington street, said that their window display, showing the different substitutes for meats, wheat, fats and sugar, had attracted much attention and that more than 1000 recipes had been distributed. Miss Lathe said that after March 1 this work would be carried on in the Public Library.

The report of the Hospitality committee (of which Mrs. W. E. Jones is chairman) was read, and it told of hospitality extended to many of our sailor boys during the past few months, fourteen of them each Sunday dining in the homes.

Mr. Hugh U. Townsend, speaking for the ladies of the Y.M.C.A. Auxiliary, said that in the future they would serve a light, inexpensive luncheon to any workers wishing to remain for work during the noon hours.

The speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Burnett Smith of England was next introduced, and told her story of "Woman's Work in Winning the War" with a directness and a simplicity that charmed her hearers, while it made them realize more fully than ever before what the brave women of England have been enduring. Mrs. Smith said that in the past three years there had been 215 air raids in England, and while quantities of property had been destroyed (her own home among many others, in the fall of 1915) no munitions buildings or soldiers' quarters had been injured. Food was so scarce and so high, that this problem could only be solved by resorting to a last to the "card-system" of rationing.

There are two million women in England under arms—not fighting, but under government orders. Mrs. Smith spoke of the spiritual awakening of the nation—how the line of class has been obliterated by the common sorrow and the common cause—how the happiest are those who have given most.

EDITORIAL

Mr. A. M. Lyon, the able chairman of the Newton School Committee objects to an editorial in the last Graphic on two grounds—that the editor had the temerity to prejudice the coming action of the aldermen on the appropriation requested, and to a possible reflection on the patriotism of the school committee. The editor has had an intimate and official connection with our city government for 30 years and never, to the best of his recollection has the city government refused the request of any board or official of the city without first referring the matter to a committee for its consideration. Therefore, when, at the last meeting of the aldermen, the chairman of the City Buildings committee took the floor to move that the request of the school committee for $5000 for changes in the lunch room at the High School be refused without reference, and when the matter was so referred only out of courtesy to one member of the committee, it doesn't take much of a prophet to predict that the request will "have scant attention" from the board of aldermen. The editor realizes that from the half facetious manner in which he characterized the extremely poor judgment of the school committee in asking for an appropriation for this purpose at this time, it might be possible to unwittingly cast some reflection on the patriotism of the school committee. To the extent that such impression was given, an apology is offered. We fully realize the splendid public spirit and the value of the service freely given by the members of the school committee. They have a most difficult task touching every parent and every taxpayer in the city. And yet, when the school committee fails to grasp the situation, it seems to be the duty of the press to call attention to that fact.

There has been ample publicity to a constantly growing sentiment that nothing but absolutely essential matters should be attempted both by the city as well as by private corporations. Mayor Childs, in his inaugural, suggested this policy by merely cataloging many desirable and even necessary municipal improvements until a more favorable time. At meetings and at hearings before the aldermen the same sentiment has been repeatedly expressed by some of the most prominent men in the city, and the board of aldermen, by its action has evidently approved such a policy. The school committee should follow the example so clearly set forth, and, until a more favorable time, should postpone even requests for all appropriations which are not fundamental to the existence of the school system. It is hardly necessary to add that such a matter as improving lunch room conditions cannot be so classed.

Our attention has been called to the possible misinterpretation which may have been made to the Graphic article of last week in regard to the work of the draft board. The heading stated that the Draft Board was now engaged in rounding up the slackers and the opening paragraph of the article related to that matter. We then published a list of registrants whose classification had been appealed to the District Board, and it might be possible for our readers to jump to the conclusion that the published list of names related to the slacker class. A second reading of the article will clearly indicate the distinction, but this explanation is made for the benefit of those who might have received a different impression.

The death of Mr. Lewis E. Coffin, chairman of the Assessors of this city for many years, will leave a vacancy hard to fill. Mr. Coffin was an ideal man for such an onerous and responsible position. He could appreciate both the standpoint of the city and that of the individual taxpayer, and his genial personality, tact, and sound common sense made him an ideal city official.

CITY OFFICIAL DEAD

Mr. Lewis E. Coffin, for the past fifteen years chairman of the Newton Board of Assessors and one of the best known residents of the city, died on Wednesday at his home on Bellevue street, Newton, after an illness of about two weeks with heart trouble.

Mr. Coffin was born in Newton in February 1849, and had just passed his 69th birthday. He was the son of the late Langdon and Catharine Bailey Coffin and has lived here all his life.

After receiving his education he entered the employ of his uncle, the late William E. Coffin & Co. of Boston, and later was with the William G. Roby Co., both concerns being in the iron and steel business. He subsequently went into the real estate business and was heavily interested in business property in this city. On the reorganization of the Board of Assessors in 1902, he accepted the position of chairman, and has served continuously, having just been confirmed for another three year term by the mayor and aldermen. Mr. Coffin has always taken a deep interest in local affairs. He served as a member of the Common Council of the city in 1886 and in 1887 and in 1890, 1891 and 1892 was a member of the board of aldermen. He also served for three years beginning in 1895 as a member of the school committee. He was one of the incorporators of the Newton Club and an active member of Channing Church.

Mr. Coffin is survived by a widow, who was Miss Fannie D. Barker of Cincinnati, and two sons, Mr. Fletcher B. Coffin of Lake Forest, Ill., and Mr. Langdon Coffin of Newton.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from his late home on Bellevue street, Newton.

Gambling With Flies.

We question whether the fly is a nuisance. During one of his mountaineering expeditions in Switzerland, Sir Leslie Stephens discovered that the fly could be made to play an unconscious part in a gambling game.

"Last night," he says in a letter written to his wife from Zermatt on September 16, 1870, "six of us got to playing fly-loo. This means that every one puts down a lump of sugar and a ten-centime piece in front of him; and the one on whose sugar the first fly settles gets the money."—London Chronicle.

Triumph of Engineering.

One of the greatest engineering projects of the world, the Suez canal, was formally opened 48 years ago. The canal cost $100,000,000. The festival given by the khedive in commemoration of the opening of the canal cost $23,000,000, or a fourth as much as the canal. Cairo was gaily decked for the event, which was attended by the emperor of Austria, the empress of France, and many other high personages. The engineering work of the canal was under the direction of the great French engineer, De Lesseps. The canal is 83 miles long.

"Father of Fishes."

Probably the most famous of our fish culturists—by reason of his long service and remarkable success—was Seth Green, familiarly known as the "Father of Fishes." His experiments began in 1864, and he discovered the so-called "dry method" of impregnation so extensively used in later-day practical trout culture. His early work was done in the Caledonia creek hatchery. The artificial propagation of shad in the Connecticut river was successfully attempted by Seth Green in 1867.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURN, Editor.

Those who have been privileged to hear Mrs. Burnett-Smith of England during the past week have gained a knowledge of conditions there impossible to have from mere reading of them. Something of the strain under which they have been living was realized when she told of that from the air raids alone. They usually begin at eleven in the evening and last until four in the morning, often being repeated five nights in succession. Sleep, of course, is impossible, and to have to go about one's daily tasks just the same is a terrible drain upon one's strength. The devotion and patriotism of the women is appreciated when hearing of a woman who has lost five sons and who still goes about with no cloud upon her face, giving twelve hours a day to relief work. An old Scotch woman who had lost three sons, all she had, upon learning that Mrs. Burnett-Smith was coming to this country said "Give the women of America this message, tell them that when they have lost their all, then they will still believe that it has been worth while."

Mrs. Claude U. Gilson will speak of "The Real Situation in Our Midst." All women interested are cordially invited to attend and clubs are urged to send representatives.

Draper, chairman of the committee in charge, will be glad to give further information.

Local Happenings

On account of the illness of Mrs. Leila C. Pennock, the monthly events lecture of the Newtonville Woman's Guild was given by Mrs. W. C. Crawford.

An all-day service meeting of the Waban Woman's Club held February 15, was largely attended, and the chairman of the sewing committee, Mrs. J. Earle Parker, reported five dozen pajamas and six surgical coats made that day. An attractive luncheon was served at 1 o'clock, after which Mr. Stanton King outlined the work of the Sailor's Haven at Charleston.

The secretary of the Middlesex Farm Bureau, Miss Holbauer, addressed the club at the meeting last Monday, February 25. Miss Holbauer explained the uses of the various wheat substitutes that are practical for our uses but not for our allies. The use of hominy corn and barley may be successfully undertaken in this country and thereby we may release quantities of wheat and rye for the European Allies who cannot well change their diet while under the present nervous strain.

Seventeen government recipes for making bread of oatmeal, entire wheat, corn and rye, and mixtures of two or more of these flours, were given to the members, and at the next meeting substitute meat recipes will be distributed.

Last Tuesday evening members of the Auburndale Woman's Club and their friends listened to an illustrated lecture on "South America" by Mr.

Albert Leonard Squier. Lasell students and some of the children of the public schools, who are at present studying South America, were special guests of the Club.

Mr. Squier started his journey, with his audience, at the Panama Canal, showing many beautiful views of the countries and large cities of South America, describing the scenery, manners and customs of the people, transportation, productions, etc. In fancy the audience came down the west coast, passing through the Straits of Magellan, up the east coast to Rio de Janeiro, the most beautiful city of South America.

Mrs. C. G. Wetherbee, president, presided at the business meeting of the Woman's Club of Newton Highlands on Tuesday afternoon. The report of last week's State Federation meeting was deferred until March 13. A nominating committee was chosen as follows: Miss Marion B. Morse, chairman; Mrs. McKay from the present Executive board; Mrs. Ernest Fewkes, Mrs. Luitweiler, Mrs. Florence Foster, Mrs. Curtis and Mrs. Schroeder. The program of the afternoon was in charge of the Hospitality committee, Mrs. A. S. Hutchinson, chairman. There were songs by a chorus of members, solos by Mrs. Raymond R. Fuller and Edwin Loughrey, dancing, "On to Victory," by Theodora Jones, and a farce, "I on Parole Francis," by the following members: Mrs. Turnbull, Mrs. Paul P. Foster, Mrs. Robbins, Mrs. Hubbard, Mrs. Ruby, Mrs. E. S. Drowne, and Miss Crombie.

A collection was taken for the Salvation Army Drive.

At the meeting of the Social Science Club on Wednesday the following appropriations from the Philanthropic fund were made: for the Stearns School Centre, $250; Newton Hospital, $100; Hampton Scholarship, $50; Welfare Bureau, $25; West Newton Music School, $25. It was voted to endorse the four bills now before the Legislature which were endorsed by the State Federation and also the Federal Bill, giving the right to an American woman who marries a foreigner to retain her citizenship.

The program for the morning included two papers upon South America, one by Miss Jennie L. Hamilton on "Social Conditions," and the other by Mrs. H. O. Marcy, Jr., on "Industrial Conditions." Miss Hamilton made a survey of the different countries, taking up conditions in each. The people comprising the population range from the high class, refined people of European descent, to the native Indians with all grades in between, for blacks, reds and whites have intermarried to an amazing extent, until there is often a curious blending of shades in any one family. In the four countries the greatest cleavage between the whites and the colored, and in Brazil a total disregard of the color line. In Colombia the women have more burdens than in any other, while in Uruguay more girls are enrolled in the primary school than in any other country in the continent. In the future the beginning of a substantial middle class, while in Argentina lines are very strictly drawn, although there seem to be three classes.

The subject of the Industrial Conditions, as presented by Mrs. Marcy, proved equally interesting, and a great industry was foretold for South America. In considering the coffee industry she stated that 80 per cent. of the world's coffee supply comes from Brazil. The rubber region is among the upper waters of the Amazon, and the work is still done in a primitive manner. A new product, Paraguay tea, was described, saying that it is likely to prove itself an indispensable aid in time of war. The cocoa tree was also described. Cattle, sheep, the llama, goats, horses and mules, all furnish extensive supplies with boundless possibilities. The mining industries have had a great past and await a great future. No other part of the world is so rich in mineral wealth. Diamonds have carried Brazil's name around the world. The nitrates found in Chile provide the world's chief supply and have brought in an enormous revenue. Nature has likewise been lavish in vegetable growth, the forests yielding magnificent woods, dye stuffs, and of commercial value, fibres for cordage, and a bewildering number of fruits, all with which we are familiar, and many besides. Here also are the wheat growing acres of the world, while cotton and sugar compete with foreign markets. The home industries of South America were also mentioned, and the speaker said that the resources as a whole have been poorly developed on account of lack of railroad facilities and a shortage of workers.

The Review Club of Auburndale observed Gentlemen's Night Tuesday evening, February 19, as the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Winslow at the Lasell Seminary. In spite of the stormy night, the gymnasium was filled with members of the club and their friends, who enjoyed one of the most beautiful and artistic exhibitions ever presented by this versatile and talented club. A programme of eighteen living pictures, all, with one exception, from the old masters, was shown on the stage. So real were they, so true to the pictures themselves, so beautiful in the color and richness of dress, so wonderful in expression and pose, that an almost breathless silence prevailed while the pictures were disclosed, followed by prolonged applause.

OLD MASTERS IN LIVING PICTURES

The list of pictures follows: Angel with Trumpet, Mrs. J. E. Clapp; The Maid of Honor, Miss Edith Frost and Miss Mary Elizabeth Frost; A Musical Angel, Miss Caroline Dunton; The Concert, Mrs. Chas. E. Valentine, Mrs. H. H. Longfellow, Miss Louise Peloubet; The Egg Woman, Mrs. Chas. D. Pickard; St. Catherine, Miss Ruth Woodbury; The Visitation, Mrs. A. J. Wells and Mrs. H. C. Hildreth; The Annunciation, Mrs. Scott Rider and Miss Elizabeth Wells; The Adoration, Miss Annie Dennett; St. Catherine of Alexandria, Mrs. G. W. St. Amant; The Mother of Rubens, Mrs. H. R. Turner; Ruben's Wife (Helene Fourment), Miss Jessie J. MacMillan; Mc-Nab, Mr. J. F. Dunton; Officers of the Guild of St. Andrew, Mr. C. A. Brown.

Mr. G. E. Martin, Mr. A. C. Farley; A Lady, Mrs. Geo. E. Farrington; Pope Innocent X, Mr. W. I. Lawrence; St. Genevieve Dispensing Alms, Mrs. W. H. Blood, Mrs. G. P. Knapp, Mrs. W. D. Gilmartin; St. George and the Dragon, Mr. Chas. B. Floyd.

Where all were so beautiful it is difficult to single out any for especial comment. Perhaps the McNab, painted by Raeburn 100 years ago, is of unusual interest at present because of its recent sale in London at the highest recorded auction price ever paid for a man's portrait, $127,050. Mr. Dunton caught wonderfully the spirit and expression of the grim old Scotchman.

The sweetness and dignity of the little princess and her maid of honor in their quaint dresses depicted by the beautiful children of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Frost were most appealing to all lovers of children.

Mr. Valentine's remarkable pose and expression of the eyes in "The Concert" won the admiration of all. The faces of the Officers of the Guild of St. Andrew were those of men inspired, as was also Mr. Lawrence's Pope Innocent X, a wonderful resemblance to the portrait by Velasquez being noted. Mrs. Turner's lovely and placid countenance as the Mother of Rubens was greatly admired, and the beauty and purity of expression of Mrs. Rider's and Miss Wells' Annunciation touched all hearts.

Perhaps one of the most splendid portraits of all in its noble dignity and sweetness of color was the Vandyke Lady represented by Mrs. George E. Farrington. The beauty and grace of the hands will long be remembered. Throughout the programme music, suited as far as possible to the pictures, was furnished under the direction of Mrs. Nelson Freeman, who was assisted by Mrs. Valentine and Miss Marie Chapin, pianists, Miss Grace Pierpont, violinist, and Mr. Spaulding, singer.

Huhn's Invictus, sung with great feeling and beauty of tone by Mr. Spaulding, accompanied by Mrs. Spaulding on the piano, was a glorious preparation for Raphael's St. George and the Dragon.

Interpersed with The Visitation, The Annunciation and The Adoration were selections from The Holy City most feelingly interspersed by Mrs. Freeman.

Many were the compliments and words of appreciation bestowed upon Miss Ella B. Smith, the artist member of the club, who selected the pictures and who was untiring in her labor of perfecting the arrangement of each portrait. Her words of explanation before the pictures were disclosed were most enlightening. Mrs. E. J. Frost, Mrs. R. O. Walter and Miss Louise Peloubet assisted Miss Smith. At the conclusion of the program the club and its friends were invited to the parlors where an informal social half-hour was enjoyed, all feeling that rich, educational and inspiring treat had been furnished them.

DINNER DANCE

A very delightful social affair of the past week at the Fessenden School, West Newton, was the annual Dinner Dance on Saturday, from 4.30 until 9, which Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Fessenden gave for the Sixth Form boys, and the young ladies of the dancing class.

Dinner was served at 6.30, and the tables were attractively decorated with American flags, each table carrying out a complete color scheme of red, white, and blue, giving a decidedly patriotic touch, which was most effective. The tables were lighted with candles, and the place-cards were tiny American flags.

It was a notable assembly of beautifully groomed ladies and their escorts who came to dine and enjoy the dance, parents and friends of the young people being included among the guests. The large Gymnasium at the School presented a picturesque scene with its decorations of red, white and blue, and a gorgeous display of flags were hung artistically about walls and chandeliers.

It was like a beautiful garden, there was such a profusion of colors, with the artistic blending of all the rainbow hues in the costumes of the ever moving picture of merry dances. Russell's orchestra provided excellent music and the young people thoroughly enjoyed the lively program.

An interesting feature was the Favor dance which was most enjoyable. The young people wore caps of red, white, and blue, and danced the Virginia Reel.

The ushers included, Charles Cooper of St. Vernon, Ohio, Frank Gilchrist of Laurel, Mississippi, Reed Tisdale of Providence, R. I., Frederick J. Fessenden, Jr., of West Newton, and Holland Ring of Arlington, Mass.

Among the guests present were Mrs. William G. Van Loon and daughter of Albany, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. Milton P. Higgins of Worcester, Mass., Dr. and Mrs. A. H. R. of Arlington, Mrs. G. Brown of Chestnut Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Frost, and Mrs. Charles E. Sweet of Auburndale, Mrs. F. C. Mann of Waltham, Mrs. William Lloyd Garrison, Jr., Mrs. Louis J. Balliet, Mrs. Horatio N. Glover, Mrs. Frederick T. Walsh, Mrs. Charles P. Hall of West Newton, Mrs. J. Albert Hale of Newton Centre, Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Hatch, Mr. and Mrs. Albin Clark Brown, Mrs. Charles W. Bartlett of Newtonville, and Miss Eleanor Hall and Miss Beatrice Burnett of Ten Acres, Wellesley, and their chaperone, Miss Vanorden.

The following members of the track team have scored more than 10 points—Nutting 21, Palmer 15, Brickhouse 13, Macomber 13. With the exception of Macomber the above will receive N's, as will Moore, Garrity, Healy and Manager Wyatt.

Wednesday morning the editor and business manager of the Newtonian spoke to the students urging them to subscribe to this book. John Barry, the editor, said there had been a great deal of discussion as to whether it should be printed at all this year. Clark Macomber, the business manager, said that if 380 subscriptions were obtained 16 more pages could be added. About 225 subscriptions have already been received.

Mr. Adams announced that the senior play will be given the evening of May 3 under the direction of the English Club. The play chosen this year was written by Miss Phyllis Coombs. The seniors have voted to have their class pictures taken at the Parkinson street.

At the Boston Arena on Friday evening, March 8, at 7.45, the hockey team will meet Brookline for the championship of the Intercollegiate League. Brookline is Newton's foremost rival in every branch of sport, when the two teams meet a snappy game will surely result. The past season has been a very successful one for both schools, Brookline losing three hard games. Newton has had one of the most successful seasons the school has ever known, losing only one game to Milton Academy, and defeating such teams as the Harvard Freshmen and the Collegians, a team which with two exceptions was the Harvard Informals.

BENEFIT RECITAL FOR Y. M. C. A.

Next Saturday, March the second, at 7.45 Miss Drake's pupils assisted by Miss Ethel Frank, soloist at King's Chapel, will give a benefit recital in the Y. M. C. A. hall. All music lovers will be interested in the artistic program to be given. All proceeds of the recital will be given to the work of the local Young Men's Christian Association.

The results of the Bowling Tournament at the Y. M. C. A. last Monday evening brought out the four teams very close together in the standings. Mr. Drisko still holds the high three string of 342, Mr. F. Thomas the high single of 145, and Mr. F. Thomas the high average of 103. Four more matches remain in the tournament and at present the first and second places can be won by any of the teams.

At the Showrooms of Messrs. McKenney & Waterbury Co., 181 Franklin St. corner Congress, Boston, Mass., are on exhibition the grandest display of Electric and Gas Lighting Fixtures, all to show desired effects to meet every requirement for home and public building.

LETTER FROM PARIS

Paris, Feb. 4, 1918.

Dear —
 I hope you have not been troubled with any fears for me on account of the raid on Paris. I don't know how much the papers at home have made of it, but I assure you that I personally was neither incommoded nor agitated by the midnight visitors. In fact, I feel rather ashamed to say that after looking out of the window a few minutes, watching the searchlights dancing about the sky, I went back to bed and to sleep, being however, awakened by the only bomb that fell in this quarter, which did not sound so very loud after all, but did make the windows rattle. The next morning I found that almost everyone had at least gotten up and dressed; a good many people went downstairs and shivered round for what must have been an interminable two hours. Since I have seen the very satisfactory effect of a bomb that hit a house not so very far away, I have decided that perhaps it is more discreet at least to go to the lower stories. I really don't think anything would induce me to go into the cellar. It was quite curious to see how exactly and precisely the places where bombs fell resembled the postcards which we have been surveying with perhaps lingering scepticism these last few years. No more scepticism about me now.

Two of the young men of the Red Cross had a thrilling time with the aeroplane that fell in the Place de la Concorde. They were standing in front of one of the big hotels and saw this machine acting in a curious manner; ran out into the square for closer inspection and found that there was no time to run back again! Mr. P. threw himself flat on his face, close to one of the railings, just as something, which proved later to be a piece of the machine, whizzed by his head. He was covered with gasoline from the tank and the plane came to the ground not far from him. Hoping that he might be the means of securing some German prisoners, he sprang to his feet and ran to the spot in time to render much-needed assistance to two Frenchmen who were somewhat wounded and who, by a miracle, had not been killed. At this point, the friend who had been with him and who had temporarily disappeared turned up dripping wet. In his wild attempt to escape he had fallen into one of the big fountains, and very nearly gotten himself drowned.

They hustled the two Frenchmen into a nearby hotel, routed out an elderly American doctor and proceeded hastily to do some temporary sewing up with an ordinary needle and silk. Just as the operation had started, the door of the room precipitately opened and a much-flustered maître d'hôtel announced, "Monsieur le Président de la République," which seemed to put a dramatic climax on the event.

The next day which, by the way, was Thursday, and is always more or less of a holiday in Paris, the streets were filled all day with an "Ohing and Ahing" crowd which streamed in solemn procession from one point of interest to another, and as the points were pretty well distributed from one end of Paris to the other, the streets were almost impassable and the metros and tramways fearsome things to attempt to go in.

I think that the raid has had its usual effect in making everybody perfectly furious and consolidating the general sentiment in favor of smashing "ces sales Boches." Now the moonlight nights are over, and I suspect we shall not be troubled again. I have just had a letter from E., very gloomy over the fact that he had at the present nothing active to do, also very much perturbed over the democratic attitude of the American Army. As he says, two years and a half in Belgium with German army discipline constantly before his eyes makes quite a contrast to the "bonne camaraderie" of both the French and American armies.

"OUR FELLOWS AT THE FRONT"

"Our Fellows at the Front" is the title of a pamphlet that has just been issued by the committee of employees of the Boston & Albany Railroad, telling what is being done for the men of the road who have gone to France in the Fourteenth Regiment Engineers (Railway) and other military forces. A roster of the men on foreign service is given, also the details of the shipments contained in the packages sent to them and financial statements showing the collections and how the money has been used. The committee has started a plan for spending $200 a month for sending supplies abroad and may spend even more if the amount of contributions warrants. "The vital thing," says the pamphlet, "is to get to something to our fellows each month or each fortnight. One of our fellows writes: 'The paymaster is not the most popular man with us—he is the postman, for he brings us tobacco and cigarettes.' That is the point! American tobacco—regular tobacco—is difficult to obtain 'Over There.' Sometimes money cannot buy it, since none is for sale."

COPELY THEATRE.—With the beginning of its seventh week at the Copley Theatre Monday evening, "Inside the Lines" will find itself more firmly established than ever in the public favor. It is now the talk of the town. Not merely from Boston and its suburbs are people coming to see it, but its fame has penetrated so far that many faraway cities and towns are helping to fill the Copley Theatre at every performance. "Have you seen 'Inside the Lines'?" is now the important and most frequently heard question of the hour, and whoever has not seen it is immediately urged to go to the Copley if he wishes to see one of the best plays of the season. "It's as good as 'The Man Who Stayed at Home' is the praise most often given it, and no commendation could be higher or more accurate.

Poems of the War

"Our world has passed away
 In wantonness o'erthrown.
 But steel and fire and stone."

Once more we hear the word
 That sickened earth of old;
 'No law except the sword
 Unsheathed and uncontrolled.'

Comfort, content, delight—
 The ages' slow-bought gain—
 They shrivelled in a night,
 Only ourselves remain."

—Rudyard Kipling.
 The number of volumes of war verse in addition to the countless stray poems in newspapers and magazines now offered to the public, show that the poets are expressing the tragedy of the Great War. Most of this work is deeply touching and makes poignant appeal to the heart. One critic thinks that little of the work done by the non-combatants will survive but that much of the work of the soldier poets will live. Therefore the anthologies, of which there are at this time some four or five, should be treasured.

 Brooke, Rupert. The collected poems of Rupert Brooke. YP-B789

He early heeded England's call for her youngest and bravest and best. He died in the Aegean and lies buried in the island of Skyros. With Rupert Brooke's sonnets, we may say that no other war in our whole history has been so "instantly transmuted into poetry of purer gold." This quotation is from one of them:

"Blow out, you bugles, over the rich Dead!
 There's none of these so lonely
 And poor of old,
 But dying, has made us rarer gifts
 Than e'er were yours."

These laid the world away; poured out the red
 Sweet wine of youth; gave up the years to be
 Of work and joy, and that unhelped serene,

That men call age, and those who would have been
 Their sons, they gave, their immortality."

Burnet, Dana. Poems. YP-B934

Colcord, Lincoln. Vision of war. YP-C672v

Mr. Colcord's long poem is a glorification of the spiritual value of war in contrast with the stagnation of a materialistic peace. He addresses in turn each of the warring countries, showing that no one is blameless.

"Do you congratulate yourself, America, because on this side of the water you are at peace? I tell you that the peace of this conflict has surely crossed to you."

This he wrote long before America entered the war.
 Frankau, Gilbert. A song of the guns. YP-F85s

Upon the declaration of war Gilbert Frankau entered, was in various battles, serving in the artillery. His poems, "Wilfred. Battle and other poems." YP-G35b

Mr. Wilfred Gibson's "Battle" poems are written with simplicity and directness. They imply the feelings, thoughts, sensations of soldiers in the midst of actual experiences of modern warfare. Heroism is revealed in the fundamental fact of usual human nature.

Two stanzas from "A Singsong of England," by Maurice Hewlett, show even another side:
 "O England is an island,
 The fairest ever seen;
 They say men come to England
 To learn that grass is green.
 And Englishmen are now at war,
 All for this, they say,
 That they are free, and other men
 Must be as free as they."

"Some Englishmen are fishermen,
 And other some are miners,
 And others man the shipping yards
 And build the ocean liners;
 But one and all will down tools
 And up with gun and sword
 To make a stand for Freedom
 Against the War Lord."

Letts, Winifred M. The spires of Oxford. YP-L56s
 "I saw the spires of Oxford
 As I was passing by.
 The gray spires of Oxford
 Against the pearl-gray sky.
 My heart was with the Oxford men
 Who went abroad to die."

MacHill, Patrick. Soldier songs. YP-M175s
 Seeger, Alan. Poems. YP-S45

Among the Americans who have served the front, there is none that has produced poetic work of such high quality as that of Alan Seeger. "I have a Rendezvous with Death..." At some disputed barricade,
 When Spring comes back with rustling shade,
 And apple blossoms fill the air—
 I have a rendezvous with Death
 When Spring brings back blue days and fair.

"It may be he shall take my hand
 And lead me into his dark land
 And close my eyes and quench my heart."

When Spring trips north again this year,
 And I to my pledged word am true,
 I shall not fail that rendezvous.
 Nor did he. He was killed at Bel-loy-en-Santerre. He is one of the most bravest and most beautiful figures in our poetic history.

A GOOD RECORD

That government officials move in curious ways seems to be borne out in the case mentioned last week of the appeal made by the Appeal agent of this city on the classification given to Lieut. Gordon H. Banchor. Mr. Banchor volunteered for service during the Mexican trouble, served a year in the Minnesota Field Artillery with seven months' experience on the border and was honorably discharged. He volunteered at the second Plattsburg camp, was commissioned a second lieutenant in the field artillery, and since last fall has been stationed at Camp Devens. Such a record clearly indicates that whatever action has been taken by the government officials must be purely technical, and that Lieutenant Banchor is far from being in the so-called slacker class.

VAUGHN—KEESLER

The wedding of Miss Gladys Earle Keesler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Keesler of Newtonville, and Mr. Willard Sprague Vaughn of Brookline took place on Saturday morning at "Pinecrest," the bride's home on Highland avenue.

The ceremony was performed at 10.30 by Rev. J. Edgar Park, D.D., pastor of the Second Congregational Church, West Newton.

The bride was attended by Miss Mildred Jeffery of Allston as maid of honor, and the best man was Mr. Newell Vaughn of Boston. A reception was held immediately after the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn will reside at 211 Highland avenue, Newtonville.

VOICES MUST BE PLEASANT

Hospital Nurses Undergo Course of Training in Some Institutions to Cultivate Refined Speech.

"If the success or failure of a physician is, in some cases at least, determined by his tongue, how much more important is this matter of speech to the nurse, who must be constantly with the patient, and whose every look and gesture are watched—targets for criticism, silent or open," writes Dr. Irving W. Voorhees in the Nurse. "It is said that in some hospitals this question of refined, pleasing speech has become a part of the nurse's course of training, and that she is demerited for disregard of the principles as set forth by her teachers. Although I have no personal knowledge of these hospitals, it is certainly a consummation devoutly to be wished that every one who comes into the sick room should know how to speak softly and agreeably."

Doctor Voorhees says European nations realize the importance of the nurse's voice and insist upon it far more than we do. And any woman who plans to become a hospital nurse and has not a pleasing voice already should start at once to cultivate one.

The sick are very sensitive to voices; the blind are especially affected by harsh voices, so much so that some wealthy blind men will not permit a person whose voice is not pleasant to come near them.

AN OFFICIAL STORY TELLER

Libraries in Canada Find Special Feature for the Entertainment of Children Is Worth While.

In several of the public libraries of Canada story telling to children has for some years been a special feature, says an exchange. Each Saturday morning from fifty to one hundred children assemble at the library in a room set apart for the purpose and called the "Children's Room." The ages of the children vary from six to fourteen years.

At St. John, New Brunswick, story telling has been continued now for three years. This year it has been found advisable to divide the children according to age and to hold two classes of half an hour each. The work has steadily grown in interest, and the demand for books of a less trivial type justifies the work of the committee in charge. During the summer, when opportunity offers and a story-teller of note is a guest of the city, notice is given to the library, and it is often possible to have a special session.

Arrive and Depart. "Arrivals" and "departures" have a definite place in French trench philology. When the American troops first entered the trenches their French comrades were very anxious to have them distinguish accurately between the noise of "arrives" and "departs." "I thought they were talking harbor clearances at first," said one Yankee lad. "Then I heard a low, whining sound and a shell exploded behind us. 'Un arrive,' said my companion. He signified that it was a present from the Germans. Soon there was a louder, sharper sound. It was a responsive roar from our own batteries. 'Un depart,' he said with great satisfaction. 'Volla!' we had it. The exchange of artillery fire is, after all, a matter of 'arrivals' and 'departures.' Needless to say, the 'departs' enjoy the wider popularity."

Pencils in Japan.

An unthought-of result of the war has been the creation of a lead-pencil industry in Japan. In 1911 Japan imported 65,000,000 pencils, most of which came from America and Germany. But with the opening of the European conflict German sources of supply were cut off and native manufacturers, who had been producing only in comparatively small quantities, seized their opportunity and made the most of it. In 1914 Japan exported over nine million pencils and in 1916 the number had increased to 168,000,000. There is strong indication, observes a writer, that many of the markets won by the Orientals will be held by them after the war, for they have the advantage of very cheap labor. Most of the lead which they use is imported from India and this country.

Woman Horse Nurse.

In London Messrs. MacNamara, who employ about forty woman drivers, have put their horse hospital entirely in charge of women. Mrs. Pary, the superintendent, says they have thirty to forty patients a day. She and three assistants do all cleaning, grooming, feeding and administering of medicines prescribed by the veterinary surgeon. The animals, she says, are grateful and companionable, and she has no doubt that women will want to keep on with this work after the war. "We do not baby the horses," she says. "Somehow we reform the worst cases of temper, and the women can do anything they like with even fractious, nervous and suffering horses. The effect on the nerves of the horses, and consequently on their value, is noticeable."

Why Not Wear a Sign?

Pat, being on his holidays, was one day strolling through the streets of New York, when he saw the figure of a man standing before a shop. There was a card pinned to the man's coat on which was written, "Reduced to $5."

Pat somewhat carelessly approached the figure and exclaimed: "Begorra, sir, you're safe enough; I'm reduced to 30 cents."

BOYS TO FARM FOR AMERICA

6000 High School Students Over 16 to Enroll in National Campaign to Plant and Reap the Crops. ENDICOTT NEEDS THEIR HELP

Plans for carrying on the food production and conservation work of the State were discussed in an all-day session, when the county food administrators recently appointed by State Food Administrator Henry B. Endicott gathered for the first time to hear outlined plans of the administration for the coming spring and summer. Special emphasis was placed upon the immediate necessity of arranging for the promoting of interest in all sorts of farming and gardening.

A letter was received from National Food Administrator Hoover stating that the amount of production in the home gardens last year undoubtedly saved serious food shortages, as the overtaxed railway system rendered sending to the users large quantities of potatoes, beans and other products impossible. Mr. Hoover said:

"The extensive use of suburban gardens for planting last year proved of extreme importance in increasing the national food supply."

"Even with the car shortage which has developed during the last three months and the total inability to move the large reserves of potatoes and beans, we have been saved from positive shortages throughout the country, largely by virtue of the accumulated household stores which are the results of home endeavor."

"The food situation of the world must steadily degenerate as long as the war lasts. It is, therefore, of prime importance to add every item to the total production. Furthermore, our overtaxed railways, which must continue to be overtaxed during the whole course of the war, will be greatly relieved if we have a larger area of gardens planted than last season."

"It seems to me that the experience of last season indicates that, aside from a moderate planting of perishable vegetables for immediate use, the substantial part of such gardens should be devoted to potatoes and beans. These two commodities can be raised in practically all sections of the United States, are of the utmost value from a food point of view, and have the great advantage that they can be preserved in the household without artificial treatment."

It is the intention of the State Food Administration and its county delegates to follow out to the letter Mr. Hoover's suggestion relative to increasing suburban and community gardens.

At one o'clock the meeting adjourned to the Union Club, where the county administrators and the heads of the various food departments in the State House, lunching as Mr. Endicott's guests. The meeting was reopened after lunch and continued at the club until late in the afternoon.

Philip R. Allen, Chairman of the County Food Administrator's Board, here outlined in more detail the work of the administrators; he said that they would not be called upon to create any organization, as that would perhaps interfere with the administrative departments at the State House, but they were expected to act as executives and in the event of any community's showing lack of interest in the food production and conservation movement it would be their duty to re-institute new energy.

President Butterfield of the Massachusetts Agricultural College and chairman of the food production division of the Massachusetts Committee on Public Safety, outlined the plan for work this year in the department which he supervises. The newly appointed administrators also heard the heads of departments of the State Food Administration describe their work and how full cooperation could be obtained between the State House and county divisions.

Not Guilty.

"Friend," said the irascible man on a trolley car, "I'd rather give you this newspaper than have you reading it over my shoulder." "You do me an injustice, sir," answered the passenger behind him. "I have a cramp in my stomach that makes me lean over this way. I'm not trying to read the headlines in your damned old newspaper."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Good Japanese Custom.

Polite Japanese never have the grip because they commit "iki wo hikl," that is drawing in their breath sharply, a salutary custom which one doctor has declared incomparable as means of grip prevention, the idea being that Japanese are careful as to where and on whom they breathe and so keep the percentage of germ distribution at a rather respectable low figure.

"Spoonersisms."

A "spoonerism" is a turned-around word. For instance, a clergyman recently told his congregation that he owed them a "deep grat of debitude," and at a wedding a young man asked if it was "kissomary to cuss the bride."

WARD'S SEMI-CENTENNIAL

When Samuel Ward started a small stationery store in a State-street basement, it was apparent to those who knew him best that he was bound to succeed. Today, after fifty years, one of the oldest and best-known houses in Boston stands as a monument to his integrity, his skill in choosing his associates and the sound principles which were the foundation of all his efforts. The record of the concern during the half-century has been one of steady growth, not only in business but in the confidence of the public.

It was in 1868 that the late Mr. Ward started business in a very modest way at 74 State street, and it was there he began to establish a reputation and a name for the business. In a few months he had an opportunity to buy out an old-established firm at 8 State street, and some time later he added another store at 58 Washington street, with entrances on two streets. The next step was a union of the stationery firms of Samuel Ward and Richard L. Gay, under the name of Ward & Gay, in 1875. Ward & Gay moved to 180 Devonshire street and in 1886 the firm was dissolved, and the corporation of the Samuel Ward Company was founded. In 1887 removal was made to 49-51 Franklin street, where an entire building and basement were occupied. The steadily increasing business compelled the company to seek still larger quarters and in 1903 it took the entire five-story building at 57-63 Franklin street, which gave double the room of the old quarters.

Since that time, however, the company has been obliged more than once to enlarge its quarters, taking one floor after another in the adjoining building at 53-55 Franklin street, and at length building a six-story factory at 299-303 Atlantic avenue for its manufacturing.

Modern business methods have been employed, with the result that among Ward's customers are many of the largest and best-known concerns of Boston. Ward's imprint has long been recognized as a standard for quality and correct form in social and business stationery.

To the hearty co-operation of officers, salesmen, and employees, numbering more than 200, many of whom have been with the concern twenty-five years or more, Mr. Ward always attributed the success which came to the house of which he was the head.

John T. Bailey, manager of the Franklin street store, has a record of thirty-five continuous years of service and it is due in no small way to his efforts that the business has grown to be the largest in New England devoted exclusively to the stationery trade.

The officers of the corporation are President, John D. Lamond; vice-president, Jacob G. Elz; treasurer, A. C. Whittemore. Directors, the above-officers and John T. Bailey, Charles A. Collins and A. D. Hibbard.

In order to keep up with the constantly increasing demand for more surgical dressings, new workers are needed.

The dressings are simple and easy to make. Surely every loyal American woman could spare a few hours each week from her household duties to aid in this humane work.

With the Spring Drive will come terrible fighting, and untold numbers of wounded. Surgical dressings cannot be made at a moment's notice. Let us prepare them now while we have the time, that the lives of our men may not be sacrificed.

There was an attendance of about 300 on Wednesday.

In the afternoon, Mrs. S. Hardy Mitchell of the Newton Public Safety Committee addressed the meeting. She spoke interestingly of the boys in the service, and the point she emphasized most particularly was, that the Committee would like to have the boys feel that it stands back of them at all times and is ready to aid them in every possible way. The Committee knows practically all about the boys of Company C, but would like to get in touch with others who have volunteered, and will be glad to have any one communicate with the Committee in regard to boys who have enlisted.

DEATH OF MR. GOODRICH

Mr. William I. Goodrich for nearly a half century a resident of Auburn, died suddenly last Saturday at his home on Central street, following a stroke of apoplexy. Mr. Goodrich had been in his usual health until last week Thursday when he had a slight heart attack from which he had apparently recovered. He was born in Charlestown, Mass., and was 77 years of age. For many years he has been engaged in the leather business in Boston. He was a member and past master of Fraternity Lodge of Masons and was also a 33rd degree mason and had served as a district deputy grand master for this masonic district. He was deeply interested in the affairs of the Church of the Messiah of which he was the junior warden. Mr. Goodrich is survived by a widow, two sons, Mr. William E. Goodrich of Dorchester and Mr. Alister W. Goodrich of Allston and one daughter, Mrs. Emma B. Drost of Auburn, Mass.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday, with prayers at the house and church service at Mt. Auburn Chapel in charge of Rev. John Matteson and Rev. Percival M. Wood, past and present rectors of the Church of the Messiah.

You don't know what they mean out here. They've pulled me through a heap of tough times and I'll always remember your name with gratitude."

Will you get a postal from France like this one? Are you generous people of Newton getting into line with this country-wide movement to bring a bit of comfort to Uncle Sam's khaki-clad men over there in war-torn France?

This is a gift that you'll hear from in more ways than one. You'll receive a postal from the soldier who gets your tobacco and you'll have won his lasting gratitude.

Worth doing, isn't it? And easy too—for after all what's a dollar bill or a two-bits-piece alongside the blessed comfort you can give by supplying the man who's fighting for you with the pipe-fillings or the "makin's?"

All over the United States warm-hearted men and women are giving their share to "Our Boys in France Tobacco Fund." The men and women of Newton are going to show that they can be counted on when a cause like this calls. They are going to give and give generously to

Here is a fund organized on the most efficient lines, endorsed by the Secretaries of War and Navy, that buys tobacco at cost—so that your quarter puts forty-five cents worth of tobacco in the hands of every soldier. Not a cent of your contribution goes for distribution, officers' salaries or postage. Every penny goes for tobacco.

Enclosed find—☐ to buy—☐ packages of tobacco, through "Our Boys in France Tobacco Fund" for American fighting men in France.

I understand that each dollar buys four packages, each with a retail value of forty-five cents and that in each of my packages will be placed a post card, addressed to me, on which my unknown friend, the soldier, will agree to send me a message of thanks.

SARAH HULL CHAPTER

Story of the Year Given in Rhyme by the Historian

The annual meeting of Sarah Hull Chapter, D.R., was held on Wednesday, March 6, at 10 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. F. O. Stanley, on Waverly avenue, Newton. The annual reports of the officers giving a resume of the year's work show that much has been accomplished. The treasurer reported, among other things, that $176 had been given to the war relief societies of Newton; $177.36 had been spent for wool to knit into garments for the boys on Commonwealth Pier; and $78.50 had been given for educational and philanthropic work. The Chapter has been most fortunate in having the Hon. William Howard Taft, Hon. Samuel L. Powers and Mayor Childs to address it, and the members have shown great interest and co-operation all through the year.

The delegates and alternates to the national convention are: Delegates—Mrs. Charles L. Pearson, Regent; Mrs. Elmer L. Gibbs, Miss Mary Wheeler, Mrs. Alexander M. Ferris, Dr. Marietta P. Reid, Mrs. Willard L. Sampson, Mrs. Francis Murdoch, Mrs. J. Henry Bacon, Mrs. Alvin H. Clifford. Alternates—Mrs. Edgar M. Horne, Mrs. Adelbert Fernald, Mrs. Ada E. Davidson, Mrs. Warren F. Gregory, Mrs. Edward P. Tuttle, Mrs. Franklin W. Ganse, Mrs. Stephen A. Wiswell, Mrs. Henry R. Viets.

The following list of officers was elected for the ensuing year: Regent, Mrs. Charles L. Pearson; vice-regents, Mrs. Arthur C. Hill, Mrs. Ralph C. Emery, Mrs. George L. Parker; recording secretary, Mrs. Elmer L. Gibbs; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Howard R. Mason; assistant corresponding secretary, Mrs. Geo. Agry; treasurer, Mrs. Willard L. Sampson; historian, Mrs. Curtis Chipman; counsellors, Mrs. J. Henry Bacon, Miss Kate W. Fox, Mrs. Franklin W. Ganse, Mrs. Sidney R. Porter; auditor, Mrs. Oliver M. Fisher; director of Caleb Stark Chapter, Mrs. Howard R. Mason.

The Historian's report follows:
Foreword
Shall I tell of our meetings last autumn
And give you the details of each?
Shall I say how we gathered this winter,
And mention each essay and speech?
How all of the hostesses stood in a row,
And shook every hand they could reach.
Would you like all their names, and the streets where they live,
Till you say "O no more! we be seerch"?

Perhaps I am "begging the question"
But I think that the present has shown
These trifles of gossip and chatter,
Our womanly hearts have out-grown.
So if you'll forgive the omission
I'll let the statistics alone.
Besides, I'm quite sure that the other reports
Will contain what is lacked by my own.

Theme
If from some Heaven-high altar there
Could wing
An angel, bearing from its fiery heart
One live coal plucked out of its glowing depths,
And lay it on my lips, it might impart
Some of its fervor to my feeble speech.
My kept phrases change to stirring song,
In which to tell the story of the year,
Its effort to destroy the hosts of wrong.

Indeed, none but a master could describe
The worldwide symphony, that swells and dies,
Crashing crescendos from the mighty guns
Dying andantes from the echoing skies.
The quick allegros from the aeroplanes,
That skim like birds of prey across the sky,
The booming bass of deadly cannonade,
That underlies the dreadful harmony.

But far above the awful threnody
High, sweet and clear, like mounting lark on wing,
A song divine, a white-souled melody,
Winds in and out, a sentient, living thing.
Love is its theme; Love for Humanity!
A love that binds all nations into one;
A love that knows not hate, that craves not ease,
And longs for service till the end be won.

That feeds the hungry; gives the wounded, sick,
Succor and comfort; helps the tempted, weak;
That self denies, that to the dying soul
Of Love Divine's undying love can speak.
We who are daughters of a chosen band

Aldermen Pass the Largest Budget in History of City

The annual budget for 1918, carrying a grand total of $1,787,799.23, just adopted by the aldermen, is the largest in the history of the city, and that is about $156,000 lower than the figures favored by Mayor Childs. The largest items changed by the aldermen included $40,000 for street resurfacing entirely eliminated, increases in salaries of about $47,000 part of which may come in later as a matter of readjustment, $18,000 in the figure for interest on temporary loans, and about $30,000 in Street Department items.

The school and street departments call for the most money, with the treasury a good third. The final figures for each department are as follows:

General account	$3,125.00
Executive Dept.	8,343.43
Accounting Dept.	30,451.10
Treasury	276,622.79
Assessing	15,669.16
Law	4,750.00
City Clerk	21,145.66
City Messenger	2,300.00
Engineering	16,700.17
Police	41,713.17
Buildings	122,678.56
Fire and Wire	99,150.31
Sealer	1,650.00
Forestry	67,915.00
Health	28,295.50
Street	316,846.50
Charity	46,158.83
School	474,204.95
Library	22,889.38
Playground	22,889.38
Water	149,154.77

It is interesting to note that the item for Mothers' Aid, a comparatively new form of relief work, now amounts to $20,000, of which one-third is reimbursed by the state. The Playground department, also a somewhat new municipal enterprise, now costs over $22,000 annually.

These figures do not tell the whole story, for the item of garbage collection, $4500, only covers the present contract, ending in June, while the item of contagious diseases for the health department, as well as that for interest on temporary loans, are plain guesses, and both may have to be largely increased later.

The various forms of pensions now paid by the city total $23,661, of which the retired laborers receive about $7,000, police and firemen about $6,000, and the German war aid calls for another $6,000.

CALLS FOR $25,000

Newton Committee on Public Safety Doing Excellent Work

The Newton Committee on Public Safety is sending out an appeal for $25,000 to allow it to continue the very important work in which it has been engaged since its organization a year ago.

Without going into detail, the activities of the Committee through its various sub-committees have been as follows:

Through the Recruiting Committee the Clavin Guard (Company C, Fifth Mass. Regiment) was recruited to war strength. Company C was equipped with a motor truck, motor-cycle and other articles not furnished by the government, and $900 was donated to the Company Fund. Through visiting committees money, food, tobacco and other articles have been furnished to drafted and enlisted men. In co-operation with an authorized Brookline, Hattery F was recruited. The first State Guard in the State was recruited and organized. The Newton Constabulary consisting of eight Companies with over one thousand men was recruited and organized. One hundred repeating shot guns, a supply of night sticks, etc., have been provided, at the Armory.

The Committee on Co-ordination of Aid Societies has provided all Newton men entering the service with sweaters, comfort kits, socks, helmets and other articles of clothing. Over four thousand articles have thus been provided. The cost of materials has been met from the General Committee treasury.

The Relief Committee has given money to dependents of men in the service, and in some cases weekly allowances are now being made. The relief committee has also been instrumental in obtaining allowances for dependents from the government. Free legal advice has been given to men in the service and their dependents.

The Committee on Food Production and Conservation made a census of the land available for gardens, and distributed land to persons having none. Ten offices in the various villages were opened, where amateur gardeners might apply for land, order seed potatoes and fertilizer, and obtain advice. A carload of seed potatoes was sold at cost, and in co-operation with the B. S. Hatch Co. one hundred tons of fertilizer was sold at a nominal price, when in adjoining towns seed potatoes and fertilizer were not obtainable at all. The committee promoted factory and community gardens. It arranged for plowing at a uniform price. In co-operation with the City Forestry and Playground Departments arrangements were made for the cultivation of City land. High School boys were mobilized for garden work after school hours during spring and early summer. Gardens were regularly inspected during the summer and advice given by representatives of the food committee. In co-operation with the Forest Commissioner arrangements were made for spraying for insects and diseases at cost by the City. Two High School Boys' Camps were organized in rural districts to furnish labor for farmers during the summer vacation. Children's garden work was financed, as a result of which, 3,000 children had instruction in gardening as part of their school work, 1,400 children had home gardens, and 91 grades in the grammar schools had their own gardens. Prizes for children's garden work were provided.

NEWTON CORNER DRIVE

To Raise Funds for the Various Kinds of War Work

For the purpose of raising money enough to furnish materials to carry on the war relief work for one year from March 1, 1918, the Newton Corner Red Cross, Special Aid, French Relief, and Surgical Dressings Committee, have joined their efforts, and will put out a drive beginning Monday, March 11, continuing one week, during which time they hope to raise at least $25,000, in Wards 1 and 7 to furnish abundant material for these willing workers to use during the whole year.

By so doing they will save the public from being asked to constantly give to each of the four organizations. The plan is that each citizen in Newton Corner shall sign a pledge card for the amount they will give monthly to this combined relief work, or put it all together in the form of a check payable to the Newton Trust Company, covering what each citizen feels he can do to carry on this good work.

It is hoped that contributions will be so generous that it will be unnecessary to ask for further contributions for this purpose in Newton Corner for the present year.

In order that the citizens of Newton Corner may see the war work that is being done by our willing workers, a rally will be held in Newton Y.M.C.A. hall, March 11, at which time the audience will be addressed by Dr. Eugene A. Crockett, a former member of Newton, who has recently returned from a Red Cross inspection tour of the war front in France. Mr. Brewer Eddy will also speak on the necessity of the work that is being done by the women of Newton. An opportunity will then be given all present to see the work going on in the rooms adjacent to the hall, and it is earnestly hoped that every family in Wards 1 and 7 may be represented in this meeting to thoroughly understand what is being done in our midst. They will then feel it a patriotic duty to join in the expense of carrying on this noble work.

FOOD TALK

In the Public Library at 9.30 on March 14, Mrs. Grigor will give the fourth of her interesting talks on Food Conservation. Her subject this time will be "Oils and Fats." There will be an exhibit of food substitutes, and recipes for making wartime dishes will be given away.

RED CROSS BENEFIT

An interesting event of the coming week will be the dancing party on Friday afternoon, March 15, at 2.30, in the gymnasium at the Newton High School, which will be given for the benefit of the Red Cross society. A unique entertainment has been arranged, and refreshments will be served. The Brookline Assembly Orchestra will be in attendance with a special program of up-to-date music.

OPEN MEETING

The Newton Branch of the Special Aid Society for American Preparedness will hold its monthly Open Meeting Friday, March 15, at 2.30 o'clock, in Y.M.C.A. hall. Mr. Howard W. Selby will be the speaker, and his subject will be "The Four-Square Plan." All housekeepers ought to be interested to hear the "plan" explained.

WITHOUT CHANGE

Aldermen Accept Work of Finance Committee on the Annual Budget

The headline feature of the meeting of the aldermen on Monday night was the passage of the annual budget carrying a grand total of $1,638,544.46, chargeable to the tax levy, and $149,154.77 taken from water revenue, making a total expense for our city government of $1,787,799.23.

In addition to the passage of the budget, the largest in the history of the city, it is interesting to note that the board, in the few attempts made to change the figures recommended by the Finance Committee, almost unanimously sustained the committee. Only two matters caused any considerable debate, the items for salaries, both in the city departments and for the school teachers.

Every member was present save Alderman Tuttle, who is engaged in government work in Washington.

The first business was the drawing of jurors for service at Lowell, the names of John J. Kenefick, Mechanic street, Henry Tole, Washington terrace, Walter W. Webber, Langley road, and Albert E. DuBois of Washington street being drawn.

Mayor Childs sent in the appointment of Mr. Henry Bailly to be chairman of the board of assessors, Messrs. Charles F. Johnson, Jr., and Albert P. Carter, members of the Playground commission for three years, Dr. C. A. Boutelle, as Inspector of Animals, Harold Moore as an assistant assessor, and William J. Doherty, as registrar of voters for 3 years. He also sent in changes in the budget, the most prominent being increases in salary of the Water Commissioner to $3,000, and the City Treasurer to $4,000.

Notice was received of postponement of hearing to March 28 on matter of increase in price of gas by the N. & W. Gas Light Co.

Martin C. Laffie was granted a renewal of auctioneer license, various private garages were granted, and apportionments made of betterments assessed against Gertrude R. Hiscok, T. Harding, and the Boston Gardening Company.

Petitions were received from John C. Finelli for a common victualler's license at 200 Adams street, Andrew N. Farrell for Soldiers' Relief, Julia C. Jenks for abatement of assessment on Moffat road, James McLaughlin protesting against betterment on Hale street, Mrs. M. J. McHugh relative to damage from Laundry brook, F. W. Fletcher & Co. Inc. relative to drainage on Charles street, and for a sewer in Auburndale avenue.

On the recommendations of committees, the Telephone company was granted attachments on Cook street, pole locations on Homer street, permit to remove poles on Homer street, and the Edison company granted poles on Auburn street. The Foster Realty company was refused a public garage on Washington and Walker streets, and Wm. Arduino refused a pool table on Langley road. The constable bond of M. J. Enegess was approved, and certain sewer assessments and charges authorized. The increase in pay requested by the ranking officers of the police department was also refused.

On the matter of salaries of department heads and clerks, the Finance committee asked for further time to consider possible readjustments, and there was some debate, when the budget was reached as to fixing the salaries in the budget. The City Solicitor advised that if the salary items were omitted from the budget as passed, no salaries could be paid until a supplementary budget was also passed, and the committee request was granted after a motion to have the committee report on April 1 was turned down. A motion to change the police salaries from the figures recommended by the committee was also recommended by the mayor (substantially $100 increase for each man) was also turned down with Aldermen Hollis, McCarthy and Murphy voting in favor.

Alderman Blake criticised the item of $34,000 for moth work in the forestry department, saying that the unusual cold winter would kill so many eggs that there would be no occasion for as much work as was contemplated. Alderman Angier quoted the State Forester and other authorities to show that it was quite doubtful whether the cold had affected the moths, which he said incidentally were more prolific than hens. He also stated that recent tests of egg clusters taken from the city only recently showed but two per cent. of the eggs as dead, while the moth parasites had increased about ten per cent. Alderman Blake still persisted in his statement that we had undergone a most unusual winter, and told of seeing fish with their heads frozen in ice, while the tall still moved, and of finding dead muskrats, toads, snakes, etc., frozen in the earth. He favored a thirty per cent. cut in the figures, but the board refused to follow him. Alderman Harriman wanted the appropriation divided so that the limit on city work should be $15,000. The mayor was agreeable to this division, but the Comptroller and Commissioner thought there would be difficulty and confusion in keeping the items separate so the al-

NEWTON BRANCH OF THE RED CROSS

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE SECRETARY AND TREASURER

SECRETARY'S REPORT

Upon request of the Boston Metropolitan Chapter of the American Red Cross, the Newton Branch was organized April 2nd, 1917 at a public meeting held in the Classical High School. At this meeting the officers were chosen, to whose number additions have been made as the demands of the Red Cross work increased. The purpose of the Branch is to maintain Red Cross Headquarters for the entire city, to assist the auxiliaries and affiliated societies in the various villages, to maintain a supply room, and to distribute such information as the Metropolitan Chapter may require.

By the courtesy to the Newton Club, the use of two rooms was given for headquarters, which were occupied early in May. In the fall of the year additional space became urgently needed and was provided by the public-spirited gift of the use of their house, 306 Walnut Street, Newtonville, made by Dr. and Mrs. G. H. Talbot.

MEMBERSHIP:

There were about 1,700 Red Cross members in Newton when the Branch was organized. In May a campaign was made which doubled this membership. Some hundred more were added during the "War Fund Campaign," in June, and 11,261 joined in the energetic and thorough Christmas drive. As a result, there were on December 31st, 1917, 16,626 members, which is a good proportion of our 45,000 population.

CLASSES:

Through the Educational Department, Mrs. H. V. Jones, Chairman, classes have been held in First Aid, under Dr. George E. May and Dr. F. R. Clark, Home Nursing classes under Miss Riddle, Superintendent of the Newton Hospital, assisted by Newton graduate nurses approved by the New England Division of the Red Cross, and Surgical Dressing classes under teachers sent by the Educational Department of the Metropolitan Chapter. Five classes are now arranged for, to be held in the near future.

JUNIOR AUXILIARY:

The Newton High School Junior Auxiliary was organized in October, 1917, at the suggestion of Miss Jeannie Kendrick, 1,825 pupils becoming members. Our school has the distinction of being the first to organize in New England. During three months, the girls have made 8,600 small surgical dressings, 2,441 sewed articles and 87 knitted articles. The boys have made large quantities of trench candles, knitting needles used by the girls, and canes sent to the Hospital at Camp Devens. Both boys and girls have made Scrap Books, in connection with the English and Drawing Departments.

The Grammar School Department of the Junior Auxiliary now includes practically all of the schools in Newton, with a membership of 2,571. This, with the number of members in the High School, gives a total of 4,496 Junior Auxiliary members in the city of Newton.

In the Grammar schools the children cut puzzles, make simple Scrap Books and knit and sew.

This work is organized under the supervision of the Boston Metropolitan Chapter.

CIVILIAN RELIEF DEPARTMENT:

Miss Rich, as Chairman of the Home Service Civilian Relief Department, of the Newton Red Cross has at present 32 families under her care. This "Home Service" applies to families of men in all branches of the service; to the families of soldiers, marines and men in the Engineering and Aviation Corps, and to families of men and women attached to hospital units as nurses, doctors, orderlies or ambulance drivers. It also has to do with families of civilians who have been wounded or killed as a direct result of war activities.

ENTERTAINMENTS:

Various entertainments have been given for the Newton Branch of the Red Cross. It is impossible to tell of them all or to name all those who have given of their time to aid the cause. An exhibition of posters especially designed for the Newton Branch by Newton artists was held in Temple Hall, Newtonville, on two afternoons in December. On one afternoon of the exhibition Dr. Severance Burrage gave an interesting account of his work with the Red Cross Commission in Serbia, and on another afternoon Miss Mildred Macomber gave an attractive dancing exhibition. A splendid exhibition of the work done by our Newton High School Junior Auxiliary was shown. The posters, which since then have been exhibited by the Newton Public Library, were the work of Miss Amy M. Sacker, Miss Margaret O. Strong, Miss Helen Strong, Mrs. M. E. Blodgett, Miss Ruth Pillman, Miss Gladys F. Keeler, Miss Alice M. Bryant, Miss Dorothy S. Emmons, Kenneth Kimball, Guya Williams and Martin F. Amorous, Jr.

WORK:

For geographical and social reasons it has proved desirable to organize the work by separate villages, rather than for the city as a whole. From small beginnings, but rapidly growing, there is now in every village a group of workers under the name and form of organization best suited to its locality, each actively co-operating with the Newton Branch and preparing large quantities of surgical dressings, hospital garments and knitted articles. This work is increasing rapidly from month to month and must be maintained in large volume in the months to come.

SUPPLY SERVICE:

At the Executive Committee meeting held in November, 1917, it was decided to purchase surgical dressing materials in large quantities, both because of a saving in price and the great difficulty in getting gauze at the time of the first Pershing drive. With this end in view, a supply department was organized, at 295 Walnut Street, Newtonville. Here we have a cutting table and machine to cut garments and gauze for any workroom in the City. For the use of the machine we are greatly indebted to the Newtonville Auxiliary Red Cross—Special Aid.

We have already cut 18,500 yards of gauze, over 1349 yards of flannellette and about 500 yards of cotton. We have also sold uncut material and knitting yarn in large quantities.

The Boston Chapter issues a monthly statement of the rank of each Branch in the Metropolitan Chapter. We are glad to say that Newton has always held the first place on that report and we trust that it will continue to do so.

SOME OF THOSE WHO HAVE HELPED:

It would be unfair to single out any names of officers or workers for special commendation, because all have worked so earnestly and enthusiastically for the common cause.

The thanks of the Branch are gratefully expressed to:

The Newton Club, for the use of rooms for headquarters.
Dr. and Mrs. Talbot, for the use of their house, 306 Walnut Street, Newtonville, for headquarters and work-rooms.

The Newton Associates, through Mr. Lewis Coffin, for the use of store in Associates Block, Newton.

Mr. Orr, for the use of store on Washington Street, Newtonville.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

The sensation of the week, if not of the entire session took place Monday in the House when a Democratic representative from Dorchester, offered a resolution censuring Senators Lodge and Weeks for their opposition to the administration at Washington. The fact that the House immediately substituted an amendment commending the attitude and course of our two senators in no uncertain language by a vote of 195 to 3, and then expunged the resolution of the Dorchester representative from the records shows how Democrats and Republicans alike feel towards the work of our able senators in Washington.

Late last week Governor McCall sent a special message urging immediate relief to the Boston Elevated Railway Co., whose financial condition is most precarious. The governor favors giving the Public Service Commission power to fix the rate of fare as the simplest way out of the difficulty, but the hearings held this week indicate that many interests, including the Elevated Company itself, are opposed to that plan. The most reasonable method, and one favored by the Company as well as the recent Street Railway Investigation Commission, is that generally known as the service at cost plan. This method is said to have worked very well indeed for several years in Cleveland and in general provides for a sliding scale of fares, so arranged that when one schedule does not pay the cost of operation the next higher schedule goes into effect automatically and also when a schedule yields a larger revenue, than expected, the next lower rate goes into effect. Adequate provision is made for public supervision, depreciation and the like, and it seems to be a workable proposition. The great objection to a straight increase in fares is that it will not remove the present objection to capital towards street railway investment, as there is no assurance for the future. On the other hand, the service at cost plan, covers an adequate return on the capital invested, and will go far towards renewing confidence in street railway securities.

An interesting hearing this week was on a bill to establish the status of the State Guard, for it now appears that in case of being called to actual service, the members of the Guard would have no legal standing as soldiers and would be personally liable for injuries inflicted on persons or property while in such service. The matter is complicated by the question of the expenses involved. Representative Allen of this city has been appointed House chairman of a special committee to investigate the fish industry in this Commonwealth, and especially the methods employed in the marketing of fish, the circumstances affecting the current abnormal prices, the rapid increase in the cost to the consumer, the cold storage of fish as affecting the price thereof, the conditions attending the receipt of fish at the fish pier in Boston and the methods employed in disposing of the same, and the relation of the wholesale to the retail price.

In an interview on this matter, Mr. Allen said: "The increasingly high price of fish is a matter of grave concern at this time. There is a widespread opinion that present prices are unwarranted by conditions and have been artificially raised. No sooner had word come from Washington to substitute fish for meat wherever possible and establishing two fish days a week, than the price of fish began to advance, and has now reached figures hitherto unknown.

"The fish industry is peculiarly a Massachusetts industry. We have no coal and iron deposits and our people expect to pay more for these products, but they have a right to expect that the fish caught off our coast shall be sold at a price within the reach of all. The supply of sugar may be fixed in Washington and beef in Chicago, and coal and iron in Pennsylvania, but the supply of fish is determined here. We do not need to send representatives to Washington to negotiate in relation to the price of cod or haddock.

"If the cost to the consumer has been artificially advanced, the group of men who have been profiteering in this great staple food should be brought to a realization that those who increase the heavy burden of the war upon our people by manipulating the cost of the necessities of life are giving aid to the enemy.

"If, on the other hand, the rise in prices is due to natural causes, then the Commonwealth should take action to provide that the source of our food supply in which our people depend shall be furnished at a reasonable cost.

"It is our problem, and the Legislature which is now voting a special appropriation of $200,000 to increase our agricultural output should not adjourn until it has taken the necessary steps to control conditions at the Fish Pier and relieve the situation. If the order which I have introduced is admitted by the Committee on rules, it will give the special committee to be appointed large powers to summon witnesses, administer oaths, employ counsel, and require the production of books and documents, and the Legislature, I believe, can do no greater service at this time than to direct an immediate and searching investigation of the abnormal situation which is causing hardship in our homes and growing distrust among the people."

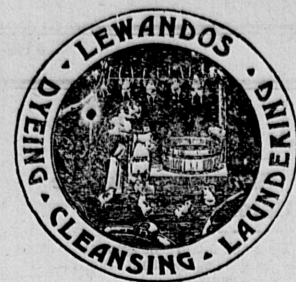

The bill for convention nominations of the state ticket below the office of Lieutenant governor has been passed to be enacted and will probably become law. It carries a referendum to the people at the next election.

The hearing before the Gas and Electric Light Commission on the request of the Newton & Watertown Gas Light Co. to increase the price of gas in this territory has been postponed until March 18.

COPLEY THEATRE—Four weeks of repertory begin at the Copley Theatre next Monday, when the Henry Jewett Players will act Bernard Shaw's comedy, "The Philanderer," for the first time in Boston. It is a typically brilliant Shaw play, interesting in plot and characters, and lively and amusing in its dialogue. It was written in 1898, and published in his "Plays Pleasant and Unpleasant," but it is rarely acted, and its presentation by the Henry Jewett Players will therefore be of no little importance. On March 18th "The Philanderer" will be followed by "Eccentric Lord Combermere," a farcical romance by R. C. Carton, the well known English playwright, for the first time in this country; the week of March 25th Israel Zangwill's drama, "The Melting Pot," will be given; and on April 1st, "The Cottage in the Air," by Edward Knoblauch, will receive its first presentation in Boston.

EDITORIAL

The passage of the annual budget in the record-breaking time of eight weeks from the beginning of the year and four weeks from the time it was first submitted by the mayor indicates that the members of the city government gave close attention to that matter, aided no doubt by the heatless or Garfieldized Mondays during February.

The budget is a new high water mark in its amount, due largely to the increased cost of labor and the high price of every form of material. The Finance committee has acted on the principle that only the most necessary work shall be done during the present year and has cut relentlessly into every item calling for new work of every kind and evidently intends that the city shall merely mark time, so far as appropriations are concerned.

The salary question, always a difficult matter is doubly complicated this year on account of the increased cost of living, the call of outside industries for all kinds of workers at much higher figures than paid by the city, and by the feeling on the part of the city government that it is unwise to materially increase salaries in the face of what may come after the war is over. This is particularly true in the cases of school teachers, and the police and firemen. In these three departments, we believe there should have been some increase granted. It is openly admitted that our school teachers are underpaid, that they are being induced to go to other places at higher salaries and that they are under rather higher living expense in Newton as compared with other municipalities. We take but little stock in the proposed scheme of establishing a maximum salary schedule for teachers, for we recall the strenuous efforts about ten years ago of the school superintendent at that time, to abandon the maximum schedule in favor of the so-called merit system. At that time he wanted and received quite a substantial addition to the budget to allow him to install the merit system, and now the school department needs another substantial sum to go back again to something like the old plan. However, the main issue is to give the teachers an adequate living wage, and we trust the school board will, to the extent of the increase granted by the aldermen, proceed to make as many increases as possible.

We fear the public does not realize the seriousness of the situation in the police and fire departments. It is almost impossible, today, to get men to enter this important service, the wages offered by so many industries are so much higher than the best men for the work will not apply. A higher wage, with the possibility of a pension after years of service might be an added inducement, but the present figures are beneath consideration by the kind of men we need. The younger men in these departments are also being called away by the draft leaving additional vacancies to be filled. In addition, the men already in the service should also be considered. They have given some years to the business of the city, have become experienced in the work required of them, and while other jobs may be attractive, they do not care to lose their present tenure of office. And yet the high cost of living probably affects men of this class far more severely than many others. Their salary represents probably 20 per cent less than it did five years ago, and they find it most difficult to provide for their families out of their present wages. It is true that an increase of $100 was granted last year, but that represents about a 7 per cent increase and can only palliate and not relieve the situation. It might be advisable, if it could be done legally, to pay some kind of bonus, rather than an increase of salary, and we would like to see this matter carefully considered as a possible remedy for a serious situation.

NEW DIPHTHERIA QUARTERS AT NEWTON HOSPITAL

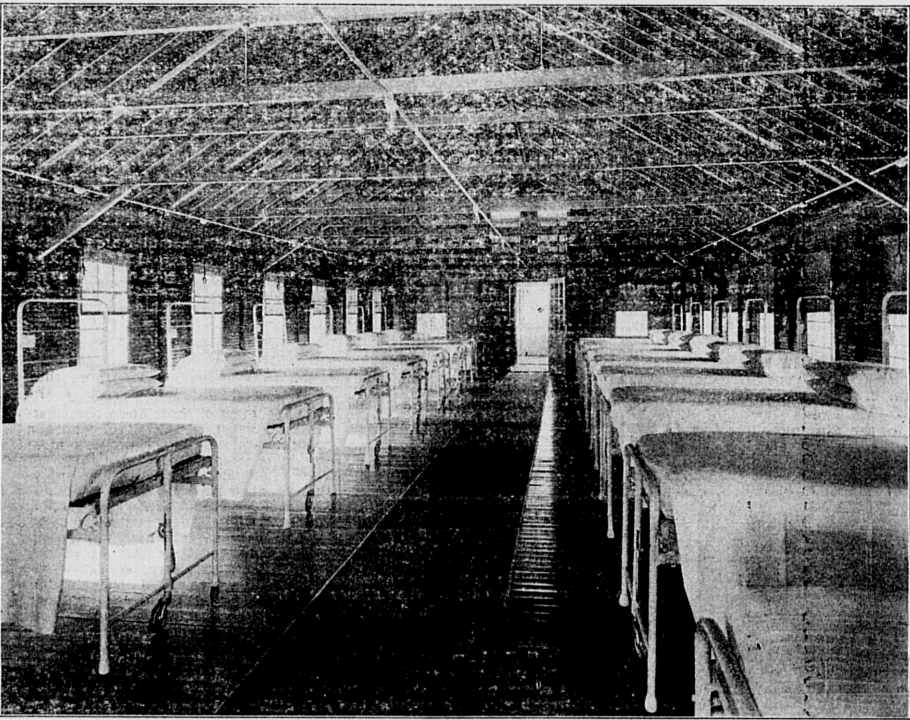

Exterior of New Building

The Newton Hospital, in response to requests from the Naval Hospital authorities, has provided additional accommodations for the care of diphtheria patients from that institution. Fourteen cases were recently received at the contagious ward, and with more expected, the trustees took prompt action. A portable house 54 feet in length, with accommodations for 16 beds, has been erected, adjoining and connected with the present diphtheria ward, and all the work of erection, steam fitting, etc., has been done within the past two weeks, so that the new building was ready Saturday to receive any patients. Dr. Curtis, chairman of the Newton

Board of Health, has taken precautions so that the interests of the city are fully protected. The additional accommodation provided by the Newton Hospital is greatly appreciated by the Commanding officer of the Naval Hospital, and this action of the trustees reflects credit upon the entire city.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

The Auburndale Review Club met for its regular meeting on the morning of March 5, at the home of Mrs. Richard O. Walter.

The morning's program was opened by a piano solo, "Fawns" by Chambliss, an English woman, who wrote of famous composers, and of Amy Fay of Louisiana, who wrote "Music Study in Germany" and gave interesting tales of her own experiences with her teachers, especially Tausig and Liszt.

Mrs. Leland played "Melodie" by Adele aus der Ohe, and Mrs. Legge sang "A Dream" by Ellen Wright, "Ashes of Roses" by Mary Knight Wood, and "Golden Slumbers" by Cecilia Pierce.

At the close of the program the club felt that even though women musicians and writers had not been very numerous their work had been well worth while.

Mrs. Davidson told some incidents of Jenny Lind from Anna, Comtesse de Brumont's work "Great Singers," and spoke of the work of Rosa Newmarch, an English woman, who wrote of famous composers, and of Amy Fay of Louisiana, who wrote "Music Study in Germany" and gave interesting tales of her own experiences with her teachers, especially Tausig and Liszt.

Mrs. Leland played "Melodie" by Adele aus der Ohe, and Mrs. Legge sang "A Dream" by Ellen Wright, "Ashes of Roses" by Mary Knight Wood, and "Golden Slumbers" by Cecilia Pierce.

At the close of the program the club felt that even though women musicians and writers had not been very numerous their work had been well worth while.

Mrs. Edward Legge sang a charming little love song by Marie Antoinette.

Other women musicians were mentioned, such as Ethel Barnes, Emily Meyer, Amelie Rive King and Helen Anderson, but at the head of the American list she placed Mrs. H. H. A. Beach who showed remarkable talent even at the age of two years, when in the midst of having a photograph taken she stood up and sang perfectly "See the Conquering Hero Comes."

She is not only a singer but a pianist and composer. Miss Margaret Ruthven Lang, a Boston pianist and composer was also mentioned.

Mrs. Leland then played "Sundown" by Helen Hopekirk and Mrs. Legge sang a "Hindu Slumber Song" by Margaret Ware and an "Irish Love Song" by Margaret Lang.

Mrs. Davidson's subject was "Women's Contributions to the Literature of Music" but she decided that such contributions were very meagre.

Anna Alice Chapin wrote of the troubadours, minstrels, meistersingers and other musicians, and Mrs. Davidson gave her interesting account of the writing of the Marseillaise in 1792, Rouget de Lisle, a young officer stationed at Strassburg. After dining with the mayor one evening he was offered the last bottle of wine in the house if he would write a song for the army. He accepted the payment, went to his room and spent the night in writing what has since become the national hymn of France. Mrs. Leland then played the Marseillaise.

THE TOBACCO FUND

Substantial additions were made to the Fund this week with one check for $25, and several for $5, all of which have been forwarded to the New York office.

THE DRAFT BOARD

Police headquarters has been a busy place on afternoons and evenings the past week, as the Local Examination Board has been making physical examinations of the 300 odd men in Class 1. Beginning last week Thursday, a quota of twenty an hour for six hours a day, except Sunday, have been coming before a score or more of doctors, who have freely given their services to this important work. Over 100 have been examined each day, with but one or two absolute rejections, from 49 to 48 being fully qualified each day, and the remainder being referred to a Medical Advisory Board, which is sitting on Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons at the Newton Hospital to pass upon doubtful cases.

The work was supposed to cease last night, but there are many stragglers and transfer cases, and it will well into next week before actual figures as to the result are available.

SAILORS' PARTY

Thirty boys from the U. S. S. "Rhode Island" were entertained over the past week-end in a variety of ways, in Newtonville, and spent a lively few minutes while waiting for the train Sunday evening in comparing notes as to who had the best time.

The Newtonville Hospitality Committee called at the Navy Yard Saturday afternoon and thanks to the generosity of a few interested friends, the boys were conveyed in automobiles directly to the Newton Club, where some of the members acted as hosts, and the afternoon was passed in the enjoyment of bowling, pool and billiards. About 6 o'clock they were sent "under convoy" to the homes of the following named hostesses: Mrs. Hubert G. Ripley, Mrs. Spencer Arend, Mrs. Charles Whittemore, Mrs. Eugene Rust, Mrs. Porter Dorr, Mrs. Walter Kelley, Mrs. Charles Simons, Mrs. Wallace C. Boyden, Mrs. William S. Osborne, Mrs. Fred Blanchard, Mrs. Frank G. Wilson, Mrs. Leland Powers, where they spent the night. After dinner the boys and most of their hosts and hostesses returned to the Club, where a goodly number of Newtonville's most attractive young girls joined them for a very jolly dance, and a most enjoyable evening was passed.

About 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, the boys went under "sailing orders" to their next party, which was an informal Sunday night supper at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. W. Lloyd Allen, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert G. Ripley, and Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Bankart, and according to the boys reports, it was hard for them to decide which group had the best time.

Among those who have not been able to entertain the boys at these monthly "sailor parties," arranged by the Newtonville Hospitality Committee, but who have contributed very generously to the fund, are: Mr. and Mrs. Warner Marshall, Mr. J. A. Stafford, Mrs. Albert E. Vose, Mrs. Shelton, Mrs. Fulton, Mr. W. B. Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ryder, Mrs. Geo. F. Schrafft, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Nagle, Mrs. Cheney L. Hatch, Mrs. G. Starkweather, Mrs. H. Belden Sly, Mrs. John Cornish, Mrs. Alexander D. Sallinger, Mrs. Edwin P. Crawe, Mrs. Henry A. Wheeler, Mrs. G. U. Bankart, Mrs. John W. Byers, Mrs. Francis G. Ingraham, Mrs. Calvert Cray, Mrs. D. Brewer Eddy, Miss Louise Sherman, Mr. Fred Rust, Mrs. Donald Rust, Mrs. Nelson H. Brown, Mrs. Louis S. Ross, Mrs. E. P. A pleasant feature of the dance was the excellent music furnished by Mrs. Helen W. Bowers' Brookline Assembly Orchestra.

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

An unsparing cut down in the use of wheat and a temporary letting up on the conservation of meat was the message brought from Washington this last week by J. W. Hallowell of the United States Food Administration. Use white flour only for binding purposes and for gravies was the advice of Mr. Hallowell in his talk before the monthly conference of chairman of local units of Council of National Defense at the State House on Monday. The new regulations in the use of meat have been necessary for a curious commercial reason. The abundant corn crop this past summer brought with it a large percentage of soft corn, which was good only for feeding the pigs, with the astonishing result of an average weight when they came to market of 232 pounds against the normal average of 203 pounds. Likewise the beef output has been larger, while transportation facilities, both railroads and shipping, as well as those of storage, have not been enlarged, so it happens that the meat may spoil if not used where it is. Consequently the Food Administration has removed the ban on mutton and lamb until April 15 and also on "porkless" Saturday and the "meatless" meal each day for the time being.

On the other hand, Mr. Hallowell stated that the wheat situation is even more critical than it has been. The present estimated supply is about 175 million bushels which would be our normal consumption until the new crop is available, and the Allies have asked for 100 million of it, so it is clearly a question in arithmetic, if the United States is going to do its part. And it cannot do it, unless the people do theirs. Are we going to fail? No, certainly not.

Local Happenings

At the last meeting of the Travel Class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club an appropriate and tender tribute was paid to the memory of Mrs. H. B. Gibbs, who will be greatly missed from the class and the club. It was voted to send a copy of the memorial to her husband as an expression of our deep sympathy.

Mrs. H. S. Wells presented a most interesting paper on "A Trip Across Siberia," which was followed appropriately by a full discussion of "The Exile System," by Mrs. Southwick. A day's outing was arranged for March 4, with a trip to the Morgan Memorial.

Mrs. Church and Mrs. Keefe were hostesses for the meeting which was held at the latter's home in Wellesley.

Miss Edith Margaret Small at the monthly meeting of the Newton Centre Woman's Club last week read charmingly of about 55 from authors to an interested audience, which included many of the public school teachers who were the special guests of the day. Stanton H. King of the Sailors' Haven gave a short appeal for the work he is doing for the sailors of our navy. An informal reception followed the meeting.

Miss Marion White of Bowdoin street was hostess for the meeting of the Shakespeare Club of Newton Highlands on Saturday afternoon. A subscription of about $5 from club members was received for the Salvation Army. The program of the afternoon was the reading of the third act of the Merchant of Venice. Mrs. F. H. Stratton was in charge of the quiz, presenting a careful study of the act read, particularly of the development of the different characters. Attention was especially called to Bassanio's description of Portia and to the fact that while he does describe her directly a most accurate picture of her is obtained by suggestion.

The annual open meeting of the Newton Mothers' Club on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Bingham of Prince street brought out a very large number of members and guests including many of the presidents of other local clubs, as well as the president of the State Federation. Prof. Albert Bushnell Hart's scholarly lecture upon "War as a Road to Peace" was thoroughly enjoyed as was evidenced by the discussion which came at its close. Prof. Hart did not give a very encouraging outlook, prophesying a deadlock on the Western Front and saying that the effort must be placed in the Balkans, where he believes the final settlement will come. The reflected many personal touches of his recent visit to Europe. A social hour concluded the program.

At this week's meeting of the Newton Highlands C. L. S. C. on Monday afternoon plans for next year's study were discussed. The work of the afternoon included a conclusion of the study of American Poetry by Miss Marion Dorr and a paper on "The Rise of American Drama" by Miss Adelaide R. Webster. Miss Anna Thompson of Hartford street was the hostess.

The meeting of the Monday Club of Newton Highlands on March 4 was held with Mrs. S. Arthur Thompson. Subject "Thoreau." Mrs. Susan Kerr gave a very comprehensive paper on Thoreau's life, as naturalist, philosopher, essayist, and as a man. It was followed with an appreciation of Thoreau as a man, comparing him with Emerson, Burroughs, Hawthorne and Jeffries, with a conviction that Thoreau, like many others, has not been fully understood. Although varying criticisms of his writings have been made, it has also been said that he wrote nothing that is not deserving of notice.

The Christian Era Study Club met March 4, with Mrs. Case. Mrs. Allen gave a paper on "The Swiss Alps in the 16th century, describing it as the playground of the world. Mrs. Dunton gave the story of the life of Melancthon, whose name should be coupled with that of Luther. John Calverton, the Father of Psalmody, was a contemporary of these, and Mrs. Clarke told of his labors to make Geneva the centre of all reforms of the church.

On Tuesday afternoon the members of the Newtonville Woman's Guild had a very profitable talk upon "War Gardens" by William N. Craig of Faulkner Farm. He gave the necessary things, how to plant, how to prepare the soil, what are the best seeds to buy, and many other practical things that will be a great help in the summer's campaign. Particularly did he advise not to omit the flowers, every giving a bit of cheer and inspiration amid the trying times which the summer will doubtless bring. Katherine Ridgway in a brief address on behalf of the Smileage Books made an inspiring plea for patriotic service. The afternoon closed with the singing of "America."

Auburndale Woman Scores Another Success

Auburndale seems to be unusually blessed with women of ability, energy and public spirit. Not that the other sections of the city are not also blessed with such women, but they seem to be content to rest upon their laurels with one fine affair during the season, and it matters not whether it is in the realm of dramatics, or art or music, whatever they attempt is accomplished with credit to all concerned. Last Friday night the concert by the chorus of the Auburndale Woman's Club for the benefit of the surgical dressings work of the club was no exception to the rule. The program was of high order, and the whole performance finished and artistic. Mrs. W. J. Spaulding, the director, Mrs. Lowell D. MacNutt, the accompanist, have put in a great amount of work, and the results left nothing to be desired. The chorus consists of twenty voices which blend remarkably well, and its work received hearty support from the audience.

In addition to the numbers by the full chorus there was a group of trios by Mrs. Edward Legge, Mrs. Lyman W. Gore and Mrs. W. J. Spaulding, as well as songs by Mr. W. J. Spaulding, and cello numbers by Miss Florence Colby of Boston. All the artists were enthusiastically received, and most gracious with their responses to the repeated encores. As nearly every available seat in Norumbega hall was occupied, the surgical dressings fund received substantial increase.

PASTEURIZED MILK IS THE IDEAL FOOD

State and national experts are marshaling forces for a great spring drive to promote the greater use of milk as a food by people generally, and especially by the poor who have greatly decreased its use since the price went up.

The United States Food Administration, through its experts, has just completed a study of the milk question, and now recommends a greater consumption of milk. Milk inspectors and other experts of Greater Boston will assist in this great campaign of education soon to be launched. These Greater Boston experts are a unit in declaring that pasteurized milk is the only safe milk—that in case of a contagious disease the source of milk the patient has drunk is the first thing considered. Often the disease is traced to germ-filled milk which would have been rendered perfectly harmless by pasteurization.

"Pasteurized milk is the only safe milk. I don't care how fine a herd of cattle you may have," says Dr. Arthur Hudson, milk inspector of Newton. "You may have a tubercular cow. Pasteurization is the only thing that will eliminate such danger. I think the process can be more efficiently and carefully done in large plants."

Dr. W. S. Walkley, milk inspector of Chelsea, says: "Pasteurized milk is considered the only safe milk. Even certified milk is not absolutely certain to be free from dangerous germs."

"Pasteurized milk is the only safe milk," declared Clarence Colby, milk inspector of Everett, "because the process has a tendency to destroy any disease germs. The first question, in case of a contagious disease, is the source of the milk, and often the disease is traced to the milk. If it is pasteurized, the tendency is to destroy the germ."

Maurice Dineen, milk inspector of Winchester, says: "Pasteurization is the only safe way of handling milk. You can get good pasteurized milk. I don't believe in all this stuff about patent foods. If a child can't have a mother's milk you can get good milk with which to feed the baby. Milk is fine and if the baby can't stand it, it can be modified to suit the delicate stomach. Get milk; it is the greatest food in the world."

"The only safe milk is milk pasteurized," declares W. E. Ward, milk inspector of Brookline. "If the milk is pasteurized for health purposes it is the safest milk—the ideal. The unfortunate thing is that half our American mothers cannot feed their babies in such foods, whereas the food value comes in milk either taken with the food or as a food basis."

In an article on "The Value of Milk as a Food," Dr. Herman M. Briggs, commissioner of the New York State Department of Health, says: "The value of milk as a food is not sufficiently recognized by most people, for if the value were recognized the objection to the rise in the cost of milk would not be made as frequently as it is now. Even though the product is bringing today from one-third to one-half more money than it formerly did, if the milk be good, it is still within value at its new price. Every family should purchase at least three quarts of milk before buying any meat."

RECITAL

On Tuesday afternoon in the Entertainment hall of the West Newton Unitarian Church, a large and enthusiastic audience assembled and enjoyed a rare musical treat, when Miss Bessie Talbot Salmon gave a recital of "Songs of Old France."

Miss Salmon is well known to Newton audiences and is wonderfully gifted in the art of entertaining and interpreting of the different characters in the French songs, up to the 18th Century, displayed her ability as a singer to great advantage. She possesses a beautiful soprano voice together with a charming and winsome personality and the effect was greatly strengthened by correct and artistic costuming.

The ladies were turned out in the hall during her singing and the picturesque scenery of the stage representing Sunny France with lilies arranged attractively on the platform, made a most effective setting for the artist, who appeared first in "Legendes Dorees." Episodes in the Life of Christ, wearing the flowing robes of that epoch, and the group of songs were received with enthusiasm, the novelty of them appealing to the audience. In the second group, "Old Songs from the Provinces, 15th Century," Miss Salmon appeared in the quaint garb of a Shepherdess, and the last group consisted of Songs of the Versailles Court 18th Century, and her costume was a gorgeous creation of that period.

The group contained lively and fascinating melodies which were greatly augmented by the delightful accompaniments by Mr. J. Angus Winter, the well known pianist of Boston, who assisted in the entertainment. A pleasing feature was the descriptive sketch of each song which was given by Miss Salmon.

Violin solos by the noted composers, Beethoven, Strube, Fritz Kreisler and others were exquisitely rendered by Mrs. Alfred B. Rich with piano accompaniments by Mrs. Robert M. P. Schlemm.

The recital was a great success and the audience showed its appreciation of the excellent program by frequent and liberal applause. It was given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Unitarian Church.

NEWTON CENTRE

The Newton Centre Red Cross was started in July, 1917, under the direction of Mrs. George Holmes. It met in two rooms of the Catholic Parish House. On September 11 the Red Cross House, 1288 Centre street, which had been loaned by Mr. Mellen Bray, was opened. The first floor is used for the sewing, knitting and Junior Department work, the second and third floors for surgical dressings. The house is open every day except Saturday and Sunday, and two evenings a week. The average attendance in January was 339 workers a week. On one evening each week the men meet for surgical dressings work, also a class of 12 Jamaican girls meet and work as a club.

The Junior Department meets on one afternoon each week with an average attendance of 50 children, who are doing the regular Junior Auxiliary work. There are some 300 knitters connected with the House, to whom wool is supplied free if so desired. Surgical dressings are made by the nurses of the Hospital Annex, Institution Avenue, and sewing is done by a group of 12 ladies in Oak Hill. Both of these auxiliaries are financed by the main Red Cross Auxiliary of Newton Centre.

The funds are cared for mainly by a group of men, greatly assisted by monthly subscription, generous contributions, and proceeds from entertainments.

In December Mrs. George A. Holmes was obliged to resign.

REAL ESTATE

John T. Burns & Sons, Inc., of Newton report the sale of 53 Lombard street, Newton, for Mr. P. Mulcahy to Louis C. Hangerford of Boston. The property consists of an 11-room stucco and frame residence with about 15,000 square feet of land, and is assessed for $11,500. This is the second transfer of this property this month through the Burns agency.

Agreements have been signed through John T. Burns & Sons, Inc., for the sale of 774 Watertown street, West Newton, to Capt. A. Rowe of Boston. G. W. Odell is the grantor. The house and 8437 square feet of land are valued at $6,500.

The 5-room bungalow with 6770 feet of land and situated at 107 Woodward street, Newton Highlands, near the Waban line, has been sold by Robert A. Johnson to H. V. Phillips, who purchases for a home. The property is valued at $4,850, of which $850 is on the land. John T. Burns & Sons, Inc., were brokers in all the above transactions.

MEANS MUCH TO BOSTON President Harriman, President of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, Convinced of the Importance of Utilizing New England's Chief Port

The decision of the government to make Boston an official port of export and in connection therewith to build on the reserve channel in South Boston one of the finest piers and warehouses in the world, means very much for the commercial future of Boston and all of New England.

It is, of course, desirable that Boston should receive its share of the war export business of the country. It has splendid natural facilities, is the logical port of export for all war goods made in New England, and is also a natural port of the New York Central Railroad west of Albany.

But even more important than the temporary war business are the permanent shipping facilities that will be established in Boston. To my mind, the most important result accruing to Boston because of the government work and the government use of the port will be the commercial habit that will be established of utilizing New England's chief port. Commerce is prone to follow in its accustomed channels, and had all of the government business been monopolized by New York and southern ports, the result would have been most disastrous to Boston's commercial future. I think we are indeed fortunate in securing the designation of Boston as an official port of export.

HENRY I. HARRIMAN,

President of Boston Chamber of Commerce.

NEWTON HIGH SCHOOL

Battery practice started in the gymnasium last Monday. Several candidates reported. The positions of catcher, shortstop, and two of the outfield positions are open. While Captain Sawyer will do most of the pitching, a second string pitcher is also needed.

The senior class has elected Walter Graham, Class Prophet.

A dance will be given in the gym at Newtonville Friday afternoon, March 15, at 2.30, for the benefit of the Red Cross.

The girls' basketball schedule for 1918 is as follows: Thursday, March 7, Milton Academy at Milton; Thursday, March 14, Miss May's School at Newton; Saturday, March 30, Miss Winsor's School at Newton, and Saturday, April 6, the Alumnae at Newton.

The hockey team has two more games to play, one with Melrose and one with Brookline. The championship of the Interscholastic league depends on the game with Brookline, which is to be played this evening at the Arena.

The topic for the boys' debating club last Monday was, "Resolved, That Massachusetts judges should be subject to recall." The verdict was a draw. Simonds, Seavey and Davenport were for the affirmative, and Martin, Donovan and Jewell for the negative.

The athletic committee has appointed Raymond Ford manager of the track team for 1919.

Tuesday morning the junior class held a meeting and voted to send flowers to the funeral of Malcolm Marshall of Newton Center, a member of the class who enlisted in the army and who died recently in Texas. A delegation was also appointed to attend the funeral.

Mr. Meserve has compiled a list of Newton High graduates who have entered the service. Although this is not complete it shows that out of 2900 in the service 100 hold commissions most of which were obtained at Plattsburg. There are 2 majors, 16 captains, 32 first lieutenants, and 35 second lieutenants in the army; and 1 captain, 2 lieutenants, 14 ensigns in the navy. Those who have won the cross of St. George are: Walter Lovell, '02, David Putnam, '16, W. A. Wellman, '14, Harold Willis, '08, Davis Ripley, '16, and David Douglas, '14. In addition to the above the following have left school since April to join the colors: John Clapp, Ambulance Corps; Sidney Bowen, Royal Flying Corps; James Kilton, radio operator; Marshall and George O'Brien, field artillery; Valente, Craigie Pierce and Bill Grey, navy; James Graham, Fred Howell, Carrington Stamford, Allen Wiley, Richardson and Allen Simonds, in the Naval Reserve.

The football schedule tangle in the Triangular league series has been straightened out. Brookline will entertain Newton at Tech Field, November 9, the contention that it was Newton's turn to visit Brookline having been sustained. In order to carry out the league's rules that each member shall have at least one home contest, Brookline has agreed to go to Cambridge again next fall, as 1917, but the date is not yet decided upon.

The Cambridge game with Newton will be played at Newtonville, November 22 instead of at Cambridge. The original Brookline-Cambridge league date was November 9, but owing to the fact that Newton was billed to Thanksgiving date with Boston College High it was necessary to shift the Newton-Brookline contest to that early date. Wellesley is no longer in the league.

HUNNEWELL CLUB

Some of the prominent men of Newton, members of the Hunnewell Club, made their "debut" in minstrelsy last week on Thursday evening, and entertained a large and enthusiastic audience at an impromptu show at the Club.

When the audience had assembled in Stanley Hall and was waiting patiently for the opening of the program, Mr. George Parker appeared on the platform and very solemnly announced that there would be no entertainment, and he was sorry to disappoint the audience, but they had been unable to procure the required talent and music.

He then requested any gentlemen in the audience who would volunteer their services, to please come forward, and Mr. Frank P. Scofield, Mr. Ralph Angier, and Mr. Hal Curtis responded with alacrity and stepped up on the platform, and immediately proceeded to transform themselves into real old South Carolina dandies, much to the edification of the audience, and their clever make-up was a work of art.

Mr. William F. Garcelon, as interlocutor, was a pronounced success and the amusing repartee and local jokes passed between him and his black-faced comedians, kept the audience in a continual state of merriment.

Mr. Curtis scored a great triumph in his parody on "Keep the Home Fires Burning," and Mr. Ralph Angier came in for an equal share of honors, when he sang, "I Thank You Mr. Hoover It's the Best Day of the Year," and both gentlemen were greeted with liberal applause. Mr. Angier also sang an original patriotic air and both were decided hits.

Among the many pleasing features of the show was the music by a quartet from the Knickerbocker Club.

"Over There" and other selections were sung with very pleasing effect and the singers entertained the audience with some very amusing stunts.

At the close of the show all joined in the chorusing of patriotic airs from leaflets which were printed for the occasion, and all voted the show a great success.

ENTERTAIN SAILORS

Sixty men from the U.S.S. Savannah, U.S.S. Rhode Island, and the Radio School, Cambridge, were entertained for the week-end in homes in Newton Highlands. An entertainment was given in St. Paul's Parish house, consisting of two plays, "I dermen subsequently withdrew his motion.

The real debate of the evening came on the item for salaries in the school department. Alderman Hapgood made an excellent speech favoring an increase of $2500 in the figures recommended by the Finance committee, to enable the school committee to establish a new scheme involving a maximum salary for teachers and which would add $20,000 to the salary budget each year for the next three years. Mr. Hapgood said it was a reasonable plan, just to the teachers and pupils. The present normal maximum, now about $800, would be increased to $950 for grade teachers, about $400 less than paid by Boston. The board ought to pay these teachers something commensurate with the service rendered. He told of girls leaving the seventh grade in the Mason school for work, paying them $21 a week, more than was being paid the teachers in the school, and asked what encouragement was there for teachers to continue in educational work. He believed that additional salaries were needed to insure the education of our children. With poorer teachers the morale of the school falls off, and there is an increase in juvenile crime.

The last report of the State Commissioner of Education showed that Newton was third from the bottom in the list of 36 cities in the amount per $1000 valuation paid for schools, and that our figure of $4.08 stood 289 in all the cities and towns in the state. He declared that this policy had made Newton a training ground for teachers for other places, who came and took them away whenever they wished. We owe, he said, a duty to the teachers, but we also owe a larger duty to the school system.

Alderman Allen showed by figures that the richest cities usually had the lowest tax rate, and the lowest amount per $1000 valuation for schools, and did not believe it was a safe comparison.

Alderman Clark sympathized with the teachers and said that if deemed desirable later in the year the whole matter could be reopened. Alderman Kendrick said that it was not fair to use the valuation figures as a basis, for on the per capita method, Newton stood in the third highest, Springfield having $8.20, Newton $8.06, and Boston $7.97. The plan of the school committee had merit, but it ought not to be put into effect at this time.

Alderman Angier admitted that teachers were underpaid as compared with commercial pursuits, but the committee did not care to guarantee an increase of $67,000 in salaries, in the next three years, in addition to the $25,000 allowed last year, and which would make, he said, an increase of 28 per cent. in salaries in four years. The amount suggested by the committee would enable the school board to carry out about 90 per cent. of their plan, and the present schedule showed that the board was fairly near the proposed maximum at the present time, grade teachers having an average of $884, as against a proposed maximum of $950, and kindergarten teachers an average of $744 as against that of $750. With the inability to foresee the future he did not believe it wise to commit the city to any such large amount. The committee, he said, had cut out of the equipment item such things as $4000 for desks, $600 for steel lockers, and $700 for business appliances, and he commended the attitude of Superintendent Wheeler in his conferences with the committee.

Alderman Cole sympathized with the teachers, but as trustees for the taxpayers the board ought not to commit the city to heavy burdens in the future. He favored some salary increases this year, and hoped the school board would carry out their plan in a modified way.

Alderman Hapgood said that the ordinary laborer was being paid at the rate of $900 a year, more than the teacher received, and deemed it a mistake to embarrass the school board in this matter.

Alderman Whidden said the board would not commit the city and that the board should carry out the school committee the full amount. Alderman Hapgood's motion was then defeated, and he returned to the fray with a motion to consolidate the school department items so as to give the school board more latitude in handling its funds, saying that it had been the custom of the board in the past to have the appropriation to the school board voted on otherwise.

After receiving the approval of the mayor for this change, it was opposed by Alderman Angier who thought it was a move to use money intended for equipment to increase salaries, and seemed to be an admission by the school board that further cuts could have been made in the figures of the school board, he said, had had since last October, and he could see no reason now for making such a change. Alderman Cole said the Finance committee had been working towards a greater segregation of items rather than towards consolidation, and as this was the largest department in the city it was unwise to establish such a policy.

Allen also thought it would be an unwise precedent, and Alderman Blake said that the modern tendencies were toward more elaborate specification. The motion was then defeated and the budget as recommended by the Finance committee was then passed unanimously.

The board adjourned at 10.55 after expressing its appreciation of the work of the Finance committee on this important matter.

un Parle Français," by members of the Newton Highlands Woman's Club, and "The Bewitched Broomstick," with Mrs. Graham, Mr. Coan and Mr. Logan in the cast. A group of songs was sung charmingly by Mrs. Fuller, and Edwin Lockery also sang. On Sunday the men were gathered in groups of ten for supper in the homes of Mr. Arthur Williams, Rev. George T. Smart, Mr. Almon Fairbanks, and Mr. Wallace Leonard. Several young ladies were also invited and helped in the entertaining. The men left on the 9.15 train.

SARAH HULL CHAPTER, D.R.

Who once against a king's unjust decree
Stood side by side, their manhood to defend,
Claimed no distinction or high place demand.

We are just women! set apart no more
By ancestry, or blood or famous deed,
We only ask to work. Our pride to show.

Our loyalty, in this our country's need,
Soldiers of peace: the Red Cross volunteers,
We fight the unseen foes of want and pain,
Cold and disease, the wounds of tortured men.

Bringing them hope and life and health again.

Daughters of Sarah Hull! What memories
Of love and service round her name entwined!

The torch of Liberty she helped uphold—
We too lift up, that far its beams may shine.

Perhaps some of our dearest face the horde,
That overruns the world, and vaunts its might,
And in disdain of law of God or man,
Does its foul auctions in the name of Right.

If those dear lives must be the heavy price
That must be paid to set their brothers free,
How holy in God's sight those souls laid down!

That other men may compass Liberty.
We are but women, but we pledge our land,
All that we have of labor, love and prayer!

Strong in our weakness, faithful to the part,
Valiant in soul though tempted to despair,
Some gleam from our small lamp may light the way,

Our strength give vigor to some fainting soul;
For Right shall reign again and Peace be ours.

And we do grant it help to win that goal.

To promote food conservation, classes in economical cooking were organized by the food committee. 13 Canning classes for women and 7 Canning classes for children were organized. School houses were fitted up with cooking equipment for this work. To insure against a shortage of glass jars 1800 dozen were bought and sold at cost.

Visiting Committees to help special groups of men in the service have been formed. Food, games, books and other necessities have been furnished to these men.

A census was made of three hundred and fifty automobiles and auto trucks available in case of emergency. Arrangements have been made for treating dependents of men in the service free of charge by Newton physicians, and a special rate for treatment at the Newton Hospital has been obtained.

In co-operation with the State Soldier's and Sailor's Information Bureau the Committee is keeping a record of all Newton men in the service. When the weather permits the Secretary makes weekly trips to Camp Devens, Ayer, to look out for the welfare of the Newton men there. The Committee provides, through the Secretary, for the transportation of baggage and other articles to Newton men at Camp Devens.

The Committee office furnished headquarters for meetings of organizations for patriotic work. The Committee has co-operated with the Liberty Loan Committee of Newton in pushing meetings and otherwise assisted.

According to the Treasurer's report there have been expended in connection with these various activities the following sums:

A detailed report of all the activities of the Committee is now being prepared and will be sent upon request.

It is said that no men in the service are better provided for than our own Newton men. The need for sweaters, woolen socks, and other such articles will be greater next winter, and the committee must continue to keep in personal touch with our own soldiers.

President Wilson tells us that the critical period of the war is at hand and that food will win the war. Massachusetts produces not over one-quarter of the food it consumes. After a year's experience and organization your Committee through its food committee can again greatly increase the production of food here. Personal supervision and practical help will teach our citizens what, when and how to plant, protect, cultivate, reap and preserve, and the great importance of conscientiously doing our full share in saving for Europe.

THE FOOD THAT WILL WIN THE WAR.

MAJESTIC THEATRE—The appearance here of Jack Norworth's Chummy Musical Revue, "Odds and Ends of 1917" at the Majestic Theatre, Boston, next week, beginning Monday, March 11th constitutes one of the most interesting and important events of the current theatrical season. If report speaks truly, originality permeates this unique entertainment from the rise to the final fall of the curtain, "Odds and Ends" is not merely a series of Parodies of current theatrical successes but rather a satirical travesty of the events of the day. Moreover the company which interprets it is one of unusual strength, containing as it does, not only one but three stars, the exorcising Harry Watson, Jr., for many years chief fun maker of Ziegfeld's "Follies"; Lillian Lorraine, whose beauty and cleverness have gained for her a place in the very front rank of American actresses, and Jack Norworth whose quiet style and faultless enunciation have made him the favorite of two continents.

PASTOR DEAD

Rev. Harrie R. Chamberlin, pastor of Immanuel Baptist Church at Newton for the past eight years, died Tuesday at the Newton Hospital after an illness of about two months.

He was a native of Ashtabula, O., where he was born August 7, 1879, and came with his parents to Boston in 1892. He was graduated from the Boston Latin School in 1897, winning the Franklin medal. In 1901 he received the degrees of A.B. and A.M. from Harvard, with special honors in philosophy.

After his graduation from the Rochester Theological Seminary, he was ordained in the Lake Avenue Baptist Church, Rochester, N. Y., May 11, 1904, and became at once assistant pastor of the church under Rev. Clarence A. Barbour, D.D. From 1907 to 1909 he was pastor of the First Baptist Church of Morgantown, W. Va., the seat of the State University. He came to the Newton Church in December, 1909. June 29, 1910, he married Miss Elizabeth A. Lamson of Toledo, O.

Mr. Chamberlin was active not only in his own denomination, but in all forms of united Christian activity. He was president of the Massachusetts Christian Endeavor Union in 1912-13 and was a leader in the Newton Christian Forum. He was a member of the Twentieth Century Club.

Mr. Chamberlin is survived by a widow, his father and mother, Rev. and Mrs. Carey W. Chamberlin of Beverly, and a brother, Lieut. Cary J. Chamberlin.

NEWTON CORNER DRIVE

Making Good Progress, But Many More Contributions Needed

The Y. M. C. A. hall was crowded Monday evening at the rally held to launch the drive for funds for the various war work organizations. Mr. Oliver M. Fisher, chairman of the committee, presided. Mayor Edwin O. Childs made an appeal to the patriotism of the people of this section for funds to carry on the work.

Dr. Eugene A. Crockett, a former resident of West Newton, and who has recently returned from a trip to Albania and Serbia, and Rev. D. Brewer Eddy of Newtonville were the principal speakers.

Dr. Crockett took occasion to nail some of the rumors which still persist in maligning the activities of the Red Cross, saying that the organization had suffered from a certain amount of jealousy because it had taken over the work of other organizations engaged in war activities. This, he added, was not a bit of aggrandizement on its part, but at the direct request of the foreign governments which have a justified feeling against all unaccredited workers, and this is the sole reason why the American Red Cross has taken over all this work for the foreign governments.

"Serbia represents what the Germans desire, more than any other country. Out of a population of five and a half millions of peace-loving people before the war, only 500,000 Serbians remain today in that country among whom there is not to be found a single united family. In spite of that the Serbian nation has not lost its nerve but is hopeful of a larger and happier Serbia after the conclusion of the war. The Serbian army, of which not 20,000 of the original members remain today, dealt the Germans their greatest reverse of the war and during their last strong resistance to the combined German and Austrian armies, almost entirely at the point of the bayonet, lost 120,000 men, both armies giving up battle through sheer exhaustion. The army has since been recruited up to 100,000, mainly from captive Austrians who promptly discarded the Austrian for the Serbian uniform. Austria today holds under subjection at least a third of her army who are friendly to Serbia, and if the opportunity comes whole regiments will surrender to the Serbians. It is a Mediaeval country, yet the 10 per cent of its population that is educated is even more so than the educated of our own country.

"In Serbia you see how Germany wages war and what it intends to do in Poland and Russia when it gets the upper hand. Here the Germans took all the livestock, every bit of metal obtainable, tools and implements, in fact everything that would be either of use to themselves or to the Serbians after the war. A systematic devastation of no particular military use than to make the country uninhabitable. While the Germans will not waste any particular amount of ammunition elsewhere they will waste a 6-inch shell readily on a Serbian peasant working in the fields trying to till his land.

"The people of Europe have all seen this thing coming and we should have seen it too. There, if a generation passed by without war they simply thanked the Lord for it and fully expected that the next generation would experience it. In Serbia, France, Italy or England if I should talk to an audience like this nearly every man would be in uniform. When I came back home I was struck by the absence rather than the presence of uniformed men. Every man in France wears some sort of a uniform in connection with government work.

"The spirit of all the nations at war is about as fine as it can be and German propaganda is responsible for the stories of the low morale of the troops and other canards. The Italians after months of fighting amid snows, I found as enthusiastic as could be in spite of exhaustion. The French troops who were sent to their rescue in Italy were full of pep and

MORE WORKERS WANTED

Opportunities For Every Woman in Newton To Do Something

The Newton Branch of the Red Cross has 17,000 members. The Newton Junior Red Cross has 7000 members. There are therefore today in Newton, with a population of about 40,000, 24,000 who are directly connected with the Red Cross. Newton has raised thousands of dollars for the carrying on of the work of its war societies, the Red Cross Auxiliaries and the Affiliated Societies. These societies are turning out an amount of work that has kept Newton at the top in the list of cities and towns under the jurisdiction of the Metropolitan Chapter of the Red Cross. As one result of the work of these societies Newton is getting together as it never has done before and in every one of its villages there is a marked growth in community spirit and pride.

At Newtonville the Newton Branch of the Red Cross has established centres for supplies and cutting where any war society in the city may buy its supplies and have its cutting done for it. The Newton Branch is carrying on classes in first aid, home nursing and the training of women to act as monitors and inspectors of surgical dressings makers' groups. Talbot House, the headquarters of the Newton Branch, is a place where the officers of the Branch always are ready to give help or information to any one interested in war work. The officers of the Branch are doing every thing they can to help war society no matter under what name it exists. Their chief and only object is to do all they can to help along any work done in Newton for the men who are at the front, in camps or on battle ships. In civilian relief work, which is growing and bound to grow still more, they are working in harmony with the Newton Committee of Safety. Every effort is being made to make every dollar and every bit of work done count for all it can.

These things are all pleasant things to know and yet there is still more to be done. As Mr. Kelsey, the chairman of the Newton Branch, said at the annual meeting, the Red Cross button in Newton should not be an insignia of membership, merely, but the badge of one giving actual service. The Red Cross button ought to mean that the wearer of it is either a giver of money to carry on work or a worker. There is a need for more workers. There is

COSTUME PARTY

Enjoyable Affair Given Yesterday at the Newton Club

The Annual Costume party on Thursday afternoon, which Miss Edith Thomas of West Newton gave for her classes in dancing in the ballroom at the Newton Club was decidedly the biggest social event of the season for the young people.

There were about 75 present, all in costume, the attractive and grotesque regalia combining a very pretty showing. The party was the happy climax of the dancing classes for the season. Promptly at quarter past two Miss Mower the pianist struck up a lively selection and the young people marched in, led by Donald Rust in the Oriental garb of a Chinaman, and pretty little Virginia Brown representing a Fairy Queen, in a bewitching costume of pink chiffon with gold spangles, a gold crown on her head and golden slippers on her feet, and gauzy wings edged with gold on each shoulder.

There was an endless variety of costumes representing Indians, clowns, Chinamen, ghosts, peasants, gypsies, sailors, soldiers and Little Red Riding hood and a number of Pierrot representations in all the combinations of black and white.

The favors were little Japanese umbrellas. Miss Thomas conducted the dance, gowning most effectively in a becoming costume of green and carrying a huge bouquet of violets. She was assisted by Miss Ruth Pierce in a quaint costume of yellow silk with black satin bodice and apron.

The children presented a very pretty sight every color in the rainbow and quite as many materials being used in fashioning the endless variety of costumes, and the graceful little dancers reflected a great deal of credit on themselves, and their teacher.

The latter part of the afternoon was much enlivened by the members of the advanced class who joined in the dancing.

During the intermission refreshments were served downstairs in the dining hall. It was the largest and most successful party of the season and the hall was filled with interested spectators, friends and relatives of the young people.

Miss Thomas will re-open her classes at the Club, in the early Autumn.

APPRECIATED

Dr. Hartwell Commends the Work of the Newton Fire Department

Chief W. B. Randlett of the Newton Fire Department has received the following letter of appreciation.

My dear Chief: I want to tell you how grateful I am to you and your men, for what you all did for us on the night of our fire on the 22nd of February last. Your men responded with such despatch that they met us as we came out, and at once asked if anyone was left inside. You had an uphill fight against a fire which was rapidly spreading through an old frame house with the weather near the zero mark, but you won out with all the odds against you and saved the house.

In going over the rooms since the fire, I have seen many evidences of the care you took to preserve the contents. One of the most gratifying things to me was the saving of all my books. I found all the heavy cases, which stood right in the midst of the flame, moved to a place of safety, so that the books were absolutely unharmed. The same story can be told of pictures, china, and glass.

I keenly regret that one of your old and tried Captains should have been so painfully injured, while engaged in this hazardous work, and I sincerely hope he will rapidly recover without permanent impairment of his health and strength.

With great admiration for the efficiency of your department, and, with the deepest gratitude to you for your splendid fight, believe me,

Faithfully yours,

HARRY F. HARTWELL.

On account of increase in business at his Newtonville office, Mr. Cozens, Sr., has decided to devote more of his time at that office and has made arrangements to have office hours there every morning from nine to eleven o'clock. The office will still remain in charge of the Newtonville representative, Mr. Frank H. Pratt.

NEWTON HIGH SCHOOL

The senior class has voted to dedicate this year's number of the Newtonian to Miss Capron of the chemistry department.

High and grammar school students may obtain season tickets for all home and baseball games from the manager at $75. The price for all others is $1.50.

The farm camps for Newton boys at Walpole and Weston will open June 1 instead of May 1, as many of the camps in other parts of the state are doing. To obtain an honorable discharge and a badge a boy must work satisfactorily at least six weeks. Mr. Meserve is the enrolling officer for Newton High, and many boys have already signified their intention of enlisting. Dr. Martin will be in charge of the camp at Weston. The wages to be paid are $2 and board, or its equivalent the first week, $4 and board the second week, and from then on as much as the employer thinks the boy is worth.

Mr. Adams has received a letter from the Harvard Regimental Band stating that boys who can play a band instrument, especially the trombone, are greatly desired. The work will not take any time during school hours and boys who are accepted will have six weeks in some military camp during the summer, where they will receive military training and where they will have an opportunity to earn extra money whenever the band has any outside engagement.

The name of the senior play is "The Derby and the Girl." The teachers of the Classical High School have volunteered their services in assisting the local draft board in the preparation for the second draft. Illness has kept Mr. Davis of the Latin department away from school during the past week, but he is expected to return Monday.

Friday evening at the Arena Newton easily beat Brookline 2 to 1, winning the championship of the interscholastic league. The game was not without its thrills, however. Between the halves a near riot was precipitated when a Newton boy grabbed a Brookline banner and got over to the Newton side before a mob of Brookline boys started in pursuit. A regular battle followed, during which chairs and fists flew promiscuously. Apparently no one was hurt, and after a riot call had been sent in and the time's bell rung several times the crowd finally quieted down. Scott got the first goal in the first half after about ten minutes of play, and Eaton scored the second one in the second half. Newton outplayed Brookline in every stage of the game.

ENDS SEASON WITH VICTORY

Monday at the Arena, Newton ran into some stiff opposition in the shape of Melrose, but after ten minutes' overtime won 3 to 2. Eaton started off good by scoring two goals in seven minutes of play, but Melrose soon evened it up. Davidson scored the winning point after eight minutes of overtime.

NEWTON HIGH SCHOOL

Two members of the hockey team will enter Dartmouth next fall and should be good acquisitions to the freshmen seven next winter. They are Austin Eaton, the rover, and George Scott, the center, who rank with the best schoolboy players in the state.

Allen Davidson, the crack right wing, is to enter Harvard in the fall, while Leon Thomas, the other wing player, has signified his intention of entering M.I.T. Henry Garrity, the forward, has decided to enter Princeton, and with his football, baseball track and hockey experience, should prove a valuable athlete for the Tiger teams.

George Owen, the point, and choice for that position on the Globe's All-Interscholastic team, and Walter Thomas, the goal tend, are both expected to return to Newton High. The former will probably be chosen captain for 1919, having been on the team for the past two years.

BABY CHRISTENED

Copied from a Hertfordshire, Eng., paper.—Ashley Green.

"An interesting service was held in the parish church on Saturday last when the infant daughter of Major and Mrs. Norman (Julia) daughter of Thomas Barton was christened. The service was conducted by Col. J. Parry-Evans, C.M.G., Assistant Chaplain-General, British expeditionary force, France. Among the congregation were Lady Truman, General and Lady Hadden, Sir Charles and Lady McLeod, Mrs. Lunt and Miss Miller. Mrs. Bischoff, a sister of Mrs. McLeod's, was godmother, and represented the godfather, Brigadier-General Sandilands, C.M.G., D.S.O., who commanded the Battalion, Queen's Own Cameron Highlanders, while Major McLeod served in that battalion at the front in France. The baby, who was named Juliet, wore a long robe of India mull and old Valenciennes lace, and her cap of lace and embroidery was one worn by her great-great-grandmother on a similar occasion."

MILITARY FUNERAL

More than 500 persons on Sunday afternoon attended the military funeral of Malcolm B. Marsh, a former Newton high school student, who died recently at Fort Bliss, Tex., at the First Congregational Church in Newton Centre. Mayor Childs and other city officials and 50 former classmates of the deceased were present.

The body, draped with the service, lay in a casket during the American flag. The Rev. J. E. Wagner, pastor of the Newton Centre Methodist Episcopal Church, gave the invocation. The Rev. Edward T. Sullivan of Trinity Episcopal Church, offered prayer, and the congregation joined in the singing of hymns. The eight bearers were former classmates.

At the grave in the Forest Hills Cemetery eight men from Company A, 11th regiment, State Guard, in charge of Sgt. Wm. F. Carleton, fired volleys and Bugler Albert H. McCauslan sounded taps.

A BADGE OF HONOR

A Liberty Loan button is a badge of honor. Rightfully obtained it marks the wearer as one who has performed a distinct, definite service to the country.

Not all can fight, not all can work directly for the government; but in buying a Liberty Loan bond, or War Savings Stamps, every American renders some service to the nation. It has been put within the reach and power of every citizen to aid the United States financially; it is a poor American who withholds support from the government, from our soldiers and sailors fighting death on battlefields and oceans.

Irish crosses to German soldiers, and diamond orders exchanged between Turkish and German sovereigns may be but the honors of atrocity. But a Liberty Loan button, simple as it is, signifies a patriotic duty done and is an insignia of honor.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Mabel Louise Jackson of Weston, only daughter of Mrs. Harriet G. (Sanderson) Jackson, to Howard P. Young of Boston and West Newton, and now of Training Company No. 2 at Camp Johnston, Jacksonville, Fla.

Miss Jackson is an accomplished musician and is a graduate of the Faelten Pianoforte Conservatory, class of 1915. Until recently she has been a teacher in Auburndale and in Waltham.

Mr. Young is the elder son of Mrs. Lillian Frances Young and the late William Ellsworth Young of West Newton.

Both Miss Jackson and Mr. Young have been prominent in the social and other activities of the Second Church (Congregational) in West Newton, of the Newton Amateur Opera Company. Because of Mr. Young's present course in training, with difficulty of obtaining a furlough, no definite arrangements have been made for the wedding.

Swift & Company Publicity

At a recent hearing of the Federal Trade Commission there was introduced correspondence taken from the private files of Swift & Company, which showed that the Company had been considering for some time an educational advertising campaign.

The need for this publicity has been apparent to us for several years. The gross misrepresentation to which we have recently been subjected has convinced us that we should no longer delay in putting before the public the basic facts of our business, relying on the fair-mindedness of the American people.

The feeling against the American packer is based largely on the belief that the income and well-being of the producer and consumer are adversely affected by the packers' operations, resulting in unreasonably large profits.

Swift & Company's net profit is reasonable, and represents an insignificant factor in the cost of living.

For the fiscal year 1917 the total sales and net profit of Swift & Company were as follows:

Sales $875,000,000.
Profits $34,650,000.

This is equivalent to a $3,465. profit on a business of $87,500.

If Swift & Company had made no profit at all, the cattle raiser would have received only one-eighth of a cent per pound more for his cattle, or the consumer would have saved only one-quarter of a cent per pound on dressed beef.

BRAE BURN CLUB

Saturday evening was the biggest night of the season at Brae Burn, a very gay and brilliant gathering of Newton, Boston and Brookline society being in evidence at this attractive clubhouse. Successful far beyond expectation was the dance which was given for the benefit of all Newton War Relief Work, and nearly 600 enjoyed the affair, which proved to be quite the smartest social event of the season. The clubhouse a blaze of electric lights, told of the gaiety within, and the dance was prefaced by a number of dinner parties in the dining hall.

Everyone was in gala attire, the costumes of the ladies outdoing all previous occasions, and there were a number of young naval officers from the U.S.S. Savannah, and military men from Camp Devens, who were invited for the evening. The officers were in dress attire and looked very trim in their uniforms, and the somber khaki made a decided contrast with the handsome gowns of the women. Music was furnished by Hoppe's Orchestra, and the Harvard Freshmen Orchestra and the entire lower floor of the clubhouse was converted into a ballroom for the occasion.

Among those who entertained at dinner before the dance were Mr. and Mrs. Augustus T. Beatty, Mr. and Mrs. William L. Flanders, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ray Speare, Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Morse, Miss Friend, Mr. and Mrs. Francis E. Stanley, Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Ayer, Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Hallett, Mr. and Mrs. Prescott Warren, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Judson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Hopewell, Gen. James Gardner White and Mrs. White, Mrs. George E. Peters, and Mrs. William H. Lucas.

Mrs. William A. Young entertained at luncheon on Tuesday at the club.

BABY ABANDONED

A male baby about six months old was found Saturday in the electric car shelter on Washington street, Newton, a short way from the Newton Hospital.

The infant was carefully wrapped in a blanket and a hot water bottle lay beside him. Charles Duffy, an attendant at the Newton Hospital, on his way home noticed that the light which usually burns in the shelter was extinguished. He went into the waiting room to fix the light. In the corner he noticed a bundle of clothing. Upon investigation he found the infant fast asleep. Duffy took the baby to the hospital where the boy was placed in charge of the nurses.

Physicians at the hospital believe that the baby was left in the shelter several hours before it was found, owing to the fact that the water in the bottle was cold. The infant, which was dressed in clothing of good quality, was of dark complexion and had large brown eyes. Physicians said the infant was well nourished and apparently had been well cared for. Hospital authorities notified the police and efforts are now being made to find the parents of the child. The baby will be cared for at the hospital.

The Rev. T. Craig Stewart, rector of St. Luke's Church, Evanston, tells a beautiful little story: A small boy and his father were out together after nightfall. On the western horizon the evening star shone with brilliancy that dimmed the lesser lights. "Look, daddy," said the boy, "God has hung out His service flag. He must have a Son in the war." And since that Son gained His victory over the autocracy of Rome and His allied powers of darkness on the battlefield of Calvary, no war has been waged for righteousness and freedom in which He has not been the comrade of all heroic souls.—Chicago Evening Post.

With the raising of substantial funds in many of the districts of the city for financing the war work now being done by the ladies, there now comes a most urgent call for more help. Ladies who are not now doing something in this line—and there are still a few—are earnestly requested to get in touch with their village organization at once.

The call for more funds for the work of the Newton Committee on Public Safety should receive a liberal response. This committee has done a most valuable work and is now efficiently organized for any task which may fall to its lot in the future.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

Bills to remedy the Boston Elevated troubles which were originally divided between the Street Railway Committee and that for Metropolitan Affairs, have now been sent to these committees sitting jointly, and hearings were begun Wednesday and are now in progress. There are three plans suggested, one for a straight six-cent fare, the extra penny, after paying for subway and tunnel rentals, is to be used as a sinking fund for future subways. Another bill submitted by the Public Service Commission places the Company in control of publicly appointed trustees, in place of the present directors. It allows the trustees to raise the fare to 6 cents, when, and for as long a period as they deem necessary. 16 per cent of the revenue on a 5 cent fare is to be used for maintenance and repairs, the stockholders are guaranteed a 5 per cent dividend for 2 years and 5 1/2 per cent thereafter, and in case the 5 cent fare is not sufficient, the deficit is to be paid by the state and assessed as a state tax to the municipalities served by the company. When 6 cents is charged the extra cent must be used for depreciation and rehabilitation purposes. The Cambridge subway is to be bought by the state and the money can be used for Company purposes, approved by the Public Service Commission.

There are also several forms of service-at-cost bills under consideration, calling for a rate of fare dependent upon the revenues of the Company, after 6 per cent dividends and operating expenses have been paid. The hearings attracted considerable public attention. Much time was lost by questions asked of Mr. Eastman of the Public Service Commission, on matters affecting the Bay State road and similar outside affairs. Members of the committee asked questions on matters several years old with the evident purpose of throwing responsibility upon the Commission for neglecting the conditions which have existed heretofore. Half the members of the Committee at one time, were busily engaged in reading the House Calendar for the day instead of following what Mr. Eastman was saying. Such incidents do not promise a very thoughtful consideration of such an important situation as the road is now in. The Company is now operating at a distinct loss, and, in addition faces about a million and a half extra expense the present year due to wages, coal and the Dorchester tunnel. It must have revenue at once, or go into the hands of a receiver. With cars, tracks and equipment rapidly deteriorating and with acute financial troubles, the Elevated management should have the active cooperation of everyone who realizes the importance of the service rendered the million and a half people of Greater Boston.

Another matter of interest heard this week was on a bill for a rate of $5 or $10 for automobiles as a war tax.

The Boston Harvard Club's "Tin Wedding."

The Club's anniversary to be the occasion of a celebration in honor of the Harvard men now in the war; those who celebrate—those who are honored; and the martial feature of the event.

Ireland's probable state with the passing of the great leader, and the rise of the new men—one of them the most striking figure of the Commons—the other, "a miniature Lloyd George."

measure. It is expected to raise $1,514,000 in this way. There was vigorous opposition and the injustice of such class legislation was pointed out. The committee, however, will favorably report the bill in some form or other.

A favorable report has been made on the bill to allow Sunday afternoon sports for soldiers, and sailors during the war. This measure has been opposed by the Sabbatharian and may not pass.

Governor McCall has vetoed the bill to allow certain officers on the state ticket to be renominated by convention instead of by a direct primary, action on the veto to be taken next Monday.

The mortality among Gov. McCall's appointees to office has been most striking of late, including as it does, Judge Shattuck, Judge Burr and Mr. Chas. E. Burbank, the Supervisor of Administration, but it was probably not dampened the ardor of the average office seeker.

By order of the Commissioner of Education, Payson Smith, a vote of the school children of Massachusetts will be taken to ascertain their choice for a state flower. The canvass must be completed by March 22 and the returns are to be in Mr. Smith's office a week later.

This action has been taken by request of the Legislative Committee on Agriculture, which has had before it several bills aiming to designate a state flower. The committee appealed on a 5 cent fare is to be used for maintenance and repairs, the stockholders are guaranteed a 5 per cent dividend for 2 years and 5 1/2 per cent thereafter, and in case the 5 cent fare is not sufficient, the deficit is to be paid by the state and assessed as a state tax to the municipalities served by the company. CONGRESSMAN CARTER TO RETIRE

Cong. William H. Carter announced yesterday that he will not be a candidate for re-election this fall and that he will retire from Congress at the expiration of his term next March.

Congressman Carter intends to return to his business which he could not give the necessary consideration owing to his congressional duties.

Today he issued the following statement: "For the past few weeks my friends have been urging me to announce my candidacy for re-election. I have given this matter a great deal of serious thought and have finally decided not to be a candidate again. I was elected to the 64th Congress in November, 1916. Four months previous to this, I was compelled to devote nearly all of my time to my campaign."

The expenses of conducting my affairs in Washington, together with what I have lost on account of my resigning my position with the William Carter Company, make it necessary for me to return to business."

I am deeply grateful to the voters of the 13th District who so highly honored me by electing me to Congress in 1914, and who, later in 1916 gave me such an overwhelming majority. I have attempted at all times to give to my district the best that was in me. I have tried to represent them faithfully on every vote on the floor of Congress."

The district is so strongly Republican that there may be a lively contest for the nomination.

Among those already "mentioned" are Representative Benjamin Loring Young of Weston, Senator Herbert A. Wilson of Boston, Representative J. Weston Allen of Newton, former Lieut.-Gov. Robert Luce of Waltham, Nathaniel Francis of Brookline, President Harriman of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, of Newton, and Mayor E. O. Childs of Newton.

D. A. R.

Members of the Lucy Jackson Chapter, D.A.R., met on March 11 at the home of Mrs. Arthur P. Friend at West Newton. The regent, Mrs. Frederick J. Fessenden, presided. Miss Sarah Fuller read a letter, written to her by a prominent Englishman, which emphasized the growing spirit of friendship and mutual understanding between his country and the United States. Mrs. William De Y. Field told of her work on clippings for the sailors and soldiers, describing her method of work. Mrs. Elmer H. Allen of Shirley gave a talk on the work of the D.A.R. in the war.

On Friday evenings "Cottage Services" are arranged at various points in the parish. The regent officiates at each service.

A Star for Harold Temple who has entered the Aviation service is to be placed on the Service Flag at the Congregational Church, and also on the flag of King Arthur, and one for Dwight Davis who is the first Y. M. C. A. man to take up the work in Russia. The number of Knights in service from Castle Sterling is 53 the largest number from any Castle reporting at the Provincial Conclave on February 22nd.

The Bowling Club, composed of a number of Newton young ladies, entertained a number of the men from the Harvard Radio School on Monday evening at the Newton Boat Club. An evening of bowling and dancing was enjoyed. The committee, which was under the chaperonage of Mrs. James E. Farrell and Mrs. William Woodside, included the Misses May and Sadie Dooley, Mary Morrissey, Agnes Linn, Anna Belle Ewing, Josephine Ireland, Francis Ireland, Helen Ireland, and Elizabeth Dunbar.

The Living Pictures given at Lasey Seminary, a full account of which was printed in the issue of March 1, will be repeated at the Methodist parish house Monday evening, Mar. 18, for the benefit of Red Cross work. Members of the Junior Red Cross will make the posters and programs. They will also sell candy during the intermission. The Juniors had an excellent display of afghans, knitted goods, layettes, scrap books, etc., at the last Woman's Club meeting, and surely deserve warm support and encouragement.

More than fifty members were present and enjoyed a remarkably interesting and instructive address by Mr. William H. Kenney.

GIRL ASSAULTED

Miss Jennie Rogers, 19 years old, living at South street, Chestnut Hill, while on her way home shortly before midnight Wednesday night, was attacked on South street, a short distance from her home, by a man who followed her from the Lake-street transfer station. Alarmed by her cries, the man struck her on the head with an empty whiskey bottle, breaking the bottle and cutting her face badly.

She fell to the ground and screamed. Her screams aroused the occupants of a house opposite the scene of the attack, and a woman opened the window of the house and yelled at the man, who ran away. The girl then made her way to her home, notified the police and collapsed.

About 1.30 yesterday morning a drunken man was walking through Newton Centre square, and Patrolman James Conniff, who did not know about the assault, stopped the man and questioned him. While Conniff was questioning the man, the patrol wagon loaded with policemen, stopped at the square.

A few of the patrolmen approached to where Conniff was questioning the man. They noticed bloodstains on his clothes and took him to the house of Miss Rogers, who identified him as the man that attacked her.

He was taken to the police headquarters and locked up on a serious charge. He gave his name as Peter Cantwell, 34 years old, employed as a machinist, and said he lived at 9 Plain avenue, Beverly. He could give no satisfactory account of himself.

The prisoner was arraigned in court yesterday and pleaded not guilty. He was held in $5000 bonds for a further hearing next Monday, as Miss Rogers was unable to be present.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

At the meeting of the Fortnightly Club of Newton Centre this week Miss Mary Cowling, executive secretary of the Consumer's League of Massachusetts, spoke, at the home of Mrs. Newell L. Cutler.

Her subject, "Aspects of a Good Bargain," was fairly dealt with from the consumer's point of view, also the manufacturer's, merchant's and women's point of view.

It is of industry, the prerogative of the first named to have whatever they want but they will have to pay for it. An intelligent demand is asked for.

The fact that the number of girls between fourteen and seventeen to be employed since the war, has been doubled emphasizes the need of special training before that period.

Your Obligation to Your Country

More rapidly than you realize is the war coming to America.

Evidences of enemy activity are reported daily. There is every need for individual vigilance.

No unusual happening is free from suspicion. No doubtful actions or words can now be tolerated.

Every move that injures industry, every event that interferes with transportation, is directly affecting the life of your son, your brother, your husband—now in France or soon to be there.

All our energies must be directed to the business of winning this war.

All delays mean lengthening the struggle. The longer it lasts the more American lives must be sacrificed.

Keep your eyes and ears open. Report every suspicious action or treasonable word.

This war is yours to win as much as that of the man in the trenches.

Eternal watchfulness is the price you must pay for your own safety, as well as the safety of our fighting men.

Only by forestalling and defeating the aims of the cowardly and contemptible spy can our country continue its march toward an early victory.

Let this work be your contribution to the cause of democracy.

It is time YOU woke up—this war is real!

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Miss Grace M. Burt, Editor.

"Drives" of all sorts have been the popular way to secure funds for the multifarious forms of war work this winter and each succeeding one has met with astonishing success. Up to this time the women's clubs, as clubs, have not undertaken any of their own, but have instead contributed their mite to those organized by other agencies. At the meeting of the Executive Board of the General Federation of Women's Clubs held in January at Hot Springs, Va., it was decided that the time had come for the club women of America to undertake some specific war work and it was accordingly voted that the General Federation raise a quarter of a million dollars, $250,000, for the purpose of establishing centers in France for our own soldiers when on furlough. A War Victory Commission of ten members was appointed with Mrs. Delphine Dodge Ashbaugh of Michigan as chairman and Mrs. George Winslow Perkins of Boston as secretary-treasurer.

The President of the General Federation, Mrs. Josiah E. Cowles, and the chairman conferred with Mr. Raymond Fosdick, head of the Commission on Training Camp Activities, immediately afterward and the plan received its hearty commendation. He is now about visiting France and when he returns will bring definite information as to the best methods of carrying out the plan.

In the meantime the Federation proposes to secure the money by asking each club woman to contribute one dollar or more before the Biennial convention at Hot Springs, Arkansas, which will be held from April 29 to May 8 inclusive. The states in turn have appointed committees with each member directly responsible for the clubs in her particular district. In Massachusetts, Mrs. Joseph E. Leach, General Federation State Secretary, chairman, and the eight district directors form the committee. Mrs. Irving O. Palmer is in charge of the Newton clubs.

It is a big undertaking, but with each one doing her part it can and will be accomplished. April 10 is set as the limit when all contributions shall be received.

FOR D.A.R. HOUSEIndian Folk-lore Stories on March 23
Peter Rabbit Will Be There, Too

Under the auspices of Lucy Jackson Chapter, D.A.R., Mr. Bernard Sexton, known as the "Gray Wolf," will tell some of his Indian folk-lore stories at the parish house of the Congregational church in West Newton on Saturday, March 23, at 2 o'clock. Peter Rabbit has been invited and has accepted. There will also be an Easter bunny sale, and a general good time, which will appeal very strongly to the children.

In addition to giving the youngsters a happy afternoon it is hoped to realize a considerable sum towards continuing the repairs on the old Baury house which the chapter purchased last year. This is the square old mansion on Washington street, Newton Lower Falls, next to St. Mary's church, and one of the finest old houses in the city. It was in bad repair, and while much has been done to it, more is necessary before it will be as useful as it is planned to make it.

NEWTON IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION

Members of the Newton Improvement Association are looking forward with much interest to their annual meeting and dinner, which will be held this year at the Y.M.C.A. on the evening of Monday, April 1. After the dinner and business meeting there will be an address by Mr. William N. Craig, superintendent of Faulkner Farm, Brookline, on the "Cultivation of Vegetables in the Home Garden." This will be entirely free to the public, and everyone interested in gardening will be invited to attend and learn how to improve and increase his crops.

Local Happenings

A musicale and a tea given by the directors of the club was the entertainment at the meeting of the Waban Woman's Club on Monday, March 11th. The musical program included violin solos by the Russian violinist, Mr. David Wainhouse, two groups of selections for violin, cello and piano by the Wainhouse trio and two charming groups of songs by Mrs. Laura Littlefield, assisted by Mrs. Dudley Pitts.

Mr. Wainhouse accompanied by Miss Edith L. Hyland showed a wide range of sympathy in his numbers, his first solo being "The Son of the Puszta," Keli Bell, a Russian composition, and his next, "To a Wild Rose" by MacDowell. The Meditation from Thais and Minuet by Beethoven were his other numbers. The trio selections covered a wide range of technique.

Mrs. Littlefield, who was ably accompanied by Mrs. Pitts, delighted the audience with her rendering of two French songs and two English songs in her first group, while her second comprised four children's songs, a "Minuet" by Helen Hopekirk; "The Scissors Man," Florence Spaulding; "Visitors," Cooke; and "The Owl," Wells.

After the musicale the directors served a most acceptable tea, particularly in view of the fact that it was early in the year voted to discontinue serving tea.

Mr. B. F. Jones of the State Board of Education spoke to the Women's Club of Newton Highlands on Tuesday on the ways in which we can strengthen the first line of defense through physical training in the schools and through vocational work, the results of which he considers will be the growth of individual independence.

Tuesday's meeting of the Auburndale Woman's Club, proved a very busy one. Much important business was disposed of, including a straw vote to assist the nominating committee in making out the ballot for the coming annual election.

Miss Marshall of the Boston Naval Canteen spoke in behalf of the Smile-age Books for enlisted men.

Mrs. Joseph R. Draper, chairman of the Art committee, introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Senorita Marcial Dorado, a former teacher at Wellesley College, who in a quaint, fascinating way told many legends of "Picturesque Spain." She spoke of the beauty and sentimentality of its women, of the quaint cities and towns with their beautiful buildings, narrow streets, overhanging balconies, of their wonderful vineyards and gardens. Senorita Dorado paid a beautiful tribute to Alice Gordon Gulick, an Auburndale woman who founded the International Institute for Women in Spain.

The glee club chorus accompanied by Mrs. Lyman D. MacNutt sang two Spanish songs.

Beautiful specimens of all kinds of handicraft, both new and old, were displayed at the Arts and Crafts exhibit held in connection with the meeting, all of which were greatly admired by those who saw them. The fine exhibit of splendid work being done by the Junior Red Cross in the schools attracted much attention.

The proceeds from the Art sale amounted to $18 and will go towards the surgical dressings fund.

The Social Science Club had a very unusual opportunity on Wednesday morning to learn of Indian and Modern Music of South America from one who has spent much time in out of the way places of that continent and who has made a special study of the subject. Mrs. William Curtis Farabee of Philadelphia. Dr. Farabee, the speaker's husband, has made two extended trips for the purpose of ethnological research among the primitive peoples of South America, and much of the material in the collections of this nature in Peabody Museum at Harvard are the results of these excursions.

The Incas are the most highly developed of the primitive people, having been the first to come in contact with European civilization. Their music consists of hymns, love songs, and funeral songs. Their chief instruments are the Pan pipe and a crude sort of flute, specimens of which Mrs. Farabee exhibited. The drum also is used and often in ancient times the skins of their enemies were used for the heads of the drums. Their trumpets were made of clay, but there were no stringed instruments in early times, these coming in at a later time and have two strings for each tone. These people have a five-toned scale with distinct intervals, omitting the semitones.

The Quichua Indians have their love songs played upon the flute, but they never sing them, for all the lovers know what they mean. Examples of several of these Indian songs were reproduced by the phonograph from records which were made for Dr. Farabee by natives. A Quichuan love song which has been harmonized was sung by Mr. J. R. Meredith. The speaker illustrated upon the piano some of the most primitive music to be found among savages, showing the perfect major and minor tones—one known as "fire burn" and another used as treatment for a snake bite, and one of their dances was also given.

As a people the South Americans of today are very fond of music, especially of the opera, the Italian being a favorite. One thousand miles up the Amazon Dr. and Mrs. Farabee found a magnificent opera house costing $3,000,000 and even 2200 miles still farther up they heard very good music.

Of the composers, and their many, few have won international fame. Carlos Gomes is probably the best known.

The Pan-American Hymn written for and sung at several Pan-American congresses was delightfully rendered by Mrs. Conklin and Miss Melville. According to custom the words were read before the singing, this being done by Mrs. E. H. Byington, who was chairman for the day.

Mrs. Farabee illustrated the dance music upon the piano with selections heard played everywhere by the bands so popular throughout South America. Other illustrations were given on the victrola.

In closing Mrs. Farabee said that we are apt to judge South America by our own standards, a thing we should not do, but rather attempt to understand them and judge by theirs. She stated that there are many musicians of wonderful talent, but the tendency to take life easy results in their not being willing to put in the necessary hard work.

NEWTON CLUB

The regular matinee bridge party on Tuesday afternoon was a very pleasant social affair and enjoyed by about forty of the ladies of the club and their guests. Ten tables were arranged in the hall and very pretty souvenirs were awarded those holding the highest scores. The winners were Mrs. Norman Nagle, Mrs. Ohlson and Mrs. Hunting.

After the game refreshments were served in the dining hall, and the tables were very attractively decorated with red tulips.

A social event of interest at the club will be a The Dansant on Saturday afternoon at 8 o'clock. The Jazz Band will be in attendance with an up-to-date program of music.

Arrangements are being made for a luncheon-bridge on Friday, April 5, which will be given for the ladies of the club and their guests.

NEWTON WELFARE BUREAU

Mrs. G. was recovering from a long and painful illness. The Welfare Bureau sent a visitor to her home so that she may be really well before returning to her work in the factory.

Tommie has a serious throat trouble which needs regular and expert treatment. His mother, busy with the demands of the four younger children, cannot take him to the Out Patient department. The Welfare Bureau interests a volunteer who undertakes to convey Tommie to the hospital as often as the doctor says.

Rheumatism has made her work a burden to Mrs. D. The doctor promises relief if her badly decayed and ulcerated teeth are removed. The Welfare Bureau sends a visitor to take Mrs. D. to the dentist and makes arrangement not only for the extraction of the carious teeth, but also for false teeth to be fitted later.

Elizabeth went to work at 14 without having any special training. She now wants to fit herself for a better position, but her only time for study is in the evening. The Welfare Bureau gives her information about evening courses at the High School and helps her plan her work there.

These are needs that exist when there is plenty of food and fuel in the house. Can you tell the Bureau of others who would like to take advantage of such services?

CHARLES WARD POST 62

Charles Ward Post, No. 62, G. A. R., is through with regular evening meetings; hereafter only daylight meetings. By an amended by-law, recently adopted, future meetings will be held on the first and third Saturdays of each month, at 3 o'clock, except that the second meeting of July, August and September will be omitted.

At the last meeting of the Post the resignation of Chaplain S. P. Putnam was read. Failing health has for some time hindered the regular attendance of Chaplain Putnam, hence his resignation. Its acceptance at once, the comrades present thought, would seem to show a lack of appreciation of his long, faithful and very acceptable service, and it was unanimously voted to ask him to continue to hold the office, the duties of which would be assigned to some one else. It is hoped, and is the earnest desire of every comrade, that coming warm weather, daylight meetings, relief from responsibility of the office, and returning health will enable Comrade Putnam once more to resume his regular attendance at all Post meetings.

On motion of W. A. Wetherbee Comrade J. K. Cole was elected as acting chaplain.

The officers of the Post, acting as a committee, are already making plans for the observance of Memorial Day, Thursday, May 30th.

DEATH OF MR. HOOPER

Mr. Albert Edward Hooper passed away suddenly at Newtonville, Sunday, March 10, following an attack of heart failure. Mr. Hooper was 69 years of age and had resided in Newtonville for more than thirty years; he was an active member of the Church of the New Jerusalem, and was highly esteemed by a large circle of friends. He is survived by a widow, one son, Mr. Samuel Dike Hooper of Eugene, Ore., and one daughter, Mrs. Walter Burgess Warren of Portland, Ore.

An impressive funeral service was held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30, at the Church of the New Jerusalem, Rev. John Goddard, the pastor, officiating. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends, and many beautiful floral tributes.

The remains were taken to Bath, Me., for burial.

SAVING SHOE-BLACKING TINS

It is estimated that more than 1,000,000 cans of large capacity will be saved yearly by the Blacking and Cement Manufacturers' Association, recently organized in Boston through the efforts of William E. Gill, a resident of Highland avenue, West Newton, and publisher of the Superintendent and Foreman. These manufacturers make blacking and cement for the shoe industry, and their products are put in large tins, ranging from 5 gallons upward. More than 40 concerns have come together under the Committee on Public Safety of Massachusetts, and are making a charge for all containers, such as cans, jugs, kegs, and half barrels, this charge to be credited the customer upon return of container. This gives an incentive to promptly return tins, which have heretofore been used once and then rendered useless through neglect. Each manufacturer belonging to this organization is given an identification number to be stamped on his containers, so that debts and credits may be kept straight. Henry B. Endicott, executive manager of the Massachusetts Public Safety Committee, himself a large shoe manufacturer, has given this conservation movement his hearty support.

NEWTON 25 YEARS AGO

From the Newton Graphic of March 17, 1893

Editorial—"The first day of spring was ushered in Monday and we hope that the end of an old-fashioned and unmerciful winter is at hand."

Annual declamation of the senior class of the High School.
First annual ball of the Newton Board Club, with Mrs. Charles W. Loring, Mrs. Frederic Crant, Mrs. Herbert E. Burrage, and Mrs. Charles W. Knapp on the receiving line.
Deaths of Mr. Albert Phipps of Newtonville and Mrs. Charles B. Moore of Newton Centre.

HOCKEY CHAMPIONS

The Newton High Hockey team, by its victory Friday night at the Boston Arena over Brookline, became champions for the second time of both the Interscholastic and Triangular leagues. Newton won by the score of 2 to 1, the game being marred by something resembling a riot when a Newton partisan seized and ran away from the Brookline side with one of the school banners. Brookline properly resented such an act, and even the playing of the national anthem failed to stop the confusion which followed.

The team also defeated the Melrose High at the Arena on Monday afternoon by the score of 3 to 2, the game requiring ten minutes of overtime.

THE LATE REV. H. R. CHAMBERLAIN

PASTOR BURIED

Funeral services for the late Rev. Harrie R. Chamberlain, pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church, were held in the church edifice last Friday afternoon, and there was a large attendance of parishioners and friends.

Seven clergymen took part in the services, which were in charge of Prof. Henry K. Rowe of the Newton Theological Institution of Newton Centre, who has been acting pastor of the parish. Henry Wrye was at the organ. There was no singing.

Following the invocation by Rev. Robert B. Pattison of the Beth-Eden church at Waltham, the congregation recited the 23d Psalm, and there were Scriptural readings by Rev. Emory W. Hunt, D.D., pastor of the First Baptist church at Newton Centre. Rev. Woodman Bradbury, pastor of the Old Cambridge Baptist parish, spoke on Rev. Mr. Chamberlain and the denomination. Rev. H. Grant Person of the Eliot Congregational church, Newton, talked of the dead clergyman and his relation to the community; Professor Rowe spoke of his relation to his church, and a poem was read by Rev. Mr. Bradbury. Prayers were said by Rev. J. Y. Aitchison, D.D., home secretary of the denomination, and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Thomas S. Roy of the Lincoln Park Baptist Church, Newton.

The ushers at the church were William H. Cady, Roscoe Fuller, Richard H. Blaisdell and Donald Moore. The honorary bearers, all deacons of the parish, were Stephen Moore, Fayette B. Bennett, William A. Somerby, John S. Lathrop, Charles H. Cotton, and Frank W. Chase. The active bearers were J. W. Blaisdell, Bertram A. Strohmeler, Clarence V. Moore and Harold Fuller, all of Newton, Harold Bridgeman of Pittsfield and George M. Royce of Cleveland, O.

The body was placed in the receiving tomb at the Newton cemetery.

The following resolutions have been adopted by the Board of Trustees of the United Society of Christian Endeavor:

The trustees of the United Society of Christian Endeavor learn with profound grief of the death of Rev. Harrie R. Chamberlain, pastor of the Emmanuel Baptist Church of Newton, Mass. Through an acquaintance of many years we have come to love Mr. Chamberlain, and to admire the many fine traits of his character. He was president of the Massachusetts Christian Endeavor Union, and a trustee of the United Society of Christian Endeavor; he was also a trustee of the World's Christian Endeavor Union. His counsel was always wise, his faith in Christian Endeavor was always strong, and his presence at our meetings was an uplifting inspiration. He gave himself freely to the young people through addresses and other services, and was recognized wherever he went as their sincere and helpful friend. We mourn with the bereaved wife and with his church, and wish to place on record this tribute to our departed friend.

STATE BOYS' DAY

Plans are being worked out in careful detail for the State Boys' Day Campaign to be conducted by the Boys' Division of the local Y.M.C.A. next Saturday. On this same day Associations in most of the towns and cities of Massachusetts will be observing the day with a similar effort. The money is divided alike in all cases, 50 per cent. going to the local work, 25 per cent. to the state work, 15 per cent. for work among boys of North America, and 10 per cent. for work among boys in foreign lands.

Five companies of workers have been organized under the captaincy of the following men: A Company, Mr. C. D. Kepner; B Company, Mr. S. A. Carling; C Company, Mr. F. E. Doubleday; D Company, Mr. W. R. Perry, and E Company, Mr. W. H. Sears. A rivalry between these companies is already in evidence and the boys of each are planning their group "over the top."

An important rally for all the workers will be held on Friday evening of this week at 7.30 P.M. The plan will be explained in detail to the boys who are to do the hustling on Saturday. Each worker will be provided with a book of receipts showing that he is an authorized collector. People are asked not to give to any boy who is unable to present them with one of these receipts.

All regular gymnasium classes will be omitted on Saturday morning. The workers will begin making their calls at 9 o'clock Saturday and will report at 12 for a swim and lunch.
The campaign is in charge of Mr. C. L. Ellison, chairman of the Boys' Work Committee. The campaign office will be in charge of Mr. Walter G. MacDonald. Mr. Edward Bacon will act as special treasurer for the day. The lunch will be served by a group of ladies under the direction of Miss Emma Page.

A folder with the following information has been issued.
The City of Newton spends 25 cents of every dollar raised by taxation for the education of its boys and girls. It is money well expended. It makes for good citizenship. Fifty cents of every dollar raised on March 16 will be used to make better citizens of the boys of the Newton Association. To what wiser use could your money be put?

Never in all history was the world so robbed of its young leaders as it is today. From Newton the young men of trained mind, of disciplined will and unselfish spirit are gone and are going. Many will never come back. But what about the growing boys of today who will be called upon to take their places? What about the leadership of these boys? Is there to be a lowering of the standard? A weakening of the quality? A lessening of the effort? Or a slackening of the keenness among our leaders of boys, as though in times like these it mattered less than in the piping times of peace? Assuredly and emphatically no!

The Boys' Division of the Newton Association serves a wide field. Its membership is recruited from more than a dozen different centers in this community. An all-around program of activities is carried on under the direction of its secretary, W. H. Sears. It is making a definite contribution to the development of the boy life in Newton. We ask you to have a share in this work through your gifts. Friends who find it more convenient may send their money or checks to the Boys' Division prior to March 16.

LETTER FROM THE FRONT

The following extracts from a letter dated February 10 and just received from Mr. Ralph P. Barber of Newton indicates that the Newton boys are getting near the battle line. We are in a little town that is quite a distance from where we were before. I can hear the big guns popping now quite plain. This village has been blown to pieces by both sides, first by the Boches and later retaken by the French. There is not a house or barn left whole, and the whole country is trenches and dugouts. We leave here shortly for a nearer point where our real work begins.

It is fairly quiet here now but enough doing to be interesting. Believe me, I am going to see some sights soon now on, as I have the last two days.

You could not believe so much could happen to a country, and the very sight of it makes us more eager to get in and return a great many blows for what they have done to this country. Ray and I are now sitting in a ruined shed partly covered in by corrugated iron and boarded up, which we have used for an office and supply room.

We have a table we brought with us and are writing by candle-light. The French sure did a good job when they drove them back from here, and they pushed them back some distance, as they have never been able to get near again.

The boys are all feeling fine and eager to get in. I have been feeling fine and still am. We have been having fine weather and it feels as though spring were sure coming. The barbed wire they used here when the fighting was in this region is bad stuff to handle, as the barbs are only about an inch and a half apart, and about an inch and a quarter long. I would sure hate to handle that, and the mess they put in front of the trenches is wicked. The guns have just started up again and are booming away in great shape.

I have been very busy all afternoon, riding around in the captain's side car getting a few last things for the boys' equipment. I have been made supply sergeant now of the company, so rank next to the Top Sergeant. We are sleeping in barracks, but some of the French troops in town have made all kinds of shelters in the ruins.

COPLEY THEATRE.—Many sensational incidents and much comedy go to make up the plot of "Eccentric Lord Comberdene," the play by R. C. Carton which will have its first performance in Boston at the Copley Theatre next Monday evening. The story told by Mr. Carton in "Eccentric Lord Comberdene" is a mingling of adventure and romance. It deals with a great jewel robbery at an English sea-coast hotel, and with the escapades of a Russian Duchess. It is a mystery play in the best and most inviting sense of the term. Its comedy and melodrama are interwoven cleverly, and it contains many scenes that are thrilling and comic. The cast will be made up of the full ensemble of the Henry Jewett Players, and the play will be staged under Mr. Jewett's personal direction.

MT. IDA SCHOOL

Notable among the social events of the past week was the Annual Glee Club Concert and dance which was given Friday evening at Mt. Ida. A very large audience assembled in the Gymnasium and a program of unusual musical merit was presented, which opened with the enthusiastic singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" by the school, accompanied by the Glee Club, composed of violins, harp, and cello.

Then followed 4 selections by the Club, and in the last number the musicians were assisted by the Ukulele Club and gave a fine rendition of "Aloha."

A beautifully rendered soprano solo by Miss Annie Mary Smith of Greensboro, N. C., and a reading "Here Comes the Bride," by Miss Helen Henry, were received with much enthusiasm.

One of the best numbers on the program was a group of songs rendered with pleasing effect by Miss Charlotte Thomas of Springfield, Ohio.

Miss Jean Morrison of Butte, Montana, entertained delightfully with two solos on the harp, and the entire program was greatly enjoyed by the audience.

The members of the Glee Club, which numbers 36, and is under the direction of Miss Dora Elizabeth Gilbert, reflected great credit on themselves and their instructor by the splendid program.

The concert was followed by a dance until 11.30 and members of the School Orchestra furnished the music.

There were many military men in uniform among the guests.

In the receiving line were Mrs. George Jewett and Miss Davis.

The concert was one of the most successful ever given at the School.

The Easter Vacation at Mt. Ida begins March 22nd.

The Junior Class gave a very successful Minstrel Show last week at the School.

Evening service at Trinity Church, Newton Centre, Sunday, March 17, will be marked by an address by the pastor, Rev. Edward T. Sullivan, on "The Archbishop of York's Message, Applied to Newton Centre." A special musical program has been arranged with Mrs. Marie Kaula Stone as soloist. The organ recital will begin at 7 P.M. Holy Communion at 10 A.M. Morning service at 10.45 A.M.

COLONIAL THEATRE.—One might well have thought from the flood of musical comedy that has been poured into Boston in recent years there could be left little or nothing to surprise the inveterate theatregoer, but the latest production of Klaw & Erlanger, "The Rainbow Girl," now running at the Colonial has proved to be what they call on the "campus" an eye-opener. The plot of the piece is taken from a story by Jerome K. Jerome arranged and seasoned by Dennold Wolf and the musical dressing suit adds to the relish of the unusual feast. Quality is written over every scene, specialty, episode, solo or chorus number, dancing conceit, and the running power of the whole entertainment has been aptly described, "The speed limit." In simple truth "The Rainbow Girl" is a musical show often talked about, but seldom seen, and every way worthy of the crowded houses that have made its Boston sojourn the sensation of the theatre season.

THE WAR, THE FARM AND THE FARMER

By Herbert Quick

Since the dawn of history the farmer has been the man who suffers most from war. All that he possesses lies out of doors in plain sight, and is spoil of war—his house, his grain, his livestock. But the farmer everywhere is a warrior when war is the only thing which will make or keep him free—either a warrior or a serf. He is sometimes the last to heat up; but he stays hot, and in a long fight he is always found sturdily carrying the battle across No Man's Land to the foe, in the last grim struggle.

This war was at first hard to understand. No armed foe invaded the United States. The night skies were not reddened by the burning byres and farmsteads of America. No raiding parties harried us of our cattle or horses. No sabre-rattlers insulted our women. We did not then know that a monster had arisen with a thousand arms, who could reach across the seas and take from us three-fourths of everything we grew without our being aware of it, and who could follow up his robbery with invasion, subjugation and national death.

What the Imperial German government offered the farmers of America in its ruthless submarine warfare was not the loss of profits, but slavery to the sabre-rattlers of Potsdam, by murdering the people who take our products to market. By all the laws of civilized warfare commerce under a neutral flag was free from any hindrance except the legal interference justified by war; but the Germans not only stopped merchant vessels, they sunk them without warning and without trace.

Having the right, according to the laws of war, to take the sea with his fleet and fight the thing out gun to gun, but being afraid to do so for fear he might lose his fleet, or unable to stop the selling of our products to his enemies or to open his own ports to us by fair means, he declared his intention to do it by the foulest methods ever resorted to in war.

To have submitted would have cost us dear in prosperity; but that would have been the least of our loss. By so doing we should have accepted degradation. We should have accepted, at the behest of a half crazed autocrat in Europe, a lower standard of living in America. We should have basely yielded up our birthright as Americans. Peace at such a price would not be peace, but only a preparation for a future revolt against subjugation. Better any sort of war, better war forever than that!

This, then, is the war in which we are fighting. Whenever the time comes for new sacrifices, let us remember that we fight not only for the liberty of the Belgians, the French, the Serbians, the Russians, the British, the Montenegrins, the Roumanians, the Italians, but of all nations, even of the German people themselves; and most of all, for our own liberties, for our freedom today! There is loss and sacrifice in the war; but there would have been far more in accepting the German terms. We should have lost more in money than we shall spend in the war; and something far more precious than money—our souls!

This is the crucial year of the war. Our soldiers—hundreds of thousands of them—are in the trenches, and a million more are ready to go. The whole burden of carrying on our own part in the war, and of aiding our sister nations in arms, rests on the United States Treasury. Therefore every cent we can raise and scrape together belongs to the Treasury, that our boys may come back to us victorious. We can whip the Germans, not with the money in our pockets or our bank accounts, but with what we put into the Treasury in subscriptions to Liberty Bonds!

Never since the Turks threatened to overwhelm Europe, perhaps not even then, was the world in such danger as now. Germany is not yet defeated. We must defeat her this year. We must withhold nothing from the support of the war. We must give our sons. We must bring forth food in abundance, multiplying our labor to that end. We must give into the Treasury of the United States, in subscriptions to Liberty Bonds, every cent we can spare.

This summer the support of the war is up to the farmers; and Uncle Sam has never called upon the farmers in vain.

WHY WE FIGHT.

"You are called into this great service of your country not only for the purpose of maintaining the ideals for which America has always stood—democracy and freedom, and to keep the torch of Liberty burning throughout the world—but also for the more immediate object, the protection of our national rights and the democratic institutions handed down to us as the result of the valor and blood of our ancestors. These are the things for which you fight."

From Secretary McAdoo's Address to Men of the National Army.

BOYS TO FARM FOR AMERICA

ENDICOTT NEEDS THEIR HELP

Each of the 8000 High School boys in the State will receive a call this week from the Massachusetts Committee on Public Safety, through its school boys for farm service committee, to enlist in farm work for the coming summer, where—in addition to earning substantial wages—they will reap great benefits in health and strength while still enjoying all the fun incidental to farm life. At least 6000 boys are expected to volunteer for this farm service in view of the fact that one of the most effective groups of workers in the Massachusetts Committee on Public Safety has been constantly at work since last spring developing the plan which will have its full fruition this year.

Last year the work was started soon after the organization of the Public Safety Committee, and, notwithstanding the natural reluctance of school men and farmers to enter wholeheartedly into the somewhat novel plan, 1600 boys worked through the season in camps and on individual farms, earning from $9.00 to $13.00 a week and receiving at the end of the period a reward of merit in the form of an honorable discharge signed by Governor McCall and Chairman James A. Storrow of the Committee on Public Safety.

"The problem which this committee is working out," said Mr. Endicott, "is one of the most important in the whole food production and conservation plan of the state and nation. Production must precede conservation and supplying school labor to the farms is the most acute problem we have before us. Realizing that this work required careful and intelligent organization, we selected this committee only after much study and thought. In Mr. Dow, we feel we have the right man in the right place, and, judging by the work already accomplished, I have the utmost confidence that under his active supervision it will be carried through to a successful conclusion."

The executive in charge is Stephen R. Dow, who has been working day and night on the plan, visiting every corner of the state and personally presenting it in a vigorous manner to groups of high school boys, farmers, boards of education and farmers' organizations. Yesterday Mr. Dow made his appearance before his fiftieth high school. Mr. Dow is assisted in the organization by Harold Peabody, President of the Massachusetts Federation of Boys' Clubs, whose experience with Boy Scouts and boys' clubs has made him an exceptional man for the present plan. The committee is distinctively representative, having for its chairman Mr. Frank V. Thompson, assistant superintendent of schools in Boston, whose vigorous personality is instrumental in organizing the work last summer and who has kept closely in touch with it up to the present time. Other members of the committee include Mr. Storrow, ex-officio; R. Edwards Annin, Jr., State Board of Agriculture; George H. Lanen, Labor Editor, Boston Post; John D. Winland, Jr., State Board of Education; R. W. Stinson, Agent, State Board of Education.

The importance of the school boys' work on the farm has been nationally recognized as a result of the work done in the various states last year and the work is now being carried on with the personal support of President Wilson, National Food Administrator Hoover, and Secretary of Labor Wilson. It is interesting to note that the organization which is known as the United States Boys' Working Reserve is based mostly on the plan of the Massachusetts Committee. Every state in the country will assist in the working out of the national plan this year and it is expected that in the country there will be some two million boys to partially make up the serious deficit in farm labor.

This week every high school boy in the state will receive a pamphlet entitled to a Call for Patriotic Service, describing the work and calling the high school boys between 16 and 20 years inclusive to enroll. Additional copies of this pamphlet may be secured by parents, or others interested, by writing to the Public Safety Committee, 100 State House, a preliminary canvass has shown that there are 8000 boys between these ages in the high schools of Massachusetts. The pamphlet, which is introduced by a letter from President Wilson, asks the boys to enlist, saying: "It is a high privilege, no less than a patriotic duty, to help support the nation in this work by devoted and intelligent effort in this great crisis." Former President Theodore Roosevelt in the same pamphlet also adds his voice to the appeal. Mr. Dow writes:

There are about 5,000,000 boys like you in the United States between 16 and twenty years of age inclusive. Of this number it is estimated that 2,000,000 are either idle or engaged in non-productive occupations for a substantial part of the year. It is for the latter group that Uncle Sam has organized the United States Boys' Working Reserve.

If you are able bodied and not less than 16 nor more 21 years of age you may be enrolled as a member of the Reserve for agricultural work upon signing an application card for membership provided you obtain:

"The written consent of your parent or guardian; your school physician's endorsement; subscribe to the oath of service before the enrolling officer, and agree to hold yourself ready for service on the farm beginning May 1 through October 15. Upon your enrollment you will receive the button of the Reserve bearing the seal of the United States and the words 'enroll' written across the face and a membership certificate bearing the seal of the United States. Wear the button at all times and be a booster for the Reserve. Explain to your chums just what the Reserve means and urge them to join. Every member thus becomes a recruiting agent for the Reserve.

The Official Bronze Badge bearing the great seal of the United States and inscribed 'United States Boys' Working Reserve' will be awarded you, provided that you have worked satisfactorily for a minimum of six weeks on a farm and have held yourself ready for service for the entire time between May 1 and October 12 inclusive. This badge will be worn in place of the enrollment button. In addition, on the approval of your Principal, you will be given an Honorable Discharge issued by the Commonwealth. The granting of Honorable Discharges after October 12 will be accompanied with suitable exercises in the High School.

The wages to be received vary, according to the farm or camp where the boys are located and the ability of the boys. Green boys will receive a minimum of their board and $4.00 a week; but in all cases it is expected that farmers will pay boys an amount in excess of the schedule if they are worth it, particularly those boys who have had previous experience in farm work.

Already an enrolling agent has been appointed in each high school in nearly every case a member of the faculty. These men will be supplied with full information from Mr. Dow's committee at the State House and be in a position to answer all questions and promote interest in the work. The enrolling will not be confined to the close of the season, but will extend to preparatory and private schools where boys of the age desired are available.

To show how much can be earned by the boys in this work it might be stated that last year in a camp of twenty-four boys $3600 was taken home at the close of the season. This year, because of better organization, it is expected that larger amounts will be earned in the camps.

Must Have the Robe.

In Australian swimming races the regulations prohibit a girl contestant going to the park for a race unless she has a robe on and an attendant with her. The robe is not allowed to be taken off until the start of the race, when the attendant stands behind the swimmer, holding the robe, and the racer practically dives out of the robe.

Food Value of Peanut.

The peanut is a substantial food, six ounces of shelled peanuts being said to possess a food value of 2.3 ounces of round steak, five ounces codfish, one ounce rice, 2.2 ounces rye bread, 35.5 ounces spinach, 5.6 ounces apples or six ounces bacon. The peanut is rich in fat and also has mineral salts important in the diet, such as phosphorus, lime, sulphur and iron.

A need for more women who can give a half a day, a whole day, or two or three days a week. Every work room in the city could be run at full capacity and a wonderful amount of work turned out if there were more volunteers. In the winning of this war every woman in the city has something at stake. To make sure of this all it is necessary to do is to read what has happened and is happening in Europe. Every woman in Newton would do all she could to make an untrained soldier comfortable or save his life. Taking part in war work is the way every woman can do this. It is not fair, nor the American way, to allow a comparatively few earnest, enthusiastic women to do all the work. They ought to be "spelled," to be permitted an opportunity for rest and recreation. The way to bring this about is for every woman to take hold and help. To find out how she can help all a woman has to do is to send her name and address and a statement of what she is willing to volunteer to do to Newton Branch of the Red Cross, Talbot House, Newtonville, and she will be told just where and how she may be of use in her own section of the city. Just as an example of what a present need is there is a call for volunteers willing to give an afternoon a week at Talbot House and the Newtonville Red Cross stores to answer telephone calls. If there are a dozen women in Newtonville willing to do this one afternoon a week one problem that is troubling the officers will be solved and work over the whole city will be made easier.

Some women in Newton have the mistaken idea that to take part in war work they must have a special individual invitation. This is not so. Working for the men who have gone to fight is the privilege of every woman. Most of the women who are already at work in Newton think it a duty as well as a privilege. She who sends her name as a volunteer for war work to Talbot House will be welcomed to the ranks. She will do much to help along the work if at the same time she sends in her own name she tells other women of the need for volunteers.

Those in Newton who wish to help war work by giving entertainments to raise funds will please remember that before stating that the entertainment is for the Red Cross it is necessary to obtain from the treasurer, Mr. George Royal Fuller, Talbot House, Newtonville, permission to use the Red Cross name. This rule is one made by order of the Metropolitan Chapter and is made because of the restriction placed by the law of the nation upon the use either of the name or the symbol of the Red Cross.

The time in which those who joined the Red Cross at the time of the December campaign may subscribe for the Red Cross Magazine at one dollar a year is almost up so that those who wish the Magazine should send their name, and money at once to the Newton Branch of the Red Cross, Newtonville in order that their names may be entered as subscribers.

grit and are by no means going to let down on the job. As a result of national service in England over 6 millions of troops are now on the line, full of fight and doing nine-tenths of the fighting along the entire front. If this war is going to be won it is to be by a much greater effort on the part of our own country than has yet been manifest.

Mr. Eddy spoke on the increasing need of continuing the splendid work being done by the war-work organizations of this city and throughout the land.

At the conclusion of the meeting subscriptions to the fund were invited and over $2000 was raised. Contributions to the fund may be sent to the Newton Trust Company or to members of the committee of which Mr. O. M. Fisher is chairman.

In the various rooms assigned to the war workers which include the Newton Branch of the Red Cross, the Surgical Dressings Committee, French War Relief Workers and the Special Aid, were groups of workers busily engaged in making surgical shirts, convalescents' robes, three-piece garments for French orphaned children, while others were knitting socks with the use of hand machines, helmets, sweaters, wristers, etc. In still another room others amid immaculate surroundings were folding compresses, surgical dressings, bandages and slings.

Members of Acorn Troop, Girl Scouts, were engaged in making gun-wipers and button bags, a small but very necessary part of the soldier's kit. Some idea of the needs of these war workers in the way of material to work with is shown in a list of the materials used during a single month which is tabulated as follows: 10,100 yards gauze, 250 yards cover cotton, 250 yards Maplewood, 70 yards sling cotton, 30 yards crinoline, 175 yards cretonne, 20 bundles Dexter cotton and 75 sheets of cotton wadding.

HIGH COST OF LIVING

Those of us who think we are experiencing rather high prices in the necessities of life will be interested in the following figures taken from a recent letter from abroad and refer to the price of articles now being paid in Antwerp which is under German control.

Butter $2.50 a pound, coal $300 a ton, shoes $38 a pair, knitted wool socks $3 a pair, eggs 23 cents each, and no milk obtainable except for babies.

A Man Famine

IN common with other countries involved in the World War, the United States is now suffering from a depletion of its business forces because of the large number of men who have entered the service of the government in the business of war. This condition is likely to become more acute in the near future. Business effort is further hampered by the cancellation of many trains on the railroads and by congestion of traffic.

What is the answer? Conservation!

This is the watchword, the slogan of today—We are asked to save food, coal, materials of every kind, yet but little has been said about the CONSERVATION OF TIME, TRAVELLING EXPENSE, etc., which are also matters of great importance.

The most effective aid to Conservation is the telephone because—

It is the quickest means of communication and thus conserves time.

It enables one man to do the work of many and thus conserves labor.

It is surprisingly effective of results, being equal and sometimes superior to a personal call; it thus increases business efficiency.

It is economical when we consider what can be accomplished by a telephone interview of a few minutes' duration, comprising several hundred words of conversation; it, therefore, conserves money.

Then why not make "Conservation by Telephone" your slogan?

MOTOR CORPS NEEDED

To Help Out the Women War Workers of This City

In order to do its present work more expeditiously and more efficiently and to make ready for the flood of work which is certain to come upon it as the war goes on, the Newton Red Cross is planning to organize a Women's Volunteer Motor Corps. Anyone acquainted with our city and difficulty of getting from one part of it to another will realize readily the need and value of such a corps. In the work of civil relief alone, which is growing fast, a motor corps would easily make it possible to do twice the amount of work done now without any increase in the efforts of the workers. Valuable time is lost now in getting from one place to another. None of the work asked of the members of the corps will be of a frivolous or unnecessary kind, but a great deal will be asked that is necessary that cannot be done as it ought to be done with present facilities. Those who join will be asked to serve on certain days either between 9 and 1 or 2 and 5. Women who are willing to join the corps are asked to send their names to the Chairman of Motor Service, Talbot House, Newtonville. Some women who have cars stated that they would be glad to have them used by the Red Cross, but that they do not like to ask their chauffeurs to give the time. Those who have asked their chauffeurs have found that they are Americans and anything they can to help along war work. Motor service offers to the women fortunate enough to own cars a valuable work that others cannot do.

Mrs. G. H. Talbot is chairman of the Motor Service Committee.

NEWTON CORNER DRIVE

The various teams at work on the Newton Corner drive for funds to finance the four war work organizations now in that part of the city, report this morning a total of $17,000, and if friends who have taken out cards and promised to return them filled out and signed to the Newton Trust Company, will only do so, the committee believe that the total will exceed $20,000. The committee is still actively at work and has every expectation of soon reaching the amount which was first set as the goal of their efforts.

MINSTREL SHOW

Enjoyable Performance by Boys of Channing Sunday School

Songs, jokes, and plenty of fun characterized the show in which fifteen young men of Mr. Ralph Angier's class at Channing Sunday school last Saturday evening made their initial bow to the large and enthusiastic audience which taxed the capacity of the church parlors. When the curtain rose seven black faces greeted the audience, while Mr. Angier, as interlocutor, regretted the non-arrival of his end-men. As soon as the first song was begun, from the farther end of the room appeared seven more black-faced young men, respectful in gorgeous red ties and joined in the song, fling down the aisle and up to the stage, and then the fun began. Song followed song in quick succession, each funnier than the last. In their jokes the boys were merciless, sparing no one, not even their own fathers. At length, after they had sung their throats sore, two small boys in white sailor suits and bearing American flags were invited to come to the stage and join in "America," thus closing the performance. The boys acquitted themselves famously, entering into the spirit of the affair with gusto. Certainly the dramatic future of Newton, so far as men are concerned, is assured. Afterwards dancing was enjoyed until a late hour. About $95 was netted for the Red Cross. Those who had part were: End-men, Stephen Palmer, George Mandell, Webster Wiggins, Henry Moore, Charles Pearson, David Grant, Merrill Garcelon, Edward Grevatt; Interlocutor, Mr. Angier; chorus, Donald Crawford, Francis Russell, Charles Barney, Roger Lutz, Alvah Wilson, Elliot Grant, Wilson Palmer; sailor boys, Baldwin Pearson, Ralph L. Angier. No small part of the success was due to the able accompanist, Mrs. Ralph W. Angier.

THRIFT

A Big Campaign Now in Progress in the Newton Schools

Parents and People please note that within a fortnight the children of the upper grades of the Stearns school, Nonantum, Bigelow school, Newton, and Peirce school, West Newton, have been organized into "Thrift Regiments," as units in Uncle Sam's Thrift Army, the biggest, grandest movement for the training of children in practical "thrift" ever launched in any land!

A Newton woman, who had been enthused by her brother's elaboration in California of Mr. Vanderbilt's thrift plan, conceived the idea of organizing these boys and girls as "Soldiers of Thrift" to help Uncle Sam win this war for Humanity, Democracy, Justice and World Peace. Big rallies have been held in the above schools, and it is expected that others will follow suit. As the underlying principle of "thrift" is "work," followed by economy, saving and self-denial, the children joining these regiments agree to earn their own money or save it by self-denial, and buy thrift stamps. "Record cards" are issued to each member wherein he writes concisely and neatly exactly how he earned his money. Thus in concrete form he has incentive to earn and to exercise his ingenuity, also showing his earnestness of purpose to be helpful by seeking out jobs!

Rewards of 4 stamps are to be given to the boy and girl in each company of a regiment who turn in the Record Card showing most original, interesting ways of money getting, and having kept cards the best,—not necessarily to those who buy the most stamps.

We appeal to Parents and People, therefore, to co-operate by making opportunities for children to earn their pennies. Do not despise the offer of the small boy who asks if he may rake up your garden, or sift your ashes, or clean your windows, nor refuse to consider as worth a small wage the work a girl can do for you while you go to shop, etc. Encourage self-denial, too, for patriotic reasons. Send in to the school principals your requests for helpers. Do it now! Every day counts!

This first campaign closes April 19—"Patriots' Day." There will be a big patriotic entertainment, all contesting schools represented. Remember, beyond the value of "dollars" to Uncle Sam is the value of a vast army of working, economizing, self-denying, honest boys and girls—the biggest asset a nation can have!

AN OPEN LETTER

Representative J. Weston Allen Explains His Position on the Prohibition Amendment

Representative J. Weston Allen has written the following reply to the open letter published a few weeks ago on the matter of ratification of the pending prohibition amendment to the national constitution:

William H. Rand, Esq.

My dear sir:—When I became a candidate for Representative in the fall of 1914, you were the first person to ring me up to inquire my views on certain questions. At that time, you asked me where I stood on prohibition, and I replied that I was not in favor of state prohibition, because in my opinion it could not be enforced effectively, but that I was in favor of national prohibition which I believed could be reasonably enforced. I have not changed my views as expressed to you at that time. I am in favor of national prohibition, not alone because it will safeguard and elevate the home and remove many of our social evils, but also on economic grounds, because it will raise the standard of living for our working class, and I believe will give to the employer a greater return from the eight-hour day than he has ever been able to obtain from the nine-hour day with the open saloon operating to diminish the efficiency of labor.

If the referendum to the people is defeated in the legislature, I shall vote for ratification of the amendment at this session. If the referendum is not defeated I shall do all in my power to assure victory for national prohibition next fall and shall hold myself ready to serve on any committee and to speak for national prohibition if I can be of any assistance.

Having complied with your request for the ratification of the amendment, I wish to state to you with equal frankness my position on the referendum. My colleague, Mr. Weston, will vote for immediate ratification without a referendum. I am not blind to the fact that many of my friends desire me to vote in the same way. If, when the time comes, I vote for the referendum, against every personal consideration and the wishes of so many whose judgment I esteem, it will be because I believe that, on a question of great public interest involving the personal liberties of the people, if we deny them the right of suffrage, we are not acting in accord with the true spirit and purpose of representative government, but are violating the fundamental principles upon which representative government must rest for its justification. In so doing, we are but substantiating the position of those who demand a general initiative and referendum.

I have always contended that the legislature was ready and willing to submit all questions of wide public interest to the people. The two great questions of the present day upon which the voters have well defined opinions are equal suffrage and prohibition. In 1916 I voted for the equal suffrage amendment in order that it might be submitted to the voters. As that was an amendment to the state constitution it was necessary for me as a member of the legislature to vote upon the question in advance of the popular vote. I voted in the affirmative because I believed those who were asking for the suffrage were entitled to have the question submitted to the electorate.

Many of the organizations of women which urged me to submit that great question to the people are now urging me not to submit the question of national prohibition to the people. While the conditions of submission are different, the great underlying principle is the same—the right of the people in a democracy to determine great public questions involving their social and moral wellbeing. In the present instance, let the friends of national prohibition ask themselves what is to be gained and what is to be lost by immediate ratification. Only eleven states have legislative sessions this year. Two other "dry" states have held special sessions and have ratified the amendment. At most, only thirteen states can vote for ratification in 1918. We must wait until 1919 for the necessary thirty-six states to ratify, and then the law provides that a year must elapse before the amendment can go into effect in 1920. Obviously Massachusetts has ample time to let the people vote on this great question, which has never been submitted to them, without affecting the date when the amendment may become operative.

How then can Massachusetts exert the more influence on the other states? Will it be by going on record in haste this year in order to be ninth or tenth state to ratify disregarding the protest of the opponents that their rights are being violated and that we are afraid to test the issue at the polls? Why not more wisely show our strength at the polls next

SMASH THEIR RECORD

The boys working on the five teams in the State Boys' day campaign conducted by the boys' division of the Newton Y. M. C. A. last Saturday smashed all previous Newton records by collecting the sum of $415. The splendid spirit of the workers was more than matched by the generosity of the citizens of Newton, Watertown and Waltham, and other communities near by. In these days of multiplied giving it might have been expected that the results of the boys' drive would have been less than usual. The big success of the local campaign is another evidence of appreciation of the all around service of the Y.M.C.A.

At the lunch which was served to the workers at 1 o'clock the reports of the morning's work were received with great enthusiasm. The team captained by Mr. S. A. Carling was returned the winner, and Arthur Haynes of this team reported the largest individual sum. Other workers with especially large amounts were William Proctor, Kenneth Kepner, Theodore Bjornson, Stanley Lucas, Walter Timmers, Thomas Noonan, Arthur Durgin, Carter Flinn, Raymond Woolston, John Smyth, Wallace Macpherson, Gordon Wing, Edwin Morton, and Herbert Jones. The teams finished in the order following: Company B, S. A. Carling, captain, Arthur Haynes, Stanley Lucas, Philip Evans, Walter Timmers, Marshall Dolber, Thomas Noonan, Roscoe Fuller, Winfield Robinson, Russell MacCasey, Louis Farmer, Arthur Durgin, Carter Flinn, Albert Richards. Company A, Mr. C. D. Kepner, captain, Gordon Wing, William Proctor, Geo. Dalzell, Kenneth Merrill, Orrin Duff, Ernest Jones, Albert Greaves, Roland Macdonald, Loren Benson, Kenneth Kepner, Willard Richards, Company D, Mr. F. E. Doubleday, captain, Raymond Woolston, John Harvey, Arthur Hubbard, Robert Savory, William Flinn, Alan Shaw, John Smyth, Wallace A. Macpherson, Leo Campbell, Alfred Purcell, Eric Bang, Arthur Foster, Wallace Macpherson, Company E, Mr. W. H. Sears, captain, Anthony Gleason, Vernon Russell, Donald Cross, Ernest Smart, Paul Jones, Alan King, Alden Somerby, Charles Davis, Theodore Bjornson, Gordon Stewart, Emile Cyr, Edmund Cyr, Winslow Ayranssen, William Childs, Howard Barnes, Company C, Mr. W. R. Ferry, captain, Robert Hook, Harold Crosby, George Cone, Walter Rideout, Thomas Considine, John Shea, Edwin Morton, Albert Kevarkian, Walter Dodge, Kenneth Thayer, Herbert P. Jones.

Of the funds collected on Saturday, 50 per cent. will be used for the boys' work of the Newton Y.M.C.A. 25 per cent. will be used for the state work under the supervision of H. W. Gibson, 15 per cent. for the national work under the supervision of Mr. E. M. Robinson, and 10 per cent. for the foreign work under the supervision of Mr. E. T. Colton.

Only partial reports available as to results in other cities, but these indicate that Newton made a good showing: Lawrence $913; Lynn $575; Pittsfield $560; Newton $415; and Gloucester $360.

The committee from the Newton Association who were in charge of the local campaign wish to express their appreciation of the work of the boys and the generous response of the many givers.

NEWTON FREE LIBRARY

Annual Report of the Librarian

As the war has brought changes to business so also has it to the library profession. In the establishment of camp and other libraries for enlisted men, Newton has borne its part. Our citizens contributed generously for the maintenance of these libraries, so that with a net sum of $4,528.40 sent to Washington for the War Library Fund, Newton's quota was more than doubled. Our "drive for books" could hardly be called such. Yet there was collected over five thousand volumes. Upon advice from the Massachusetts Free Public Library Commission, three thousand volumes of these were shipped direct to Camp Wheeler, Georgia, and over two thousand volumes to Camp Jackson, South Carolina. Here at home the Librarian and the assistants have been called upon to give much of their own time, and this has been offered freely and generously. It seems a small part to be able to do, but remembering that every added strand makes the rope stronger, we are determined to do what little we may to the best of our ability.

Retrenchments should be made wherever possible, so it seems rather futile to spend much time in writing an elaborate report of the service one hopes to render to these at home. If in books days of rising costs, the library is able to mark time without materially increasing its appropriation, it should feel its duty has been done.

Circulation

A study of the book circulation figures for 1917, 373,794 volumes, compared with 1916, 347,102 volumes, shows a total increase of 26,692 volumes, or 7.6 per cent. In April, 1917, all restrictions as to the number of 14-day tickets to be made by the borrower were removed, and many patrons have enjoyed this extension of privileges. The increase of fiction was 13,958 volumes, or 2.2 per cent. History gained 3,344 volumes. It is natural that history should show an increased circulation for here are classes the majority of very interest. In books days of the war, the demand for the best books on the war is very great, and there are seven or eight copies of many of these books. Of Empey's "Over the Top" there are nineteen copies in the library, and of Gerard's "My Four Years in Germany" there are twenty copies. In the year this was the case, one time toward the end of the year 179 reserve slips for Sergeant Empey's book and 52 reserves for Ambassador Gerard's volume. In addition there were 160 reserves; 46 of which were for history, 41 for fiction (11 of these being for one book—a demand created by its dramatization), 21 for biography, 11 for books of description and travel, 10 for useful arts, etc. The reserve system shows the most popular books of the year, except for recent fiction which is not reserved, to have been the two already mentioned and Madame Huard's very readable volume, "My Home in the Field of Honour," Curtin's "Land of Deeds," "Shadow," Dawson's "Carry On," Lord Morley's "Recollections," Paine's "Mark Twain," Strong's "Joseph H. Choate," Brander Matthews' "These Many Years," and Madame Breshkovsky's "The Little Grandmother of the Russian Revolution."

Duplicate Pay Collection The number of books circulated in the duplicate pay collection dropped off nearly a third during the year. From a circulation of 17,299 volumes in 1916 it dropped to 12,337 volumes in 1917. The reason for this was undoubtedly due to a more generous policy in regard to the free books. It is interesting to note that though the receipts for the duplicate pay collection were nearly 10 per cent. less than last year, yet the increased amount received in fines, etc., which includes sales of waste paper, more than made up the deficiency, and returns to the city treasury showed an even $100 increase.

Salaries

The board of aldermen granted early in the year an increase of ten per cent. in the salary of all full-time assistants and janitors in the library. In these high cost of living days this proved most acceptable.

Gifts

One of the last acts rendered the library by the late Judge Kennedy was the supervision of the erection of a 50-foot flagpole, from which floats the American flag—the gift of an anonymous donor. Mrs. Mary Farlow Linder presented a bronze group by Woogel, in the name of her father, who had already generously remembered the library by leaving in his will $5000 for the establishment of the Farlow Reference Fund. This group, representing a mounted hunter surrounded by his dogs and their prey, has been placed in the Farlow Reference room. The list of local donors of books, etc., follows:

Miss Lucy W. Burr
Mr. Frank F. Carr
Hon. Edwin O. Childs
Mrs. Josephine Cladin
Mrs. Sarah H. Cone

The telephone service has now been extended to all the branch libraries. This is a convenience to the patrons, but especially to the main library. House to House Delivery Service The most interesting event of the year was the beginning and development of the house to house book delivery service to the residents of Chestnut Hill, Waban Hill and Oak Hill—sections of the city heretofore almost without library facilities. In response to about 350 notices sent out in February to the residents in these parts of the city, the library is serving now at least 100 families. Collection and delivery is made on Thursday by automobile. During the ten months there were issued 4,092 volumes, or an average of 90 books for each delivery. Many expressions of favorable comment have reached the library—for it seems to bring joy to all who are benefited by it. The interest taken by our chauffeur, who comes into direct contact with the auto service patrons, and his unfaltering memory as he repeats the verbal book orders he has received to the assistant in charge of the work at the library, have been of the greatest help.

Our Service Flag

The names of three men, who were formerly pages in the library, must be here mentioned as doing their bit on foreign soil during this war. Mr. Austin Bunker is now with the 101st Engineers in France; Mr. Robert A. Cunningham, a Harvard student, is now returned after ambulance service in France; and Mr. Richard W. Westwood, a Columbian student still abroad in his first year of ambulance service, received the Croix de Guerre for bringing wounded men to a hospital when he was suffering from a leg wound.

Respectfully submitted,
HAROLD T. DOUGHERTY,
Librarian.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

Two pictures of the interior of one of the Y.M.C.A. Huts at Camp Devens were sent in by Lieut. Theodore R. Lockwood. These have been framed and hung in the lobby. The pictures give a good idea of the huts and the decorations as put up by the men at Christmas time.

Next Monday evening the Boston Pin Tournament closes. Team 2, consisting of Messrs. Moore, Harwood, Peters, Bosworth and Harrington have won 21, lost 11. Team 4, consisting of Messrs. Skelton Haynes, Thomas, Currul and Smith, have won 19, lost 13. The interest centers on the match between these two teams. Some good strings have been rolled in this tournament. F. H. COURT GENOA

Daughters of Isabella Entertainment Members and Invited Friends

Dennison Hall, Newtonville, the occasion being a social in honor of St. Patrick, given by Court Genoa, Daughters of Isabella, to members and their friends. The hall was tastefully decorated with green flags and bunting characteristic of the occasion.

The affair opened with singing of Irish songs by the audience, after which an interesting talk on Ireland and Irish Heroes was given by Hon. Francis E. Slattery, followed by a pleasing musicale with Miss Bridget Murnaghan, violinist, and Miss Catherine Flanagan, pianist. Miss May White and Miss Alice Cronin delighted the audience with several readings. A collation was served, the color scheme being green. The favors were green butterflies and miniature white pipes tied with green ribbon. After a social hour all joined in singing "The Star Spangled Banner."

SHUBERT THEATRE.—At the Shubert Theatre, next week beginning Monday, March 25, A. H. Woods will present a new melodrama in three acts entitled "The Rape of Belgium" for the first time on any stage. The play is the joint work of Max Marcin, author of "Cheating Cheaters," "The House of Glass," and other successes, and Louis K. Anspacher, author of "The Unchastened Woman." The play will be enacted by as distinguished a company as has ever been assembled in a single play, including such star players as John Mason, Conway Tearle, Olive Wyndham, Malcolm Williams and others. "The Rape of Belgium" promises to reveal as vivid and startling a picture of the Great War as has or will be seen in American theatres. The three acts of the play are laid in France, in a section devastated by the German invasion. Mr. Woods, already noted for plays possessing power and "punch," has never produced a play so replete with spectacular incident, gripping situations and surprises that almost halt the breath. The play will remain at the Shubert Theatre for a limited engagement.

COPLEY THEATRE.—"The Melting Pot," which will be acted at the Copley Theatre during the week of March 25 by the Henry Jewett Players, is the work of Israel Zangwill, one of the most famous of modern English Jewish writers. In "The Melting Pot" Mr. Zangwill tells the story of a visionary Jewish immigrant who has just arrived in this country. After leaving Ellis Island, he becomes a settlement worker on the East side of New York, and the plot deals with his falling in love and the romantic side of his career as well as his efforts to help his fellow immigrants and others of his race in their struggle to set up a new life in the new world. The entire ensemble of the Henry Jewett Players will be in the cast of "The Melting Pot" at the Copley Theatre, and it will be staged under the personal direction of Mr. Jewett. The play to follow during the week of April 1 will be "The Cottage in the Air," a comedy by Edward Knoblauch.

To The American People

There is no foundation for the alleged violations of law attributed to our Company by agents of the Federal Trade Commission and I want to say emphatically that Swift & Company is not a party to any conspiracy to defraud the Government. Nor has Swift & Company been guilty of improperly storing foods or of making false entries or reports.

Conferences of packers, where prices have been discussed, have been held at the urgent request and in the presence of representatives of either the Food Administration or the Council of National Defense. And yet the packers have been accused of committing a felony by acting in collusion on Government bids!

We have done our best, with other packers, large and small, to comply with the directions of the United States Food Administration in all particulars, including the furnishing of food supplies for the U. S. Army and Navy and the Allies, now being handled through the Food Administration.

We will continue to do our utmost, under Government direction, to increase our production and assist the Food Administration. We consider that the opportunity to co-operate wholeheartedly and to our fullest powers with this branch of the Government is our plain and most pressing duty.

The Trade Commission Attorney has, by false inference and misplaced emphasis, given to disconnected portions of the correspondence taken from our private files and read into the Record, a false and sinister meaning with the plain purpose of creating antagonistic public opinion.

The services of the packers of the United States are most urgently needed, and I regret exceedingly that we should at this time have to spend our efforts in defending ourselves against unfounded, unproved, and unfair assertions such as are being daily made public.

NEWTON HIGH SCHOOL

The game between Newton High hockey team, champion of New England, and Erasmus Hall High, champion of New York state, has been definitely arranged for Saturday, March 23, at 7.45 at the Boston Arena. Newton has been practicing almost daily at her best. Although not much is known of the New York team it has beaten several fast squads, among which is West Point and it is safe to say a fast, snappy game will result when the two schools meet. The navy team on which Alphonse La-Croix, last year's captain of Newton, plays, will play the Wanderers the same evening.

A dance for the benefit of the track team will be held in the gym this afternoon from 3 to 5.30.

Wednesday the boys of the school met in the assembly hall, and Mr. Adams read the governor's proclamation setting aside the week of March 18 to 25 as enrollment week of high school boys for farm work.

Mr. Meserve, who was enrolling officer last year, then outlined briefly the hopes of the committee for the coming summer, saying that many more boys would be needed this year than last; that Newton was expected to do her part and that camps for Newton High boys would be started at Walpole and Weston as last year, with Dr. Martin as supervisor at Weston, and Mr. Kidger at Walpole.

Mr. Meserve also said that it had been of interest to him to see the improvement physically and occasionally mentally in the boys who had farmed last year. Two or three of the boys who were in camp last year will leave in the middle of May to lay tent floors, set up tents and in general to get the camp ready for the larger group which will arrive for the most part between June 1 and 15.

The annual dance and reception of the senior class will be held in Temple Hall, Newtonville, April 4 from 8 to 12.

In the girls' interclass basketball series the sophomores beat the freshmen, and the seniors beat the sophomores, and the request of Governor McCall on Thursday morning the students voted for a state flower. Several flowers were proposed, but the mayflower seemed to be the favorite.

FORMER RESIDENT DEAD

Mr. Charles C. Allen, general manager of the eastern division of the Lehigh & Wilkes-Barre Coal Company, which has offices on Milk street, Boston, dropped dead of heart failure at Libbey Hall, Lawrence, Saturday afternoon, while attending the birthday party of a daughter.

Mr. Allen was born in Leominster in 1855, the son of John and Emma (Slater) Allen.

After receiving his education in Newton, he entered the office of Bangs & Horton, Boston, wholesale coal merchants, as stenographer and bookkeeper. He rose steadily, becoming a salesman and finally manager of this division of the Lehigh & Wilkes-Barre Coal Company.

He married Corinne Duval in 1885. She died 18 years ago. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Marie McKellar, of Chester street, Allston, wife of Lieut. Col. Thomas McKellar, of the British army, and Mrs. Corinne Cherry of Calgary, Can., and one son, Charles C. Allen, Jr. The funeral has been delayed to await the arrival of Mrs. Cherry from Canada, and will be held on Sunday at 2 P.M. at his late residence, 1673 Beacon street, Brookline. Rev. Harry Lutz of Channing Church will officiate, and the burial will be in the Newton cemetery.

CHURCH RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions have been adopted by Immanuel Baptist church on the death of their pastor, the Rev. Harrie Rogers Chamberlin:

Whereas, Our beloved pastor, Rev. Harrie Rogers Chamberlin, has been called from the activity of the present life, to enter the rest prepared for the people of God. Therefore be it

Resolved, That we here record our appreciation of his unblemished character as a man, his unselfish devotion as a pastor, his loyalty and cordiality to his friends, his love for humanity, his optimism that was forceful, our sense of loss that no more will feel his hearty handshake; his pleasant words of greeting; his words of wisdom, advice and cheer from the sacred desk, or note his ever cordial presence going in and out among us.

As a worthy example of what a Christian minister should be in these trying times, as a wise counsellor and faithful Christian friend to all, as an earnest seeker of souls for the Master's kingdom, as a specially gifted worker among the young, and a most lovable companion for all who love true Christian fellowship, we here record our earnest convictions.

Resolved, That we here express our sympathy for his beloved wife in her great loss, and our appreciation of her most valuable service in every department of church work, and especially among the young people in Sunday School and Choral Society. Endeavor for which she showed rare wisdom and devotion.

To the parents of Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlin, whom we have learned to know and to love, and to his brother, already enlisted for the war, and his young wife, we extend our loving sympathy, and the Christian hope that we shall all one day meet him who has gone before.

Bereaved as a Church, may the memory of his earnest, loving spirit stimulate us to renewed effort to carry into effect the Christian work he loved and planned for which he lived and died.

Resolved, That a copy of this record be sent to the bereaved wife, Mrs. Elizabeth L. Chamberlin, to his parents, Rev. and Mrs. Carey W. Chamberlin, and his brother, Lieut. Carey J. Chamberlin, and that a copy be placed on the records of this church.

In behalf of the Immanuel Baptist Church of Newton.

THE GREAT DUTY

As we go about our daily tasks in peace and safety, men are dying every minute on the battlefields of Europe to save civilization. Our own gallant soldiers are shedding their blood in France and our sailors engulfed in the waters of the Atlantic as they go in defence of America's rights and honor.

Upon our performance of the work committed to us depend the lives of thousands of men and women, the fate of many nations, the preservation of civilization and humanity itself; and the more efficient and prompt we people of America are in doing our part, the more quickly will this war come to an end and the greater the number of our soldiers and sailors who will be saved from death and suffering and the greater number of the people of other nations released from bondage and saved from death.

To work, to save, to economize, to give financial support to the government is a duty of the nation, and to the world, and it is especially a duty to our fighting men who on land and sea are offering their lives for their country and their countrymen.

Newton has been the recipient of many splendid gifts in the past, and the City Hall site used by West Newton residents, is still fresh in mind. But the offer of the family of the late Isaac T. Burr, with the finishing touch by Mr. Allison Burr, is by far the most generous offer ever tendered for the city. While the value in dollars and cents is most substantial, the benefit to be derived by the children of the present and future generations is beyond estimation, and we feel sure that the gift is most deeply appreciated by every resident of the city.

The playground should be named the Burr Memorial Playground, that future generations may be always reminded of this generous gift.

We hope the men of influence in this city will be exceedingly chary of allowing their names to be used so early in the season as endorsing this, that or the other candidate for Congress in this district. There is good ground for the hope that there may be a strong candidate in the field from Newton, and it is poor judgment to the oneself up to one candidate before the entire list of possibilities is known.

Mayor Childs has made some excellent selections in appointing ex-aldermen Loren D. Towle, Grosvenor Calkins and Joseph B. Jamieson as trustees of the Read and Elliot Memorial Funds. The thanks of the community should be tendered Messrs. Henry B. Day and Frank W. Chase for the good work they have done in that capacity.

The death of Mr. William M. Flanders will be felt in many ways in this city, where he has been active in religious, social and political circles for many years. Always genial, always courteous, always ready to do his share, and more than his share, in every good work, he will be deeply mourned by the entire community.

The thanks of the city are due to Messrs. Henry B. Day and Frank W. Chase for their services for some years as trustees of the Read Fund. Mr. Chase has served since January 1, 1915, and Mr. Day since February 20, 1905.

Prepare to camouflage yourself on Easter Monday.

FESSENDEN SCHOOL

The Fessenden School will close next week on Wednesday for the annual Easter vacation of two weeks. Many of the pupils will go to their homes in Washington, Chicago, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Buffalo and Columbus, O.

The last in the series of assemblies will be held Saturday evening in the gymnasium.

Roy Burnett of Waco, Tex., will spend the vacation with friends at Holyoke, Mass.

On Friday, March 8, the Fessenden Dramatic Club presented "The Gallopers," by Richard Harding Davis. The former cast in their presentation of "She Stoops to Conquer," and "The Rivals," had set a high standard, but through the choice of an excellent play, the successful experiment in "home-made" scenery, and the development of unusual talent, the Club of this year has out-distanced those of former years.

Among the actors, Knowles, Paige and Cooper were perhaps the best fitted for their parts, although the women, war correspondents and Turkish officers all showed considerable dramatic ability. The one difficulty lay in providing the scenery which the action demanded—a difficulty that was bridged over by the combined efforts of Mr. Fessenden, Mr. Stevens and Philip Lasell. At the rise of the curtain in the second act, the port of Athens stood revealed, a wharf and a steamer in the foreground, and the blue waters of the Aegean in the distance. In all there was little to criticize and much to commend, and it was a delightful performance.

Monday evening the annual mothers' meeting of the West Newton Woman's Christian Temperance Union was held with Mrs. George Jenkins of Newtonville.

A large number of members were present and listened with intense interest to Mrs. Celia Wellman, assistant probation officer of the Newton Police Court. Citizens of Newton have reason to feel very thankful that the city has secured such an able woman in this position. She understands human nature as manifested in boys and the best way to deal with it, and succeeds in making both women and children feel that she is a friend and desirous to help them to right living. Her heart is thoroughly in her work.

Ice cream and cake were served by the hostess, and three new members received, making ten since last December.

His Favorite Dish.
"No wonder women go into politics," ventured Mistress Malloch; "men are such brutes and devoid of sentiment. The other night I asked Will, in my sweetest way, what his favorite dish was, and he said, 'The ash-tray.'"

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

In planning club programs for another year leave a large place for music. In these strenuous times the refreshment and inspiration which it brings are needed more than ever. With the whole world being shaken to the very depths, there are few topics of study which seem at all vital, which do not savor of the war. How can we help it? Yet we need to get away from it some of the time, if we are to keep our balance true. What better way than by hearing good music—good music. Yet there is no part of the program which often receives so little attention as the music. Most clubs are very particular about selecting their speakers, not engaging anyone unless some one of the committee has heard or knows about them on good authority, a very safe precaution, but are they as careful when it comes to securing musical talent? Oftentimes some member has a friend who sings and is glad of the opportunity to get experience of singing before a large audience. Without further thought that person is asked because it is not going to cost anything. What is the result? Not at all ways, but so frequently, a high frivolous song not at all suited to the profound intellectual lecture which is to follow, or one about singing birds and blooming flowers in the midst of the worst howling blizzard of the winter. It is a pity that more care is not taken to make the music a component part of the program. Shakespearean music when Shakespeare is the theme, or Browning songs when Browning is the subject. The reader will think of innumerable appropriate combinations.

Another phase of music which is coming to the front at this time is community music. Already some effort is being put forth in this direction right here in Newton. All that is needed is enthusiasm and co-operation to make it a success. Boston university recognizing its value has established a department of the Ministry of Music. Prof. H. Augustine Smith, who occupies that chair, in a recent address related his experience in forming and training chorus choirs in the West side of Chicago. He has become convinced that the characters of these boys and girls, who came from all sorts of homes, had become stronger and better through the redeeming power of good music. He has seen many cases where boys and girls, through their music and singing, have been able to bring higher ideals into their individual homes. He expressed his belief in the good democratic effect of community singing, and felt that in the churches we shall in the future see more congregational singing. He believes in giving children only the finest things to sing, and from his own experience knows it is possible for them to learn to sing difficult music. The grand oratorios with their great climaxes, demand certain qualities which are also military ideals—resoluteness, courage, fearlessness of attack, control, endurance. His experience has led him to conclude that through his community singing without the danger of their becoming militaristic, there can be developed in the children the highest and the finest military ideals.

Books for the Boys

A call has come from the Woman's Council of the Council of National Defense for all women to assist in the drive for books for the cantonments. Again let us look through our shelves and find a few more, even though we thought we had done this in the fall. Take them to the library and they will do the rest.

Clothes for Belgium are also called for this week. If you have a suit already done so, make up your bundle and send it in. For Newton Corner, they may be left at Channing Church.

Local Happenings

At the meeting of the Newton Centre Woman's Club last week Mrs. S.

F. Herron gave a talk upon Home Economics which stimulated considerable discussion in which many of the members took part. This was followed by a demonstration luncheon without butter or wheat or meat, yet delicious and satisfying.

At Friday's meeting of the West Newton Woman's Educational Club an eloquent tribute was paid by Mrs. George G. Phipps to the memory of Mrs. H. B. Gibbs, the late recording secretary, and appropriate resolutions were adopted. Dr. Alice H. Robie of the Public Health department of the State Federation brought an official message to club mothers on very vital questions of the day.

Mrs. H. B. Walker of Newton Highlands gave a delightful talk on "The man, the man," thus enabling the club to have another of the old-time programs which are so enjoyable.

Mrs. W. J. Bicknell was hostess for the last meeting of the Shakespeare Club of the Newton Highlands on Saturday. The last two acts of The Merchant of Venice were read and discussed under the direction of Mrs. Lewis.

The Travel Class met on Monday at the home of Mrs. Holbrook, Newtonville. Mrs. Church presented a comprehensive paper on the resources of Russia, and Mrs. Hayden followed with one equally interesting on the religion of that country. The next meeting is to be held with Mrs. Dickerman.

This week's meeting of the Newton Highlands C.L.S.C. was held with Miss Mary E. Hyde of Floral street. The study of "The Great Divide" of William Vaughn Moody was continued, two acts being read and discussed.

The regular meeting of the Auburndale Review Club was held Tuesday morning, March 19, at the home of Miss Margaret Haskell, on Vista avenue.

The program consisted of the presentation of the opera Mignon by readings, tableaux and vitrola music. Mrs. Charles A. J. Smith was chairman of the program. Mrs. Fisher, H. H. Longfellow and Mrs. J. Emory Clapp, members of the club, and by Mrs. Philip Dunbar, Mrs. Austin W. Fisher, Mrs. J. Arthur Furbish, and Miss Natalie Longfellow, who are not members of the club but most kindly gave their assistance.

Mrs. Smith read an outline of the opera, and then in charge of the music and tableaux while Mrs. Longfellow read from the libretto. The opening music was the overture of Mignon, and the closing selection was Mignon's Prayer.

Eight tableaux were given, accompanied by music from the opera. Mrs. Clapp took the part of Lotario; Mrs. Dunbar, Mignon; Mrs. Fisher, Philina; Mrs. Furbish, Guglielmo; Miss Longfellow, Gypsy Boy. The parts were exceedingly well taken, and the program was much enjoyed by a large audience of members and friends.

At the meeting of the Brightelmstone Club on Monday there was a brief memorial service for a beloved member, Mrs. Louise Henry, who died suddenly on March 8 at her home in Winthrop.

The Civics committee announced an auction party at the clubhouse April 5, at 2 P.M. The Hospitality committee has arranged a card party for Friday, April 12, at 8 P.M. The House committee sold club stationery and the Education committee Easter cards. A report of the morning session of the State Federation meeting, written by Mrs. J. F. Low, chairman of the Legislative committee, was read by the corresponding secretary.

The program for the afternoon was in charge of the Art and Literature committee, Mrs. A. C. Armstrong chairman, who presented as the speaker, Miss Constance Woodbury, the daughter of a past president of the club. Miss Woodbury presented a brilliant paper upon "The Early Literature of France," which commanded the close attention of her many friends present. A social hour in the tea room followed.

Prof. Leo Wiener of Harvard addressed the Newtonville Woman's Guild at its meeting on Tuesday afternoon, in which he gave an entertaining and encouraging view of Russia. He traced the elements which went into the stock of the old Huns and Teutons and the Russians. He is perfectly satisfied to let Germany go on and take what it will of Russia, for he is confident that it is going to lie like a stone upon her stomach.

On Wednesday the Social Science Club spent a delightful morning in company with Mrs. James Richard Carter on her trip from Peru to Panama. The journey began at Cuzco in old Peru, 14,440 feet above sea level, from there Arequipa was visited, thence to Lima and by steamer to the Pacific to Panama, where the canal was at that time in process of construction. The barrenness of the west coast was dwelt upon, the vast extent of country where one is literally alone with nature, the beauty and surprising modern note of the city of Lima. The antiquity of that city impressed with its university flourishing a half century before the first settlement at Jamestown in Virginia. Earthquake, fire, and war have left few traces of the early Spanish settlers. The largest cathedral of the western hemisphere is at Lima although Mrs. Carter considered the Opera House the most beautiful. A detailed description was given of the trip upon the highest railway in the world, which leads to the mining region three miles in the air. There is a four per cent. grade, with no rack line at any point, and 16 switchbacks. The cost of construction was $300,000 a mile.

Panama was described as a lovely old Spanish town. Of the construction of the Canal one thing with which she was particularly impressed was the way apparent obstacles were made to serve very important purposes.

The whole paper was full of the human side of travel, bringing out the points one enjoys hearing.

Newton Federation Board

At the meeting of the Executive Board of the Newton Federation on Monday encouraging features of the luncheon were reported by the Education committee. Through the recommendation from the Social Service committee gifts were voted, $25 for the West Newton Music School, and $15 to Twombly House at Upper Falls. Plans for the program of the Patriotic Fete, which will be held in early June, are in the hands of the Social Service committee. The president was made a delegate to the biennial at Hot Springs, Ark., with power to appoint the other or her own substitute, if she is unable to go herself.

Mrs. F. E. Stanley reported the State Federation meeting at Chelsea. Miss Eleanor Joslin outlined briefly a course in dressmaking, which is offered by the State Commission if twenty women desire it. The ballot as prepared for next year was presented and a copy will be sent each club.

NEWTON BRANCH SPECIAL AID SOCIETY

The regular monthly open meeting of the Newton Branch of the Special Aid Society for American Preparedness was held on March 15 at Y. M. C. A. Hall and was fairly well attended.

Mrs. White, chairman of the Canteen Committee, spoke of the Herald-Traveler Food Exhibit to be held in Mechanics Hall the first two weeks in April. The eleventh is to be Newton Day, and on that date six or eight Newton ladies will be in charge of the Canteen.

Mrs. Moore, in charge of the sewing and knitting, reported that the work was rapidly progressing, that seventy pairs of socks were turned in last week, as well as many finished garments.

However, the sort of "special aid" that the society likes best to give, it gave this week in answer to a call which came to one of its members, for the men of the 305th. The call came early in the week for 41 "comfort bags," and by Friday morning the bags were made, filled, and ready to go. Each bag, besides the usual toilet articles, contained one pair of socks and a practical little sewing bag, the latter made and given by the Girl Scouts. Each kit contains also a small khaki-bound Testament, the gift of the Y.M.C.A. through the effort of Mr. Bascom. The ladies are realizing more and more each week the advantages gained in being the guests of the Y.M.C.A., and they greatly appreciate the privilege.

Mrs. William E. Jones, of the Hospitality committee, said that the number of our sailor boys to be entertained had much increased, owing to the interest taken in the plan by the officers and chaplains; they think it a great factor for good and thoroughly appreciate the effort made to give the boys a bit of home comfort and cheer.

After the reading of the reports, the chairman introduced the speaker, Mr. Howard N. Selby, of Springfield, who explained the "Four Square" plan, which is a practical system applied to the retail merchandising of food products, which provides for a charge for products and special or separate charge for service. By applying this system the merchant is enabled to reduce the cost of operating his business and consequently reduce the cost of the product to the consumer.

Mr. Selby is a most enthusiastic advocate of this system, and hopes to convert the merchants and housekeepers to its use.

NEWTON CENTRE RED CROSS HOUSE

Wednesday, March 13, the Newton Centre Red Cross House was open to everyone from 4 until 9 P.M. Every department was at work, and all the different kinds of work made in the house were on exhibition. The knitting which is done outside also was displayed, and an interesting feature was the stocking and sweater machine being operated. The junior department and the young girls on the baby layette were also at work. Since September 12, 1917, when the house first opened, with a total of 3,341 workers we have made 71,335 surgical dressings.

In the sewing department we have made 2,236 garments, and 2,121 knitted articles, which are made by all outside the house. The junior department has made 2,215 articles and 2,831 trench coats. The number of guests during the afternoon and evening were approximately 375. We feel the day was a grand success, and thank the ladies and children for their very willing help. We hope the results of our labors will be many more workers, better results and greater financial support. More monthly contributors are desired, so that our regular income may be increased and special gifts, even small, will be appreciated.

W.C.T.U.

Monday evening the annual mothers' meeting of the West Newton Woman's Christian Temperance Union was held with Mrs. George Jenkins of Newtonville.

A large number of members were present and listened with intense interest to Mrs. Celia Wellman, assistant probation officer of the Newton Police Court. Citizens of Newton have reason to feel very thankful that the city has secured such an able woman in this position. She understands human nature as manifested in boys and the best way to deal with it, and succeeds in making both women and children feel that she is a friend and desirous to help them to right living. Her heart is thoroughly in her work.

Ice cream and cake were served by the hostess, and three new members received, making ten since last December.

His Favorite Dish.
"No wonder women go into politics," ventured Mistress Malloch; "men are such brutes and devoid of sentiment. The other night I asked Will, in my sweetest way, what his favorite dish was, and he said, 'The ash-tray.'"

WHILE NERO "FIDDLES" ROME BURNS

It is a far cry to hearken back to this historic scene of the destruction of Rome, to point a moral or seek a parallel to illustrate present-day conditions. Perhaps it is the combined elements of serious loss and suffering, irreparability of power and the touch of ludicrous self-complacency of the "fiddler" which prompts the thought that our present-day rulers and populace have really not progressed as much as we pride ourselves in believing.

For more than three years it has been evident that the street railways of the country were drifting towards receivership or bankruptcy. The signs of the impending trouble were as clear as day. It was evident in the money market as in the deteriorated service which was making itself felt on every railway.

With all the confusion and procrastination, arising from investigations and hearings; legislative expedients for responsible action; expert diagnosis and quick and easy remedies; railway statistics and explanatory excuses; the every-day patron of the railways was no wiser, because he knew all the time what the real trouble was.

Every time he hired a mechanic or laborer, paid his grocery bill or was notified of another increase in the price of milk or coal or flour or a hundred other necessities, he knew, but ignored the meaning of all these irrefutable arguments of why he was getting poorer and more unsatisfactory railway service. He knew that his money would only buy about half as much in living commodities as in previous years. He also knew that the money which the railways collected from its patrons had no more purchasing power than his own.

He also knew it was useless for him to try to fight against the law of supply and demand in a free market, and, therefore, when his groceryman, milk dealer, coal dealer, and plumber sent in their increasing charges, he paid them, although not necessarily, cheerfully.

But with the railway companies, it was a different proposition, there he was boss of the situation. The man whom he elected controlled the price of his railway service, even though they could not control the cost of what the railways had to buy to supply his service. And here, with all the fatuousness of the Roman "fiddler" who witnessed the destruction of his city and the homes of his people they have stood by and through their indifference, or worse, allowed their railway service and all their facilities which were absolutely essential to their comfort and convenience, to deteriorate and go from bad to worse, until today conditions are almost intolerable.

It is the voting public that controls the transportation situation today. It is for them to decide whether they want good service or poor service. They know, perhaps more forcibly today than ever before, that they can't get something for nothing.

It would make no difference to the public whether the railway companies, the state, the municipalities operated their transportation service, in the end they would have to pay for what it cost to the last cent. It is forced home today as never before that the ultimate consumer pays the bill.

The question of better street railway service is wholly in the hands of the voting public. Their representatives in the legislatures and on the commissions are there to carry out their will.

By the recommendation of the special recess commission in favor of the "service-at-cost" scheme, workable and practical plans are now before their representatives in the Massachusetts legislature, which, if carried out, will mean that the traveling public of this state will get what it is willing to justly provide for.

It is for every rider in the state to show how earnest he is in his desire for better railway service.

Let him wake up from his delusion of thinking he can get something for nothing, and register his desire for, and interest in, good service, so that his representative in the legislature will understand that he is ready to deal with a business proposition in a business way.

Then and not until then can he have the service he should have had long ago, had he been willing to pay for its cost.

The proposition is as simple as that two and two make four, and any attempt to prove to the contrary simply ends in failure as does the effort of the railways to give satisfactory service at less than cost.—The Street Railway Bulletin.

THE LIBERTY LOAN HONOR FLAG

A new and distinctive feature will be introduced in the Third Liberty Loan campaign, and every city or town in the country which subscribes more than its quota of Liberty bonds will be awarded by the Treasury Department an Honor Flag.

The flag will be 36 inches wide and 54 inches long. The body of the flag will be white with a broad red border, and three broad blue vertical stripes denoting the Third Loan. The flags, which will be of the same quality as the flags of the Navy, are already being manufactured and will be awarded as fast as the right to fly them is won. Though awarded by the Treasury Department, they will be distributed by the Liberty loan committees of the different districts.

There will also be a National Honor Flag for each state, to be flown at the state capital, with the name of each town winning a flag inscribed upon it. There will be also preserved in the United States Treasury a National Honor Flag, with the record of each state recorded on it.

Stars, to be placed on the flag of each city or town doubling its quota, will also be awarded, and an additional star for each time the quota is doubled.

An Honor Roll, containing the names of all subscribers, but not the amount of the individual subscriptions, will be kept in each community. A window card, bearing a representation of the Honor Flag, will be given each subscriber to the loan, to be displayed at the home or place of business.

THE SOLDIER'S FATHER

John E. Hannigan, an attorney with the Boston Elevated Railway Company, at a recent meeting of the Clover Club of Boston, in response to the toast, "The Fathers of Our Soldiers," finely expressed the following intensely patriotic and noble thought:

"What can one say, when one's only son, in whom one's dreams and hopes and life are bound up, has gone over there to France to stay, perhaps forever—but who is over there to see that at any cost that flag is kept flying? What can one say?"

"One can say this—that a million other fathers tonight are saying, consciously or unconsciously—that it is the one pride and glory of my life that if by my own strength and life are of no value to my country in her fighting line I can at least give a son, and a son who needed no word from me to give himself.

"Hopes and ambitions! Why, I never dreamed anything so sublime, I never imagined a destiny for my son so great as that which he has achieved. He is wearing the uniform of an American soldier; he is interposing his arm and breast between his country and his country's enemies. Nay—he is wearing the livery of heaven. He is fighting for God."

WHO WILL ENTERTAIN?

From the dozen or so of our naval stations, forts and training centers near Boston, there comes the request that we double our home entertainment for the men of our army and navy. The call comes from the chaplains, from the officers and from the men themselves.

These men are the flower of the country, they are asking us for a glimpse of our homes in Newton. We are asking them to go out to death or disfigurement more appalling than death, that these homes may be safe.

We who stay behind cannot afford to miss the privilege of wishing them God's speed.

Will any who can entertain over the week-end, especially April 6 or 13, please communicate with Mrs. A. C. Burnham, 15 Bracebridge road, Newton Centre, chairman of Newton Centre Committee on Training Camp Activities.

NEWTON VOCATIONAL SCHOOL

The speakers at the Monday morning assemblies for the next few weeks will be as follows:

May 6, Miss Mary Hopkins, Success March 25, Mr. Arthur A. Shurtliff, City Planning.

April 8, Hon. George H. Ellis, Farm Work in War Time.

BRIEF MEETING

The important feature of the meeting of the aldermen Monday evening was the generous offer of the heirs of the late Isaac T. and Anne F. Burr of the Burr homestead on Park street, Newton, for a public playground, and the offer of Mr. Allston Burr to place the property in shape for use as a playground, substantially as outlined in the Graphic last week.

The mayor also sent in the name of Alderman John W. Murphy as a principal assessor, to fill out the term of the late Lewis E. Coffin, and the appointment of ex-aldermen Loren D. Towle, Grosvenor Calkins and Joseph B. Jamieson as trustees of the Read and Eliot Memorial Funds, in place of Henry B. Day and Frank W. Chase resigned, and Mitchell Wing, deceased.

The mayor also forwarded communications from the Board of Health recommending a payment of $4000 to Wm. H. Mague in addition to the contract price for collecting garbage, and requesting that the collection of garbage be transferred to some other department.

President Early was in the chair, and Aldermen Blake, Kendrick, Murphy and Tuttle were absent.

No one appeared at a hearing on petition of R. I. Dwyer to increase to 1000 gallons the amount of gasoline kept at 371 Washington street.

Betterment assessments on Hale street, Moffat road and Brewster road were apportioned, and petitions received for acceptance of Rossmore road, relative to assessments on Hale street and Moffat road, and on petition of John Finelli for a common victualler's license on Adams street, and from the N. H. Improvement Association in regard to heat and light at the branch library in that village.

On reports from committee, leave to withdraw was granted to protests against betterment assessments on Hale street and Moffat road, and on petition of John Finelli for a common victualler's license.

The telephone company was granted relocation of poles on Centre street, and permission to remove poles from Beacon and Nahanton streets.

Ten thousand dollars additional was granted for interest on temporary loans, and $441 for an adding machine for the city treasurer.

 16 SO. MARKET ST. BOSTON, MASS.

The report of the buildings committee recommending that a committee of two be appointed to confer with the school committee, school officials and the Woman's Club in regard to lunchroom conditions at the High School aroused some discussion, as Alderman Forknall opposed the idea of going outside the regular committee. Alderman Clarke explained that the original figure of $6000 had been cut in half, and he had heard that possibly $1400 might be enough to do all the necessary work. The president subsequently appointed Alderman Angier and Clark on the committee.

The following appointments sent in by the mayor at the preceding meeting were then confirmed: Dr. C. A. Boutelle, inspector of animals; Harold Moore, assistant assessor; Wm. J. Doherty, registrar of voters for 3 years; and Henry Baily, as chairman board of assessors.

A workmen's compensation of $12 a week was granted John H. Lane. Alderman Hapgood invited the board to be present at visitors' night of the Newton Company State Guard, to be held at the State Armory on April 2.

The following men were drawn for jury service at Cambridge: Geo. W. Bucknam, Lincoln street, Charles M. Bryson, Hawthorne street, Edw. L. Rugg, Rice street, Chas. E. Hodges, Churchill street, J. Ernest Mitchell, Commonwealth avenue, and Horace W. Hall, Beacon street.

fail, and then have the legislature in January ratify the expressed will of the people. Massachusetts in that case would perhaps be the fourteenth or fifteenth state to ratify.

Are you urging me to vote for ratification because you are afraid of defeat at the polls? If so, we in the legislature have no right to ratify the amendment against the wish of the majority.

But we may be sure we would not lose. In times like these the people are aroused to a realization of the need of safeguarding in very way the social and moral life of the community. The liquor dealers know that the tide has turned against them. Of course, they put their hope in a referendum, but it is a forlorn hope. If we do not accept their challenge, we miss the opportunity to prove our strength. Our real problem is not going to be to ratify the amendment, but to enforce it. Are we so sure of our ability to enforce it that we can afford to pass up this opportunity to demonstrate that public sentiment is with us. In our eagerness to pass the amendment, are we not forgetting that the enforcement of any law, and especially a law directly involving the exercise of personal rights, depends on the sanction of the people.

If any are fearful that the legislature would not follow the expressed will of the people, they are unduly alarmed. In more than three years of service in the legislature I have seen the liquor interests defeated in every fight they have waged. The necessary votes to win for national prohibition are not wanting, but the strenuous effort of the movement for national prohibition is being divided here, as in New York, by insisting on immediate ratification.

Members who have never voted with liquor interests in any issue, are conscientiously in favor of the referendum. Representative Armitage of Cambridge, who introduced the resolution for the so-called "fake" referendum, has always voted with Mr. Weston and myself against the liquor interests. How idle to call his proposal a "fake" referendum and a straw vote. Every vote by the people under the "public opinion act" is a straw vote in the sense that it does not have the force and effect of law. When the people have spoken by referendum on national prohibition, the position of Massachusetts will be known and will have its effect in every state in the Union.

In conclusion, let me say that I appreciate the spirit in which you have written me, and many others who have urged me if I can conscientiously do so to vote for immediate ratification. To all such I say that if I am convinced that a majority of the people in Newton desire the state committed to the amendment in advance of an expression of the people's will, I will be reluctant to follow my own belief in the justice of a referendum. But there are some zealots who write me that if I do not vote for immediate ratification, they will not only vote against me next fall but will work to prevent my re-election. To these I can only reply that the high standing of Newton's representatives in the General Court in the past has been due to their singleness of purpose in voting according to their convictions without regard for consequences. This has been my inheritance, and the public service will lose its attraction for me when I have to vote by attrition, with my eye on the ballot box.

Very respectfully yours,
J. WESTON ALLEN.

ORAM-UHLER

A very charming home wedding was solemnized on Saturday evening in Newton when Miss Marjorie Uhler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Frank Uhler of Nonantum street, was united in marriage to Mr. Hugh Pigott Oram of Cleveland, O. The rooms were decorated most attractively for the occasion with palms and spring flowers. The ceremony was performed at half past eight by Rev. H. Grant Person, pastor of Eliot church.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and wore a beautiful wedding gown of silver cloth in combination with white tulle. Her bouquet was a full shower of lilies of the valley. She was attended by Mrs. William S. B. Cram of Belmont as matron of honor, who was gowned in pink satin and carried a bouquet of pink Killarney roses and freesia. The ring bearers were Master G. Frank Cram and Master W. Bartlett Cram of Belmont.

The bridegroom was assisted by Mr. William Burnham Uhler, U.S.W.R., as best man. As the bridal party assembled, the wedding march was played by an orchestra.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony, and in the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Uhler, Mrs. C. P. Oram and Mrs. Cram. Mr. and Mrs. Oram will reside in Cleveland, O.

DEATH OF MRS. GLOVER

Mrs. Marion Agnes Glover, wife of Earl S. Glover of West Newton, passed away on Monday, March 18th, at the Newton Hospital.

Mrs. Glover was born in Kingston, N. Y., 21 years ago and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Richardson of West Newton. She is survived by her husband, and an infant son, Earl Sanger Glover, Jr.

The funeral was held Thursday afternoon at the residence of her parents on Highland avenue. Rev. Thomas S. Roy, pastor of the Lincoln Park Baptist Church, conducted an impressive service at half-past two. "The End of A Perfect Day," and other sacred selections, were sung by the Pilgrim Quartet of Boston.

There were many beautiful floral tributes and the burial was in the Newton Cemetery.

DYNAMITE FOUND

Michael McDonald of 162 Warren street, Newton Centre, found a bag on Wednesday containing dynamite and fuses on the property of Lieut. C. Sinclair Weeks, Lenox street, corner of Highland. He brought it to police headquarters and it was found to contain 9 sticks of dynamite, a box of caps and a coil of fuse.

UNDER THE GILDED DOME

One of the interesting features of the legislative work this week was the divided report of Federal Relations favoring the referendum bill in the matter of national prohibition. This bill calls for a referendum to the people at the state election this fall on the question whether or not the legislature should ratify the prohibition amendment to the national constitution. The bill is said to be in the interests of the liquor dealers, although there are many men in the legislature who sincerely believe in the ratification of the amendment, but who prefer to obtain an expression of the voters on the matter first. The committee were 6 to 5 in favor of the referendum instead of immediate ratification, and the closeness of the committee vote probably indicates as close a vote in the Senate and House.

Some Red Cross matches are being planned which will be arranged later at a meeting of the board of directors. Mrs. William H. Lucas, who is a house guest at Brae Burn, is visiting relatives in Brookline for a few days. Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Ayer entertained the captain of the U.S.S. Virginia at luncheon on Sunday at the Club.

DEATH OF MRS. LAMSON

Mrs. Anna Sanderson Lamson, the widow of the late George W. Lamson, died last evening at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George H. Snyder on Hunnewell terrace, Newton, after a brief illness of less than a week with pneumonia. Mrs. Lamson, who was born in Boston 74 years ago, has been a home in this city for over fifty years. For many years Mr. and Mrs. Lamson were the proprietors of the Central House, which was located in Nonantum square, but for the past fifteen years she has made her home with her daughter, who is her sole survivor. Although Mrs. Lamson has been nearly blind of recent years, she was always cheerful and always active, and she will be greatly missed by a large circle of friends.

Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, at the residence of Mr. George H. Snyder, 229 Hunnewell terrace, Newton.

THE CENTRAL CLUB

The Central Club observed its annual ladies' night on Wednesday evening in the parlors of Central Congregational church, Newtonville, and about 150 members and their guests participated in the pleasant occasion. Coxswain Jack Hyde gave a very stirring and inspiring address on "The Call of the Hour." President Russell C. Gibbs introduced the speaker.

After the speaking, refreshments were served by a committee under the chairmanship of Mr. F. L. Edmunds.

The meeting was very successful and was greatly enjoyed by all present.

The next meeting of the Club will be held on Thursday evening, April 18, and Lieut.-Gov. Calvin H. Coolidge will be the speaker.

This will be the annual meeting, and the officers for the ensuing year will be elected.

Among the artists will be Miss Helen Leonard, violinist, Miss Alice White, pianist, Mr. Leon Van Vleet, cellist, Mr. Joseph Holden, baritone, Dr. Fenderson, reader, Miss Bennett, accompanist.

The final number will be a medley of soldier songs sung by the audience assisted by the Highland Glee Club and all the soloists.

LADIES' NIGHT

Annual Banquet of Newton Board of Trade a Great Success

The annual banquet and ladies' night of the Newton Board of Trade, held last week Thursday in Temple Hall, Newtonville, was a most auspicious occasion, nearly 200 members and guests being present.

The lighter features of the evening were provided by the M. Millie Beardsley Concert Company, readings by Miss Bertha Everett Morgan, and witty remarks by Mr. James C. Higgins.

After a most appetizing menu, served by Paxton's had been discussed, President Sidney R. Porter, who acted as toastmaster, presented Mayor Edwin O. Childs as the first speaker, and the mayor made an eloquent address on conditions occasioned by the war.

Vice-president Henry I. Harriman, of the Newton Board of Aldermen and president of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, said that only by co-ordination and complete sympathy could the greatest good be accomplished in any community. He spoke of the future development of Boston as a port and was most optimistic in his belief that the channels of trade started during the war would be lasting thereafter. He cited the Castle-Newton bridge project, over the Hudson river, which would help in great measure to bring about Boston's development as a port. Speaking of New England's industry he said that 90 per cent. of her manufacturers were within 30 miles of tidewater, which meant that shipping here will be very highly developed in the near future. In connection with this development he said that it was interesting to note that a Boston company with a citizen of Newton as its engineer had just received an order for 50 concrete barges, an experiment that is not new, as concrete barges are already used with entire success.

Mr. Harriman among many other things touched upon the trolley problem and of the service at cost plan as worked out in Cleveland, O., which he said means really a partnership between the travelling public and the company, a reasonable dividend and a reasonable service.

Hon. Guy A. Ham, one of the most eloquent men in the state, was the third speaker.

The banquet committee was comprised of John H. Gordon, chairman, Maurice E. Beardsley, John W. Byers, W. U. Fogwill, G. Whitney Hubbard, Burt M. Rich, H. Wilson Ross and Walter Winn together with the officers and directors of the board.

LEAVE FOR AYER

Another quota of Newton young men left West Newton this noon for Camp Devens at Ayer under orders from the Local Exemption Board.

The men were summoned to headquarters at 9 o'clock, and marched to the front of City Hall, accompanied by a band, a delegation of Charles Ward Post veterans, and a large number of school children.

At the City Hall there were addresses by Hon. George S. Smith and General James G. White of Newton Centre, and a brief farewell by Mayor Edwin O. Childs.

The men were then given a luncheon at police headquarters and left on the 12.30 train for Framingham, Concord Junction and Ayer.

NEWTON LAD KILLED

Mr. Nathan, son of Nathan and Mrs. Nathan, of Newton, who was killed last Friday, while taking part in an air raid in France. The young man was born Jan. 21, 1897, in Boston, and had resided in Newton Centre for the greater part of his life. He graduated from "Newton" High School in 1915, where he was active in athletics, and entered Dartmouth College, later transferring to Technology, where he was elected president of the class of 1920.

When the United States entered the war Nathan enlisted in the aviation branch of the army and received his ground training at Miami, Fla. Later his training took him to Berkeley, Calif., Oxford and Stamford, Eng., and Ayer, Scotland. He was at Ayer when he received his commission as lieutenant.

ALL-AMERICA PARADE

Children and Parents Take Notice

The members of the Newton "Thrift Army," organized in the Bigelow, Stearns and Peirce public schools, have been invited to take part in the big "Patriotic Parade" Saturday afternoon April 6, in Boston.

These "Regiments" will be taken in on special cars—Bigelow and Stearns children by trolley, and Peirce contingent by train, in the charge of principals teachers and volunteer assistants, and returned home the same way.

Parents who desire information may confer with Mrs. Cabot Stevens at 550 Centre street. Parents are invited to join these Regiments for the parade.

The Stearns Regiment and parents must report Friday, April 4 at 9 A.M. at Stearns school for instructions.

The Bigelow contingent at 11 A.M. Friday, April 4, at Bigelow school.

The Peirce contingent at 2.30 P.M. Friday, April 4, at Peirce school.

Let Newton make a big showing. It is hoped our mayor may head this Newton division. If it is not convenient for any child to bring carfare, it must be reported, Friday, April 4.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

The ministers of Newton churches wish to remind the people that the Daylight Saving law goes into effect at 2 A.M. on Sunday so that all services on Easter will be one hour earlier than usual. It is hoped that there may be no confusion to detract from the impressiveness of the services of this important day. The safest way would be to set the timepieces ahead an hour Saturday evening before retiring.

ROLL OF HONOR

Graduates of the Newton High Schools Who Are Serving Their Country

The following list of graduates and former members of the Newton Classical High School has been prepared for the purpose of getting a Service Flag for the school. There are no doubt many errors in the list and it is desired that anyone who notices any such may report the same to Mr. C. D. Meserve, Newton High School, Newtonville.

The following is a list, as nearly complete as it has been possible to make, of the graduates and former pupils of the Newton Technical High School, who are in the military or naval service of the United States. No effort has been made to designate those who hold rank as commissioned or non-commissioned officers, nor to indicate the many who are already overseas. Inasmuch as a number of the boys were some time members of both high schools, a few of the names in this list will appear also on the Classical high school's roll of honor.

WHERE'S PENSACOLA?

Do We Fully Realize the Seriousness of the War?

In our tent at Plattsburgh, one said, "I'm from De Huniak Springs near Pensacola." Where's Pensacola? was the rejoinder. No one knew.

Company A of the Newton Constabulary has recently raised a fund for the Special Aid Auxiliary of the Red Cross. One of the fund committee asked if the Constabulary "amounted to anything." "Not much," was the reply, "but it is better than nothing." "Shoot him for a traitor," you say; but first consider that at Plattsburgh they drilled from seven to eight hours daily, and at the end of the month nearly all the men agreed that all they knew was that they did not know anything. Hour for hour, it will take us two years to equal their proficiency, or four years, allowing fifty per cent. average of attendance. Another said, "The people of Newton think this war is to be won by the Constabulary and the Boy Scouts, and a third—one of considerable military experience—said, "It is a social club." He was right. It is. You remember the old volunteer fire brigade of two generations back, the rope pull, the hand brakes, the all-night sessions knee deep in mud and water, the early morning coffee? What a village forum! Here we have it.

In a military way, we amount to little beyond our disposition, which is that of the minute man of '76. How much such minute men can accomplish in modern war is quite open to question. Our actual job is to do the village chores. The best of these thus far is the raising of the recent fund for Special Aid Supplies. Let us not think that this was a great achievement. We have heard it spoken of as "wonderful." Just a few weeks since I heard an American woman from France say that what New England had done for France was "wonderful, equal to all the rest of the country combined." As a matter of fact, New England gave the crumbs from her groaning tables, and Newtonville has given one per cent. of her income to bind up the wounds of those who are giving their lives for us.

Let us even go further and ask ourselves if the campaign was really a success. At one of our preliminary meetings, one said, "Do you know a hundred men in Newtonville who will give ten dollars a month each?" "Yes, well, there you have it, twelve thousand dollars." Would that method have been a success? Do you know ten men who would have given one hundred dollars each per month? Yes, but would that method have been a success? Is it not true that we were seeking something else beside money, the heartfelt co-operation of every one in the community?

Suppose a church needs to raise a few thousand dollars for its current expenses. It may say to the congregation: "You are provided with music, sermon, and the forms of worship. You must pay just as you would pay for a concert." Or the church may say, "The reason for our existence as a church is to foster a spirit of giving up the little things for the sake of the bigger things of life. If the congregation would like to give up some little things in order to help the church, we can use, not indeed an indefinite amount, for our entire need is only a few thousand dollars, but from each a sum proportioned to his ability and desire, and the claims of other funds and necessities." In the former case we might have a church rich, but resentful, or indifferent—one in which no spiritual enthusiasm ever found its way; in the latter, we might find a church in which devotion and self-denial were nurtured.

The very purpose for which we went out was to arouse an eager enthusiasm to help those boys lying out there in No Man's Land, bring them in on the stretcher, wrap them in bandages or help the women make them; if we could do none of these, saw wood—an hour a month. We were to bridge across the deep and send the soldier home, and care, their thought returning hither urges stern resolve and prayer.

We were told to "ask for five dollars a month in the expectation that the subscriber would cut it down to half that amount." What is the Philosophy underlying that plan? Is it not the ideal of the market, one pulling one way, one the other? Our job should have been to make the people feel that we were all pulling together—the man who gave ten cents and the man who gave ten dollars. Did you ever hear Dowdie? "Pass the plate again. Put in your five spots. Don't insult the Lord with your nickels!" He got money, but did he get the greater thing?

Imagine a C.O. saying, "We need some trenches dug. Go around among the men and ask as many as possible to give five hours' work, in the expectation that they will cut it down one-half." The officer would never think of making such a request because he knows that all his men have given all their time and effort, once for all, to the end in view, and that all he has to do is to specify how much is called for at the particular occasion. Our civilian population must be roused to the same pitch of devotion. Let us not go out "for all the money we can get," but knowing that everyone who is able will want to help, ask for the exact amount that we need.

"The women do not know how much they want but believe that they can use at present one thousand dollars a month, which would mean an average of one dollar a month from every family in Newtonville."

I fear that we lost our great opportunity, if we treated those on whom we called as buyers on the other side of the counter who were to be forced to "come across" with all possible funds. We ought to have vaulted that counter and made the great feel that we are all in the same box together, that we were addressing him as friends and not as wheedling salesmen. It was not a "selling proposition" but a service proposition.

When I hear the word "wonderful" applied to such work as ours, I ask myself, "Are we children that such flattery is necessary?" When one of the speakers at our mass meeting suggested that we had been somewhat heroic to turn out in the wild storm of the previous night, we knew that it had been a fine night for a walk, that we had enjoyed a pleasant tramp on a springy road in a light snow-fall, made a call and received light refreshments. Let us not confuse ourselves and others concerning hardships and heroism. And that mass meeting, what a contrast to one of Germans with the resonant "Hoch, hoch," and their red-hot esprit du corps! How they would have scorned us if they had been there! Was the air vibrant? Was the speaker's whole soul in his words? Was the music inspiring to patriotism? Was all calculated to make us realize the stern reality? Unless we can answer these questions in the affirmative, we should pause before calling it a success. In addition to raising the funds, which any other body of citizens could do, our business is to make the people grasp the war. How is that possible when we do not realize it ourselves? It is our business to think war, talk war, read war and dream war. Nothing else matters till the war is over.

To inform us about the war an assortment of new war books was recently put on sale in the Red Cross rooms and advertised. So now was the sale that at the expiration of a reasonable time, a large number of copies was returned to the publishers, who had made a very liberal discount, realizing the educational value of the plan. At the same time a considerable number of copies was sent to a small village in Canada. In one day this village sold as many as we had sold in several weeks. Of a truth we do not realize the war.

How many of us have read Curtin's book that set all England asking, "Curtin, Curtin, who's Curtin?" (The Dorchester school teacher.) How many have wondered who wrote "Christine," as all England wondered? How many have wept over "The Worn Doorstep," the book of an American woman to which the New York Times gave such unusual praise? How completely have we digested Cheradame, the man who gave Wilson the material for his Flag Day address and his message? And has your boy read "Carry On," the book that every American should read, written by our Tautou boy?

That little Canadian village of less than one thousand people gives ten thousand dollars a year to the Red Cross. Newton's equivalent would be seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars, or about one dollar a month from each person. It is worth considering whether it would not be a proper work for the Constabulary to raise such a fund in our city by the methods indicated above, for all our war relief organizations, to be disbursed by a competent representative committee of the citizens. Sooner or later we must eliminate frivolous and wasteful ways of raising money, this continuing succession of small funds after each of which we feel compelled and ready to congratulate ourselves if we have given one per cent. of our income. We ought rather to recall that many who are offering their lives are also losing each thousands of dollars yearly in salaries; we must give, not one per cent. but twenty-five, fifty or seventy-five per cent. of our incomes, and we must stop all the child's play. Our duty is to foster a spirit in Newton such as France showed when her women rushed forward and tore off their jewels to throw into the war chest. A giant stands before us and says, "Your money or your life." Our people must so realize that they will fall over one another in their eagerness to help.

I cut drill one Monday to hear a speaker who has always addressed crowded houses in Newton. His very first remarks voiced my thought. "Your physical training is all very good, but it is not to be compared to the courage with your mental preparedness." He went on to say that he had been disappointed in Empey because he told the American people what they wanted to hear and not what they ought to hear. Let us tell the people of Newton what they ought to hear.

What's Pensacola, possibly the second best harbor on our coast. Among seven middle-aged men, several doubtless from college, none could answer. What do we know about our country or our war? A German exhibited a map of one of our harbors with the remark, "The X signifies that repairs are in progress. When they are completed, the cross will be removed." A Newton woman remarked, "I am beginning to feel that I ought to do something for the war." We must help such. We must help all who dream that our entrance has settled the war, that we may now concern ourselves with the terms of peace and the ending of all wars. My purse is not a suggested detailed means, but to indicate the end we must all keep in view, to make ourselves and our people realize what to many still seems vague and far away.

A battle is now raging. On its issue hangs our fate. If England is unable to save us, how many of us realize the fate that awaits us? It will be no optional drill with fifty per cent. attendance, but Prussian flogging for petty infractions of discipline, a punishment in preference to which men have often begged for death.

NEWTON IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION

Unique features of the meeting of the Newton Improvement Association to be held at the Y.M.C.A. hall on Monday, April 1, will be an exhibit and sale of War Foods with recipes, and a demonstration of the Peterson fireless cooker; also a story told by Miss Eleanor Tracy of Newtonville (aged twelve), of how she managed her home and school garden and canned her own vegetables. Mr. Craig, as usual, will be glad to answer questions.

HUNNEWELL CLUB

The following committee has been elected to nominate officers for the annual meeting to be held early in May: Messrs. L. D. Gibbs, W. F. Gregory, C. H. Barney, F. O. Stanley, G. Defrewe, E. L. Gibbs and A. W. Blakemore.

NEWTON FREE LIBRARY

Our thanks are due to the citizens of Newton who have responded so generously to the appeal for books for the camp libraries. Twenty-five hundred books have already been sent in this last week. About five thousand were received last December collected by the pupils at the high schools. Not only many books, but good books that would be a credit to any library have been given. The gratitude that we express now will be echoed by the numberless men who will later read these books with profit and enjoyment.

From the special bulletin of the "American Library Association War Service," the following is quoted: "It is hoped that week after week they will continue to come in steadily, for our men will need books as long as the war lasts, and the supply must be constantly replenished. The receipt of books will be continued indefinitely, and the public is urged to form the habit of turning in their new books as soon as they have read them. In this way, a constant stream of fresh books into the camps will be assured, and a most effective barrage established against the blue devils of loneliness and depression."

All books received will be prepared for use in accordance with the simple rules laid down by the Library War Service, and will be shipped to such points as the American Library Association may designate. The needs of all camps and stations in this vicinity will be taken care of, first. Most of the books collected along the Atlantic seaboard will be shipped to France as rapidly as possible. At least half a million are needed there at once, and a constant stream of replacements must be maintained, for the wastage will be very great. Hence the call for books, books and more books."

"Mobilize your idle books. Give the book you prize the most; not the one you care for least. Give your favorite author; the novel that interested you last summer; the volume of poems with a meaning and a message for you."

Give the book that is still alive but which you and your family have outgrown. It is one that should be passed on to the Camp Libraries. Give your latest war book; you will probably not read it again. The boy in khaki is waiting for it. Reading it will prepare him for conditions over there."

Give books on technical subjects; there is an insistent call for works on aeroplanes, automobiles, gas engines, and engineering topics generally. Don't think that the boys are interested only in fiction.

Write your name and message on the fly-leaf; it will make the bond seem closer.

Remember that he gives twice who gives quickly."

"The training camp of today is not essentially different from a big university," Mr. Raymond B. Fosdick tells us. "The fellows work and study a good deal harder in the training camps than they would in a university. The war is a highly specialized affair. It's a modern science which the men must learn by studious appreciation of the problems of drill and trench. They acquire the habit of study, of application, in the training camp of today."

Our soldiers and sailors need books, won't you give one!

EDITORIAL

We publish this week by request an article entitled "Where's Fenelon?" largely on account of its appeal to our people to wake up and realize the seriousness of the war situation. In so far as it reflects on the splendid work recently accomplished by the Newtonville Unit of the Coast Guard, we do not agree with the views of our correspondent.

The ratification of the Prohibition Amendment to the National Constitution by the House of Representatives is a cause of gratification to every friend of temperance in this city and it is also pleasing to note that, in spite of rumors to the contrary, all three representatives from Newton voted with the majority.

There seems to be a growing sentiment among the industrial men of the city that with Senator John W. Weeks in the field this fall for the Republican nomination for Senator, it is inadvisable, to say the least, to have a Newton candidate for Congressman.

The daylight saving law goes into effect early Easter morning. If you set watches and clocks one hour ahead when you retire Saturday night there will be no danger of your missing church the next day.

The departure of two-score of our young men for Camp Devens this morning, again brings home to us the sad fact that we are at war.

Just because the daylight saving law takes effect Easter morning, we hope no one will use it as an excuse for not going to church.

The daylight saving law ought to have taken effect on April 1. Some one is sure to be fooled in the first day of operation.

The drive for the third liberty loan begins next week. Are you preparing to do your full share?

UNDER THE GLEED POLE

The big event this week was the passage on Tuesday by the House of a resolution ratifying the prohibition amendment to the national constitution, and notwithstanding all kinds of rumors to the contrary, all three Newton representatives voted with the majority.

The vote was 165 to 91.

Another interesting feature of the work was the approval by the governor of the first state budget ever adopted. Therefore the appropriations for the various departments have been passed as separate bills. This year a start has been made towards making the appropriations as a whole, and the bill signed by the governor carries a total of $27,485,838, or about two millions larger than the same items in 1917.

The Sunday bill game bill has passed the Senate in the same form as acted upon by the House.

Members of the Constitutional Convention, who received $750 for their services last summer and fall, will have to be contented this summer with $500, if the Senate approves the House action on that matter.

MR. MADDEN DEAD

Mr. Cornelius Madden, who died March 22 of pneumonia, was the oldest employee in any department of the city of Newton, commencing his work under the town government in 1870, and continuing in the street department up to the present time. He had been employed as a teamster and was one of the best horsemen in the city of Newton. He was considered an expert and was driving the best team the city owned.

He is survived by two sons, Mr. John C. Madden, of the Newton Board of Health, a prominent attorney, and Mr. Jeremiah Madden, mechanical engineer at the Newton Pumping Station.

Funeral services were held Monday morning in the Church of Our Lady at Newton. The pastor, Fr. Lawrence W. Slattery, celebrated a Requiem mass, assisted by his curates, Rev. Fr. James F. Kelly and Rev. Fr. A. S. Malone. Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham. The bearers, all connected with the Street Department, included Charles J. McCarthy, Thomas Hickey, Patrick O'Malley, William Kent and Patrick Owan.

NEWTON WINS

The kind of hockey played at the Arena by the Newton High School champion team of this season proved altogether too much for the visitors last Saturday from Brooklyn, N. Y., champions of the Public School League of Greater New York, the score being 8 to 0.

The Newton boys were held scoreless by the visitors for the first ten minutes of play, but then got going. They scored twice in the first half and six times in the second, settling the final score eight goals to none.

Brooklyn's game proved inadequate to match that of Newton. The visitors had a lot of speed for a time, keeping the play fairly well up in their opponents' territory. Later in the period, and after Newton had scored two goals by means of very pretty combination play, the Brooklyn boys seemed to lose heart, failed to keep together and were outplayed generally as individuals and as a team.

Newton was primed to offset the game of "Red" Hall, Brooklyn's star rover, and he was able to make only an occasional rally. Late in the game, however, he was about the only visitor who was bothersome in the Newton defense. In this period the Newton net men had only three or four stops, all except one being on shots driven from a considerable distance by Hall.

Austin Eaton, Newton's speediest player, was well supported by Scott and Davidson. Scott made four of Newton's goals, three of them in the second half, and Eaton and Davidson made two each, besides combining for others.

Erasmus' defence on the wide surface was very poor. The Brooklyn players failed to check to any great advantage and the Newton wings got off many clean shots that only narrowly missed the mark.

The battling twins did some very pretty midline dribbling for Brooklyn, but their tries for goals were generally made from a distance. Newton's all-around game was better than in some of its league matches.

After ten minutes' hard play, Newton drew away. Eaton got the puck out of a midline scrimmage and was promptly crowded to the boards by Hall. Eaton, however, passed the puck out, Davidson getting the disk, slipping past Adams, and immediately scoring.

Three minutes after this Davidson passed out to Eaton from behind the Brooklyn net. Hall missed the pass and Eaton was free to drive the puck into the cage.

In the second half Newton scored in less than a minute. Eaton got the puck away from a scrimmage well toward his own goal, and skated up the right boards. As he was checked, he again passed to Davidson, who made a pretty corner drive. Davidson combined with Scott for the next goal, passing out from the corner of the rink.

Now four goals ahead, Newton then proceeded to double its score, but there was no more combining. Brooklyn was disorganized.

Toward the middle of the half Eaton counted on a 15-foot shot made on a backhand score in a scrimmage. A few seconds later Scott made a 30-foot line drive for a goal. Scott soon after lost a goal because of Moeller's brilliant stop, but a scrimmage followed, and Eaton scored again. Scott made the final goal a few seconds before the bell, picking the disk from a mix-up directly in front of the Brooklyn net.

The result furnished further proof of the high standard of play in the interscholastic league series. Whereas Newton defeated Erasmus Hall by an eight-goal margin, every one of the local champion's league opponents offered sturdy competition and only twice did Newton's superiority enable the team to win by a margin for four goals. Newton not only went through its league schedule without a reverse, but also topped the other teams in offensive and defensive ability, as is reflected in the season's point-totals. Subtracting the total number of goals scored against the teams from the total made by each gives an idea of the respective strength of the teams. Newton leads with plus 15, Brookline plus 11 and Medford plus 9.

SEVEN CENT FARES

Street Railways to Raise the Price on April 14

The Middlesex and Boston Street Railway Company has filed a new schedule of fares with the Public Service Commission to take effect on April 14.

It will be recalled that there were many hearings last summer before the Commission on a proposed increase of fares by this company, and the Commission recommended that the company try out a compromise schedule for a period of six months. That time has now expired and as the company still needs additional revenue the new schedule is filed.

Newton residents are interested in this matter for it provides for a straight 7-cent fare on lines in this city where the fare is now 6c. It abolishes the 6-cent ticket on all lines where it has been in force and will result in a straight 7-cent fare on the Upper Falls—Watertown line, the Lake St.—Newton Highlands line, and the Lake St.—Auburndale line. On one line from Upper Falls to Needham, the fare is reduced from 8 to 7 cents.

Waltham lines are raised from 6 to 7 cents and the Wellesley and Najick lines will have an 8-cent fare.

Other parts of the system are also affected with the exception of the lines north of Lexington, and, in general, an 8-cent fare is to be charged.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

MISS GRACE M. BURT, Editor.

The Biennial Convention of the General Federation, at Hot Springs, Ark., is the next important event of the club world. It opens on the evening of April 30, although the Council meeting is held on that afternoon, and meetings of the executive board and various committees precede it on Monday and Tuesday. On Wednesday morning the convention gets down to business. The general scheme of meetings of other years will be followed: General sessions in the mornings and evenings, with conferences in the afternoons, the same general subject being continued through the day. The department reporting in the morning will hold their conferences the same afternoon. State Presidents' Night comes on the second evening, and the President's Evening as the closing session.

The number of delegates is cut in half this year, and the alternates are eliminated altogether. The hostess state promises an abundance of room for visiting club women, and an auditorium with perfect acoustics.

The New England delegation will leave Boston at noon of Friday, April 26, going directly to St. Louis, thence to Hot Springs, arriving there Sunday morning. The return trip will be over the same route. This delegation has been assigned rooms at Hotel Eastman, the biennial headquarters.

State Federation

Friday, April 5, Industrial and Social Conditions Conference. Boston Public Library, 10.30 A.M. and 2 P.M. At the morning session Dr. Alice H. Robie will speak on "Health—A Talk to Mothers," and Miss Millicent Hosmer on "War-time Activities for Girls." In the afternoon there will be greetings from Mrs. Herbert J. Gurney, president of the State Federation. "Conservation of Womanhood" will be treated by Edward B. Underwood, staff captain of the Salvation Army, and "Women in Industry" by Mrs. William A. Troy. All club women cordially invited.

Local Announcements

A social meeting of the Newton Highlands Shakespeare Club will be held with the president, Miss Mary L. Sweeney, tomorrow afternoon.

The Newton Highlands C.L.S.C. will meet with Mrs. Emory Clark of Allerton road on April 1.

Mrs. Frederick W. Brown of 75 Berkeley street, West Newton, will be hostess for the meeting of the Newton Mothers' Club next Monday afternoon. Mr. George A. Mirick will be the speaker, and his subject, "The Physical Training of Our Boys and Girls."

Mrs. Kate Upson Clark will address the Brightelmstone Club on April 1, subject, "Can Personality be Acquired?"

The last regular meeting of the Auburndale Review Club will be held on April 2 at the home of Mrs. G. E. Martin.

Tuesday, April 2, the Monday Club of Newton Highlands will give a play in Lincoln Hall for the benefit of the Women's Association of Newton Highlands. The play was written by one of the club members, and the cast are also members.

S. K. Ratcliffe of London will address the Newtonville Woman's Guild on Tuesday afternoon in the Congregational church. This meeting is open to all women of Newtonville.

The meeting of the Social Science Club is omitted next Wednesday.

Mrs. William C. Crawford gives the concluding lecture on current events before the Newton Centre Woman's Club on Thursday morning.

The Ladies' Home Circle will hold the annual meeting on Thursday afternoon, April 4, in G.A.R. hall, Newtonville. Election of officers, annual reports of committees and other business. Tea will be served during the social hour.

The Home Circle committees arranging and managing the Rummage Sale for the benefit of the Red Cross and the Welfare Bureau, report encouraging success in obtaining goods. These articles will be collected Monday, April 8, and the sale held on Tuesday and Wednesday, April 9 and 10, in the church building next City Hall, West Newton.

Local Happenings

Representative Thomas Weston, Jr., spoke to the West Newton Women's Educational Club on Friday on Legislative Matters. So interesting and instructive was his talk that he held the close attention of his audience and the time was far too short for all that the members would have liked to hear of what goes on at the State House. It is a great privilege, which comes none too often to women, to hear bills so clearly explained and such a true and deep insight given into public affairs. In the last few weeks this club has had so much that was worth while that old days and times seem to have come back, when the unanimous verdict always was, "This is the best meeting we've ever had."

A very enjoyable tea of so patriotic a nature that even the sandwiches appeared in the national colors, appropriately brought the afternoon to a close.

The study of "The Great Divide" was concluded at the meeting of the Newton Highlands C.L.S.C. on Monday under the direction of Miss Marion Morse. The third act was read, and the construction of the play, its theme, climax, etc., were discussed, as well as the development of the different characters.

The Christian Era Study Club met March 25 with Mrs. Clarke on Lexington street. One of the treats of the afternoon was the reading of selections from some of the ancient dramas, by Miss Alice Ranlett, her topic being "The Drama as a Religious Teacher." Pictures of Scotland in 1500 and a story of the conditions at that time were given by Mrs. Case, and Mrs. Walter gave a short sketch of the life of John Knox.

The Auburndale Review Club enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Spaulding on the evening of March 26, when it held a musical evening for about fifty members and guests.

The program opened with a piano duet by Miss Marion Chapin and Mrs. Nelson Freeman. This was followed by vocal solos, duets, and quartets by Mrs. Edward Legge, soprano, Mrs. W. J. Spaulding, contralto, Mr. W. B. McLane, tenor, and Mr. W. J. Spaulding, bass. The last part of the program consisted of the song cycle, "Little Sunbonnet," by Herman Lohr, in which the parts were taken by Mrs. Legge, Mr. McLane, and Mr. and Mrs. Spaulding, with Mrs. Freeman at the piano.

At the business meeting of the Social Science Club, which preceded the paper on Wednesday morning, it was voted to make the collection for the Victory Fund of the General Federation, and the committee was appointed for the purpose. "Little Sunbonnet," by Herman Lohr, in which the parts were taken by Mrs. Legge, Mr. McLane, and Mr. and Mrs. Spaulding, with Mrs. Freeman at the piano.

Mrs. William F. Hollings was chairman of the morning and presented a very entertaining account of several of the important cities of South America. Beginning with Caracas in Venezuela, the club was taken down the west coast to Quito in Ecuador, to Lima in Peru, thence to Valparaiso, Chile, across the continent to Buenos Ayres, Argentina, to Montevideo, Uruguay, and up the east coast to Rio de Janeiro.

All present were impressed with the beauty and grandeur of the scenery, with the curious mingling of the ancient and the modern, the backwardness of some countries and the wonderful progressiveness and wealth of others, particularly Argentina.

Quito, situated 9000 feet above sea level, has been until lately very inaccessible, therefore it has been little affected by modern civilization. Valparaiso, she said, is the most important port on the Pacific next to San Francisco, a picturesque and flourishing city. The west coast has always suffered from earthquakes, and this fact is shown in the style of architecture, there being few buildings above a single story. In the east, however, where there have been no earthquakes, the high buildings of other continents are usual. Buenos Ayres has had a marvelous growth in the last twenty-five years, the population being now a million and a half, and is the second largest Spanish-speaking city in the world. It has a fifth of the population and a fifth of the wealth of the whole of Argentina. It is, however, less cosmopolitan than our own cities. Montevideo has a climate much like Northern Italy for the greater part of the year. It is a modern city, so it has nothing really old. Living is higher there than in any other part of the world, yet there are no marks of poverty. The suburbs are very lovely.

Mrs. Hollings read "Viscount Bryce's description of Rio de Janeiro, and the wonderful mountains which surround the city. Within a short time a billion dollars has been spent in cleaning up the city, formerly plague-ridden. Now there are no mosquitoes, and very few flies. So successfully has it been done that no screens are necessary. Many photographs were shown of the different cities, which gave a fine idea of the scenery, the types of architecture and the wonders of the cities so little known by Americans of the North.

Presidents' Conference

Conference has long since become a misnomer for the gathering of club presidents with Federation officers and committees held by the State Federation each fall and spring, for they have long since ceased to be conferences where there is "give and take" between platform and floor. At present the "give" is all from the platform and the "take" all from the floor. Seventeen or more persons representing a message in the course of one afternoon is enough to give one mental indigestion. It is impossible to be in a receptive state of mind for hours in close atmosphere, listen to that number of speakers and take a great deal, valuable as it may be, away and put into practice. Club women in general are patient listeners, but at times patience ceases to be a virtue. Either make the meeting an all-day affair or else adopt a different method of procedure.

Some of the messages presented at the last President's Conference held at Cambridge last week might have been put over through the Bulletin. If there is fear lest they be not read, the probability of their being remembered in the midst of such a mass of material would about offset it.

The central and most valuable report given was that of the tabulation of the war work of the clubs as reported to the president. Thirty-two different funds have been contributed to, nine French orphans adopted, $27,957 has been given and $46,600 invested in Liberty Bonds, countless surgical dressings made, garden work done and stimulated, a detailed account of which will be most interesting reading.

Each phase of Federation work has evidently received stimulus from the reports made by the different chairmen, and not a single department but has been affected in some way.

A measure now before legislature relative to making venereal disease reportable, and for the regulating inspecting and licensing of lodging houses and hotels to prevent prostitution was presented and explained, and resolution endorsing the measure was passed by the conference.

Resolutions upon the death of Mrs. Mary Morton Kehew, a former officer of the Federation, were presented by Miss Helen A. Whittier and adopted. A pleasant feature was the presence of Miss O. M. E. Rowe, another former president of the Federation, who came in the interests of the Association of Women Workers.

The Auburndale Study Club met at the residence of Mrs. Frank L. Nason, 188 Woodland road, on Tuesday evening.

The club has made wonderful progress during this season in all directions. We have had speakers of note who have discussed subjects dealing with grave public issues; we have been entertained by many excellent musicians, and socially we never enjoyed ourselves to a greater degree.

This meeting surpassed any other for Dr. and Mrs. Newell D. Johnson, professor of music at the University, Porto Rico. Professor Reid is a native of Porto Rico and his address treated with Porto Rican music and musical instruments.

C.A.C.A. male quartet gladdened our hearts with good songs. The personnel of this quartet alone is sufficient recommendation to add to its merits. It is composed of Messrs. Cook, Cooley, Allen and Percy, the initials of the surnames give the quartet its name.

The evening concluded with a social hour and refreshments.

BRIGHAM-JOHNSON

A notable wedding was solemnized on Monday evening in Waltham, when Miss Irene Altha Johnson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Newell D. Johnson of Lexington street, was united in marriage to Sergt. John Alexander Brigham of Newton, formerly of Weston, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ward Brigham.

The bride's home on Lexington street was most attractively decorated for the occasion with Dorothy Perkins roses, palms and cut flowers. The ceremony was performed at half after seven by Rev. William F. Dresseault, pastor of the Universalist church in Lynn.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and wore a beautiful wedding gown of white duchesse satin trimmed with duchesse lace and court train, and full veil arranged crown effect with duchesse lace. Her bouquet was a full shower of lilies of the valley and white orchids.

She was attended by Miss Eleanor Hart of Newton as maid of honor, who was gowned in white organdie and lace over pink, with pink sash and hair ribbons.

The bridegroom was assisted by Mr. William Brown of Winthrop as best man, and the ushers were Messrs. Charles Jenks of Newton, and Paul F. Brigham, brother of the bridegroom, of Westboro. As the bridal party assembled the wedding march was played by Madame Isidora Martinez of Boston, the vocal teacher of the bride.

The bride is a concert singer and has been prominent in amateur theatricals, and Red Cross work. Mr. Brigham is a wool buyer for the Houghton Wool Company of Boston.

After the ceremony a large reception was held, and Mr. and Mrs. Brigham received from 8 until 10 o'clock. They were assisted by Dr. and Mrs. Johnson, parents of the bride, Mrs. M. E. Brigham, the bridegroom's mother, and the best man and the maid-of-honor. Music was furnished during the reception by a trio of young Waltham people, composed of Elin Larson, pianist, Ruth Masters, cellist, and Karl Kristenson, violinist. After a wedding trip the bridegroom will leave for Camp Johnston, Jacksonville, Fla., and the bride will remain at her home in Waltham for the present.

DEATH OF MRS. BRANT

Mrs. L. M. Brant, wife of Rev. John F. Brant of Newtonville, passed away on Saturday, March 23. The deceased was a member of the Newtonville Woman's Guild, and an active member of the Newtonville Methodist church. She is survived by her husband, four daughters, Miss Carlotta Brant, Miss Helen Brant and Miss Pauline Brant of Newtonville, Mrs. Fred C. Eaton of Brookline, and one son, Dr. Austin Brant of Boston.

The funeral was held Monday afternoon at her late residence on Oakwood road. Rev. Edgar E. Davidson conducted an impressive service at half past two. He was assisted by Rev. Harris G. Hale, D.D., pastor of the Leyden Church, Brookline.

The sacred selections, "Abide with Me," and "Prayer" were rendered on the cello by Miss Edith Soden. There were many beautiful floral tributes. The burial was in the family lot in the Newton cemetery.

HOPE'S LEGACY

A field all gashed and rent
By trench and shell,
Where ranged the storm that turned
Its heaven to hell.

A broken ruined house,
With stones far flung,
How faded the tiny nesting brood
Which once there clung?

A clump of shattered trees
In calm content the peaceful cattle
Grazed,
Now prostrate laid.

Too deep that leaden plowing, for the field
To yield again.
Till time has smoothed and its torn Heart forgot
That fiery rain.

The crumbling walls shall sway,
And shred by shred
Shall fall to earth in dust, to mingle
With
The unnamed dead.

But showers will fall, and fields
Once more grow green
From some deep buried root
Filled
The trees shall bend with fruit.
And once again will resurrection's
Dawn
Bring hope and faith—
Un-til in union the world shall cry,
"There is no death."
MARIA DRAKE WISWELL.

What are you doing for the comfort of our wounded soldiers? Are you sewing for the hospitals in this country and abroad? Our boys can not be cared for and made comfortable unless our women make the needed garments. Remember that while knitted articles are necessary, they are only part of a soldier's needs. Hospitals must be provided with garments for the disabled.

Think of the boys coming back every day to our shores from France, sick or wounded, and of the terrific carnage on the battlefield. Don't shirk. Don't make excuses. Don't let a few faithful women do all the work. The Y.M.C.A. workrooms are open Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings and Thursday afternoon. Choose your day, only come and do your share.

COL. SPRAGUE DEAD

Noted Educator and Lecturer Reaches a Ripe Old Age

Col. Homer Baxter Sprague, educator, lecturer, author and Civil War veteran, died Saturday morning, at his home at Vernon Court Hotel, Newton, in his eighty-ninth year.

He was born in Sutton on October 19, 1829, the son of Jonathan Sprague and Mary Ann (Whipple) Sprague.

Homer Sprague was prepared for college at Leicester Academy in a year and a half. The principal, Josiah Clark, took great interest in him and prevailed upon his parents to send him to Yale, where he took many prizes, among them the $100 De Forest gold medal, then awarded for the first time.

Among the honors he received at Yale was the "philosophical oration" and a "high oration" standing. In vacations he labored on the farm and in shoemaking. He was a member of the Yale Phi Beta Kappa, Delta Kappa, Alpha Sigma Phi, Psi Upsilon and "Scroll and Key" societies. Graduating in 1852, he studied law in the Yale Law School and in the office of Mayor Henry Chapin of Worcester. He was admitted to the bar in Massachusetts in 1854, and later in Connecticut, and married, on December 28 of that year, Antoinette E. Pardee, daughter of Capt. Leonard Pardee of New Haven.

Mr. Sprague practiced law in Massachusetts and Connecticut, but, as he was accustomed to say, "not enough to do much harm." He was for two years a soldier in the Worcester City Guards, where he learned military tactics; a member of the Worcester School Committee, and afterwards of the New Haven School Committee. He served as principal of the Worcester High School for three and one-half years, but as he was an Abolitionist and an outspoken defender of John Brown, he was violently attacked by politicians and newspapers that he felt forced to resign.

Removing to New Haven, he engaged actively in newspaper controversy on the subject of slavery. The Civil War being on the point of breaking out, he instructed a large company of "Home Guards." In "The School of the Soldier." In the summer of 1861 he threw open his law office for recruiting and raised two companies, each of which elected him captain. He was successively commissioned major, lieutenant colonel, brevet colonel and colonel. The brevet was awarded particularly for conduct at the siege of Fort Hudson.

He was captured in the battle of Winchester and for some five or six months was a prisoner of war. Finally exchanged he rejoined his battalion and was mustered out in April, 1866.

During his four and one-half years of military life he resolved, after much reflection, to devote the remainder of his life to education. He became principal of the Connecticut Normal School at New Britain, in the fall of 1866. The enemies of the school succeeded in cutting off the annual appropriation, whereupon the people of New Britain elected him as representative in the legislature.

In 1866 he was appointed professor of rhetoric in Cornell University, and two years later went to the Adelphi in Brooklyn. In 1873, he received the degree of Ph.D. from the University of New York. He remained in Brooklyn for six years.

In the seventies arose the bitter Beecher-Tilton controversy. Siding with the great Plymouth pastor, Mr. Sprague was made uncomfortable in his position of principal and resigned. He then came to Boston as headmaster of the Girls' High School, where he remained nine years. While there he was accustomed to spend his summers at Martha's Vineyard, where he founded the free public library, the Rural Improvement Society and the Martha's Vineyard Summer Institute.

In 1885 Mr. Sprague accepted the presidency of Mills College, California, and in 1887 he accepted the presidency of the then infant University of North Dakota. While occupying that position a strong effort was made, without his concurrence, to elect him United States senator. The severity of the winter climate and the health of his family caused Mr. Sprague to remove again to Boston in 1891. Two years later he became engaged in university extension work, lecturing on Shakespeare, Milton, etc., and founding "Centres." He was often called to lecture at Chautauqua assemblies in many states. Subsequently he became professor and lecturer for several years in Drew Theological Seminary and did much editorial work.

He was at one time counsellor of the National Educational Association, president of the American Institution of Instruction, founder and first president of the New England Watch and Ward Society, associate founder and president of the New England Society of North Dakota, a life member of the Pilgrim Society, member of the Berkeley Club in California. Tuesday Club in Newton and other clubs. He was a comrade of five Grand Army posts, and the oldest member of Charles Ward Post of this city, and was a companion of the Loyal Legion. He was a director, lecturer and member of the executive committee of the American Peace Society, for several years.

Mr. Sprague was the father of four children: Charles Homer Sprague, a Boston lawyer; Sarah Antoinette, late wife of Rev. W. W. Davis of New Smith Sprague, a Boston merchant; York; William Pardee Sprague, a physician and inventor; and Goldwin Mr. Sprague's wife died in 1913. His three sons survive him.

Simplicity marked the funeral services held Monday afternoon in Grace church, Newton. Many friends of the author, educator and soldier were present. The casket was draped in the flag of Charles Ward Post 62, G. A. R., and a detail of his comrades were at the church.

Rev. Laurens MacLure, S.T.D., rector of the parish, conducted the Episcopal ritual. There was no music. The body was taken to Mt. Auburn where it was cremated.

FOOD CONSERVATION

The Committee on Public Safety will follow the plans which were so successful last year in promoting food production and food conservation.

Arrangements have been made by the Committee on Public Safety to have ten local headquarters in the various villages to distribute land, give advice on planting and arrange for plowing.

Persons having unused land, suitable for gardening, and who will allow others to cultivate it under the direction of the Committee on Public Safety, or those who have no land for a garden but will have a garden if land is furnished will be given an opportunity to apply to the committee to offer the use of their surplus land or to obtain land.

Within a few days a circular will be sent to every resident in the city with the directions for making these applications. A careful census has been made by the Board of Trade, at the instigation of the Committee on Public Safety, as to the stock of seeds, seed potatoes and fertilizer in the hands of local dealers. The committee believes that the local supply is of good quality, prices fair, and that the stock will be adequate to meet the demand. The committee on Public Safety does not wish to compete with or duplicate the work of local dealers when they can provide good quality material at fair prices.

Arrangements will be made by the local headquarters to have plowing done at a uniform price, and persons having pamphlets giving specific directions for growing various kinds of vegetables is at the office of the Committee on Public Safety, and persons wishing the inspection service, practical advice when planting, or copies of the pamphlets should apply to the Newton Committee on Public Safety.

The Newton Vocational High School a course in agriculture, supplemented by practical work, is being given under the direction of Miss Jeannie B. Kenrick, and Mr. Thomas A. McGarr, teacher of agriculture in the Vocational school. Persons enrolled in this course will receive special supervision and advice on their personal gardens.

A list of High School boys available for garden work during the summer will be given to the local headquarters, and persons wishing these boys for work in their gardens may obtain them by communicating with the local headquarters.

The children's garden work will be carried on in 1918 according to the plan used in 1917 under the direction of Alfred MacDonald of the Newton School Department. Children will be taught gardening during school hours as part of the school work, and will get practical experience in the care of gardens situated near the schools. It is expected that at least one-half of the children in the city will have home gardens, and that at least two thousand gardens will be cultivated by school children.

Classes in canning will be held under the direction of Miss Jeannie B. Kenrick of the Vocational High School.

Complaints were made last year in regard to persons trespassing on and stealing from gardens and for the benefit of those having such trouble this year the Committee has cloth signs warning against trespassing and stealing under prosecution by law. These may be obtained by applying at the office of the Committee on Public Safety.

The local headquarters for distribution of land, plowing, etc., are as follows:

PROMOTED TO MAJOR

Capt. Robert Bonner of Newton Highlands, constructing quartermaster at Camp Devens, has been promoted to the rank of major. Major Bonner was commissioned a captain November 20, 1916. On May 17 he was appointed assistant camp quartermaster of the Northeastern department and placed immediately in charge of leases and property rights at Camp Devens. He at once leased all the lands now held by the camp.

On July 13 he was assigned on special duty as assistant to Major (then Captain) Edward Canfield, constructing quartermaster at this cantonment. Since then he has been a member of the board of the selection of land for ranges, parade fields and the like, and a member of the claim board, through which all claims on land titles are settled.

The major has been construction quartermaster since last December, when he relieved Major Canfield, the latter being transferred to duty at Camp Greene. He was called to Washington on special work early in January, but was reassigned to Ayer about a month later.

MUCH WORK ACCOMPLISHED

In the amount of war work done during February, as shown by the report of the Newton Branch of the Red Cross and Allied Relief Funds, the war workers of Newton took first place in the making of surgical dressings, their score being 30,404, with West Newton second with a record of 26,348, and Newton Centre third with 20,618. In sewing Newtonville led with 2510 articles, Newton was second with 1958, and West Newton third with 1340. In knitting Newtonville was first, with 1420, West Newton second with 1230, and Newton Centre third with 872. The record for the whole city was 8,854 articles of sewing, 113,262 surgical bandages, and 5,348 knitted articles. Of the articles reported under sewing, 2031 were bandages, and of bandages there were eight kinds made. Under surgical dressings, 45,324 compresses of different sizes were reported, and 42,287 dressings. Of the dressings, 4,350 were eye dressings, and 36,937 were for unspecified purposes. With the knitters, socks, sweaters, helmets and muffs were the four leaders. The Junior Red Cross at the Hippo School reported 547 pieces of sewing, 37 knitted articles, 2220 surgical dressings, and 5807 trench candles.

Compared with the work done in January, the February report shows a gain in everything but surgical dressings, but it must be remembered that in January there was a special order for surgical dressings. In every branch of war work there is a need for more workers. There is just ahead another demand for surgical dressings to be met, and the more makers of surgical dressings there are the quicker can the order be filled. Another thing for women to think over is that the coming of the summer, which to them means the vacation season and a privilege to be more surgical dressings than are needed, but many soldiers will suffer, and many lives will be lost, if there are not surgical dressings enough.

If there are to be surgical dressings enough, and enough of the other articles which the war workers make, there must be women to make them. Newton must not fall behind in doing its share. Every woman in Newton is asked to take part in war work. Send in your name, your address and the time you are willing to give to the work, to the Newton Branch of the Red Cross, Newtonville, and you will be told where work waits for you in your own section of the city.

CONCERT

The benefit concert to be given next Saturday evening at Bray Hall, Newton Centre, for the benefit of the Red Cross and Allied Relief Funds has the hearty endorsement of former president William H. Taft, who has sent the following letter to Mr. William H. Rice:

My dear Mr. Rice:
I sincerely hope that the concert of the Red Cross and Allied Relief organizations of Newton Centre, Mass., may be a success in raising a substantial sum for the great cause. The serious news from the western front that comes to us on this beautiful March Sunday as I write, ought to sober our people and make them know the heavy task before us. We are to go down into the Valley of the Shadow to save our country and the world. We must gird up our loins and lose nothing by a delayed appreciation of the tremendous effort we should make. This is to be a war of years. It may be three or more, and we should be making our plans of preparation with a broad vision. To your tents, O Israel!

Sincerely yours,
WM. H. TAFT.

It included a very amusing talk entitled "The Gray Wolf" by Mr. Bernard Sexton, who also told some Indian folklore stories.
